The unfortunate boy was attended by Dr. Reames.

Ashland Tidings: Rev. Robert McLean, formerly of Klamath and of Josephine county, who for the past two years has been pastor of the Third Presbyterian Church of Portland, has been appointed by the Home Mission Board of the Presbyterian Church to take charge of its work in the Island of Cuba. Dr. McLean is a thorough Spanish scholar. He speaks and writes the Spanish language with fluency, and is familiar with the habits and characteristics of the Spanish people. His knowledge of the Spanish language and the Spanish people pointed him out as the man for the post. It will be about two months before he will take his departure for that field, as he desires to close up his work in Portland in a satisfactory manner.

This is an ideal country in most respects. The purity of the air and water, the freedom from fog and malaria, the bracing and healthy climate, all combine to make Klamath county the most desirable locality for residence in Southern Oregon. In the near future it will also be one of the best localities for business. It waits only for railroad connection with the outside world. That will come, and then with markets for lumber and farm productions, and a quick and easy method of shipping cattle and horses, will also come a healthy influx of people from elsewhere to assist in making homes and farms, and to establish the thousand other enterprises needed to develop and add to its wealth and prosperity. That there is to be an era of great prosperity and growth for this country, is a fact which we shall all soon realize.

The growing demand for timber on the coast, owing to the scarcity of that product in the east, ought to make every acre owned by individuals in this county salable at good figures. By those who know, Klamath county pine is pronounced first-class in both quantity and quality. The owner of 100 acres of similar timber in Michigan, Wisconsin or Minnesota would be regarded independently rich. And the increasing demand will some day force up the price as high here as it is now in the eastern states. Though comparatively little timber in this county has been bought by capitalists in the past few months, the prospects are favorable to the sale of many tracts during the coming winter and spring. Numerous representatives of eastern capital have been examining and estimating the timber here lately, and as soon as active construction begins on the proposed railroad there will doubtless be some lively buying.

REPUBLICAN RALLY.

Hon. Thos. H. Tongue, congressman from this district, will address the citizens of this county in Houston's opera house at Klamath Falls, next Monday evening, Oct. 29, at 8 o'clock p. m. KICKED BY A HORSE.

Jos. M. Moore, who for years has been engaged in freighting between here and Ager, was kicked on the face and body by one of his horses while stopping at Elgin's station near Topsy, Thursday evening last, and that the force of the blows did not prove fatal is a wonder, indeed. One of his big, sharp-set lead horses did the kicking as he was passing into its stall. Mr. Moore's nose was crushed and a gash penetrated one ear and into the scalp, with a number of other lacerations and bruises. Another blow struck him over the heart and it is a miracle that this one did not result fatally. Fortunately his skull was not fractured and no bones were broken, aside from those of the nose. He was taken to the house near by and Dr. Reames, who was summoned, dressed the wounds. On Monday Mr. Moore was made as comfortable as possible in a bed arranged in a buggy and brought to his home here. Though his injuries are severe, his recovery is assured, as his large circle of friends will be glad to know. Mr. Moore is held in high regard generally—in fact, everybody is his friend, and all regretted keenly to hear of his affliction. At last accounts he was resting easily, with every prospect of rapid recovery.

TO VOTERS.

In an article of October 19, appearing in the Oregonian under the caption of "Must a Voter Register," written by H. F. Murdoch, chairman of the republican central committee, it is stated that the registration law of this state has no bearing whatever on a voter's right to cast his ballot for presidential electors. That paper contends that an elector may vote for presidential electors in any precinct of any county of the state. All that an elector would have to do to entitle him to vote at any polling place in the state would be to show that he was a qualified elector of the state, without reference to the fact as to whether he was registered in any other county or not. More over, it would be of no avail to any party interested in the right of an elector to vote at any place in the state to have him make and subscribe to the affidavit designated under sec. 3 of the registration law, because the judges of election in trying an elector's right to vote in any designated precinct of the state must, before they allow him to cast his ballot, if challenged, compare his signature in the affidavit with his signature where he registered. This, of course, in many instances would be impossible. Yet, under the constitution of this state, Sec. 17 of Article 2, a qualified elector of this state may cast his ballot in any county of the state for state officers. The supreme court of this state by many decisions have upheld this constitutional right.

It conclusively follows, then, that all an elector must do on election day to entitle him to vote in any county of the state, irrespective of his residence, or whether registered or not, is to show to the election judges by competent proof that he is a qualified elector of this state.
