KLAMATH REPUBLICAN.

Published every Thursday by

SUBSCRIPTION RATES:
One year in advance, $2.00
THURSDAY, DECEMBER 27, 1900.

The Oregon state legislature will begin business January 14 next.

The river and harbor bill, as reported in congress, provides for an appropriation of $2,340,500 for improvements in Oregon.

A fat appropriation from the hands of congress to aid in irrigating this and adjoining counties would prove very acceptable at this time.

At a banquet to be held in Omaha January 7th, Candidate Bryan intends to outline what he proposes as the future policy of the democratic party. Outline as much as he may, it is a question whether his outline will be accepted and followed by other democratic leaders.

The Hay-Panecourt treaty having been duly ratified by the U. S. Senate it becomes certain that the construction of the Nicaragua canal will be commenced without further delay. Nothing could be more beneficial, and nothing could more promote the wealth and prosperity of the Pacific states.

A sensational libel suit was in progress at San Rafael, Cal., last week. Baron Von Schroeder sued the San Francisco Call for a quarter of a million dollars for alleged damage to his character while holding forth at the San Rafael hotel. The Call proved the Baron to be a moral degenerate and of course won the case. For his efforts, the Baron gained a huge lot of objectionable advertising.

Will the twentieth century see selfish greed continue its growth and encroachment on ennobling attributes, or will there be a favorable change in the trend of human sentiment? If the absorbing ambition to accumulate money increases in the future at the rate it has developed in the past few decades, what a despicable condition of society there is apt to be by the end of another century?

It is probably true that the millions of acres of arid lands still existing, which might be made to blossom as the rose if water could be turned through them, must remain arid unless the National Government takes some action. Enormous possibilities of material development are wrapped up in this question. There are sections of the country where one piece of land is worth $500 an acre, while land adjoining is not worth more than fifty cents; the difference being that the one is irrigated and the other is not.—Boston Journal.

Democracy is a very sick patient. The old relatives have been trying to discharge the physician since the collapse of November 6, and now the head nurse has abandoned the sick room. The old family physician, who brought the patient through some hard sieges in the past, has been standing around criticizing the treatment and the medicine recently administered, but Dr. Bryan says the other has not suggested any new remedies to substitute for them. There lies the patient, all the family in tears and no body to suggest a remedy. The case looks desperate at best, and Heaven help the next nurse who takes charge of it.—Salem Statesman.

IRRIGATION.
The reclamation of the arid lands will furnish comfortable homes for teeming myriads of people. Their settlement will furnish traffic for the railroads and a market for endless quantities of manufactured articles while the surplus products of the field will be sent to the remotest markets of the world. The problem is certainly important enough to command general attention.—Chicago Post.

Irrigation is a subject about which Americans should be concerned. There is no movement which could do so much for the United States as the irrigation of the arid plains. The Journal hopes that an effort will be turned in that direction. There is no work which could so certainly add to the wealth of the nation. In the center of the continent lies the grandest possibilities of the nation.—Lafayette (Ind.) Journal.

COMPLIMENTARY TO THE INDIANS
Monday's Oregonian contains a three-column correspondence from Washington explaining the terms of the agreement entered into with the Klamath Indians looking to a cession of a certain strip of land to the government, and also treating at length on the large and valuable resources of the excluded tract. These facts are probably well understood by our readers from recent articles published in these columns, but the complimentary references to the Indians, appearing in Inspector James McLaughlin's report, which is included in the Washington correspondence, will be of local interest, and is herewith added:

"The Klamath and Modoc Indians of the Klamath Reservation all dress as whites, wear their hair short, and are well advanced in civilization, and while they are not what can be termed fully civilized, the elements of progress are well grounded and steadily developing among them. A stranger riding through the district would never suspect that he was passing through an Indian settlement. Commodious residences, good barns, extensive stock pastures and hay meadows, stacks of hay and good fences, with what little live stock they have in fine condition, shows general prosperity and gives it the appearance of a community of prosperous white pioneers, instead of being among the Klamath and Modoc Indians, some of whom were hostiles of the 'Lava Beds' troubles of 1872 and 1873.

"With the exception of the very old people, these Indians are fairly well educated, a majority of them being well advanced, and of the 200 whose signatures are attached to the agreement, 95 signed their own names. All appears to understand English, and most of them, both men and women, speak the English language quite intelligently and without native accent so common to most tribes."

THE SENATORIAL BATTLE.
The battle for the Oregon senatorship to succeed McBride is taking form, and suits of rooms are already engaged at Hotel Willamette for at least three aspirants, and for twenty days on and after Friday, January 11. The legislature meets on Monday, the 14th.

Ex-Senator Corbett will be here and take personal charge of his candidacy. He will make an open fight for the honor, and cast aside all the manipulating and secret methods of the past. McBride is expected to be here, as well as Mitchell and Fulton. Governor Geer says in the most emphatic manner that he will not allow his name sprung as a candidate under any circumstance.

There is a growing impression that the fight will really lie between Corbett and Mitchell, and that it will be a battle royal. The speakership will be kept out as well as the presidency of the senate.—Salem Journal.

SOUTH PACIFIC CHARTS.

Startling Discoveries Made by Fish-Commission Steamer Albatross.
The fish commission steamer Albatross, which returned the other day after 14 months' cruise in the Pacific, made some important discoveries during the voyage. It was found that all the charts of the South Pacific are inaccurate, and that most of the islands, except Fiji and Tahiti, are placed from two to twelve miles away from their actual position. The Albatross also discovered that the temperature of the bottom of the sea at all depths from 500 fathoms to the greatest depths obtainable is the same—33 degrees Fahrenheit. Between the surface and 2,500 fathoms down they found edible shrimp, varying in size from half an inch to a foot in length. The Albatross broke the record for deep sea dredging, dragging the bottom at 4,000 fathoms. The greatest depth ever dragged before was 2,000 fathoms, by the British ship Challenger, in 1876. In the Behring sea the Albatross found a place where the charts show 2,000 fathoms that the depth is only 200 fathoms.

FASTEST BOAT EVER BUILT.

Launched at Nyack (N. Y.) Ship Yard—Is Expected to Make Over Forty Miles an Hour.
Charles R. Flint's Arrow, under contract to be the fastest ship ever designed, was launched the other day at the ship yard in Nyack, N. Y. It has been built under a guarantee by its designer of 42 miles an hour, and it is expected that under pressure it will be able to make 50. It has been generally given out that the boat was constructed as a yacht for Mr. Flint's personal use, but rumors have been persistent that it was built under contract with one of the South American governments for service as a torpedo boat.

The plans, so far as they have been made public, show the vessel fully equipped for torpedo service. The Arrow will go in tow to Newark, N. J., where shafting and engines will be put in. The yacht's destination after it has been fitted out at Newark has not been pronounced.

GIRL SCARED TO DEATH.

Practical Jokers Have Fatal Fun with a Manufactured Skeleton.
The authorities of Allegany county are looking for persons who manufactured a skeleton out of bones of domestic animals, which frightened Mary Oldfield, of Kerdale, near Rochester, N. Y., to death the other night. Miss Oldfield, accompanied by two friends, was returning from a Halloween party, where they had listened to ghoulish stories until their hair stood on end. When about to enter the woods a rattling of bones was heard overhead and looking up the trio were overcome with horror to see a skeleton of gigantic proportions sweeping down on them from above. With a cry of terror Mary dropped in her tracks. A searching party and a wire leading from the ground to a tree trunk, which the skeleton was attached by a palley.
