Female Troubles Overcome "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: - I had female trouble, painful menses, and kidney complaint, also stomach trouble. About a year ago I happened to pick up a paper that contained an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and when I read how it had helped others, I thought it might help me, and decided to give it a trial. I did so, and as a result am now feeling perfectly well. I wish to thank you for the benefit your medicine has been to me."-MRS. CLARA STIEBER, Diller, Neb.

No More Pain "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM :- Your Vegetable Compound has been of much benefit to me. When my menses first appeared they were very irregular. They occurred too often and did not leave for a week or more. I always suffered at these times with terrible pains in my back and abdomen. Would be in bed for several days and would not be exactly rational at times. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and menses became regular and pains left me entirely."-Mrs. E. F. CUSTER, Brule, Wis.

Equine Losses in War. In all protracted wars the loss in horses from disease is terribly heavy. In Napoleon's campaign across the Niemen, out of 60,000 horses, no fewer than 45,000 succumbed in six months. At the siege of Plevna the Russians lost 30 per cent of their draught animals, and in the Egyptian wars of 1882 the English horses were disabled, of which 600 died from sickness and only 60 on the field of battle.-Pearson's

Physician and Morphine.

In a recent address before a graduating class of medical students occurs the following most sensible advice: "While fewer physicians become insane than members of other professions, a larger proportion become addicted to the use of morphia. Opium in any form is exceedingly dangerous when self-administered. No physician should attempt to treat himselt, but always take the advice and follow the direction of another physician."

Less Chance of Recovery.

Prof. G. Sims Woodhead, M. D., professor of pathology, Cambridge University, pehaps the greatest authority on pathology in the world, recently wrote for "Abkari," edited by W. S. Caine, of London, as follows: "For the last year or two I have been keeping note of the various observations that have been made in regard to the use of alcohol in disease, and I am coming to believe more and more firmly that the patient who takes, or has taken, alcohol has a less chance of recovery than the patient who abstains."

As high as 255 ounces of silver and $15 in gold per ton were obtained from the ore near the surface. The owners decided to run a tunnel and now have it in 65 feet. A few days since a stringer 12 inches in width was cut in the tunnel, which is believed to be an off-shoot from the ledges. The ore carries about 200 ounces of silver per ton and from $10 to $12 in gold.

The tunnel will have to be extended about 40 feet to cut the ledge. There is also a parallel ledge that can be cut by the tunnel by extending it another 100 feet. The ledges vary from 7 to 9 ieet in width.

1846, the population of the city was only 60,000; now it is over 1,000,000. The church over which he was called to preside became the parent of nineteen other churches of that denomination in that city and among them was Plymouth Church, inseparably associated with the name of Henry Ward Beecher.

Dr. Storrs was a great worker and was deeply interested in Brooklyn. The public library there and the Long Island Society are mainly due to him. He was one of the founders of the Independent and one of the editors from 1848 to 1861. During the civil war he was an ardent supporter of the Union and was one of those sent by the government to raise the flag over Fort Sumter at the close of the war. His lectures and writings made him well known at home and abroad. Of his works the Divine Origin of Christianity is considered the best.

Henry W. Stratton, author of a little book of verses called "Sparks and Flames," is also an inventor of much ability. Although blind, he manufactured and put on the market the building blocks constructed on the tongue and groove principle, and which bear his name. He has also invented other unique toys; but there are probably more sets of his building blocks sold at holiday times than of any other make.

"I had the privilege of intimate fellowship with Robert Barr at one time, 1. e., he was the stately edior and I was the meek and lowly sub. When he was feeling just right he would tell me dozens of plots for stories and promptly forget all about them. I always jotted them down and in a few days told them to him as original. 'If you don't mind I think I could make something out of that,' he would say. 'You're a wonderful chap for plots.' Then, of course, I owned up and gave him his property. There was one story about a man who personated an African explorer and got on swimmingly until he met the real Simon Pure's sweetheart. That seemed to us both full of dramatic possibilities, but I fancy that it is still unwritten. Andrew Lang is just as fertile in the subject of plots as Robert Barr. He once wrote a paper for the Idler, presenting young authors with at least a dozen plots for stories. There is nothing so delightful as the idea for a new story.
