

TO THE FARMERS Of Klamath County.

It is with pleasure that we inform you of our having accepted the agency for Klamath Falls and vicinity for the celebrated BAIN WAGON, BUCKEYE MOWER, HOLLINGSWORTH TIGER RAKE, TIGER DISC HARROW, PEERLESS PLOW and other goods of this class, handled and manufactured by the reliable and well known California firm of BAKER & HAMILTON.

We will carry in stock a full line of the above implements and wagons, as well as "extras," during the coming season, and if it is your intention to purchase, we will appreciate your allowing us to figure with you.

We also have in stock, to be sold at close prices, ALFALFA seed, RED TOP seed, TIMOTHY seed, GARDEN seeds of all kinds, and ONION SETS, and we hope to merit a portion of your patronage.

Very Respectfully,
REAMES & JENNINGS
The Brick Store, Klamath Falls.

KLAMATH REPUBLICAN.

R. S. Brown and wife of Merrill returned home Saturday after visiting the family of R. B. Hatton at this place.

The latest news from the Philippines is that Aguinaldo, captured last week, has taken the oath of allegiance.

The "Gold Front" store is being greatly improved and the interior rearranged at a cost of several hundred dollars.

Mike Hartley, one of the most prominent stockmen of the county, is reported to be very ill with the grip at his ranch near Merrill.

Wm. Gerber, banker of Sacramento and brother of H. H. Gerber of this place, has been appointed state fish commissioner for California.

Geo. T. Baldwin started for Ashland Tuesday and was expecting to go from there to San Francisco. He will return in about ten days.

The Portland Board of Trade is devising a plan to extend its organization throughout all the cities and towns of the state, says the Oregonian. It is designed to have sub-boards organized in all sections of Oregon to co-operate with the main board in general development.

On Monday Superintendent DeLap made the apportionment of county school money, the amount due Klamath Falls being about $1,022.

Sykes Worden, who has been confined to his bed by sickness for the past three months, is improving rapidly and will be out in a few days.

We learn from Dr. Reames that Mrs. Geo. Otey, living near Picard, Cal., had a severe stroke of paralysis, but is now on the road to recovery.

Rev. J. W. McComb and family arrived from Turner, Or., last evening. Rev. McComb has come to occupy the pastorate of the Presbyterian church.

D. E. Cessna and J. O. Cessna of Gasstown, Pa., arrived here Monday for the purpose, we understand, of looking over the county with a view of locating.

Married, on Monday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Miller in this place by Judge Hatton, Mr. Harry Pearson to Miss Maggie Cole, both of Klamath Falls.

J. E. Cross of Linn county, who expects to be here in the near future, contemplates launching a tin shop at this place. He could undoubtedly make the venture pay.

The mail from San Francisco arrives 24 hours ahead of the mail from Portland. The distance from San Francisco to this place is about the same as that from Portland.

At the meeting on Tuesday evening of the town board the members were sworn in and elected Otto Heidrich president. An adjournment was taken to the first Monday in May.

R. S. Moore arrived home yesterday from an enjoyable visit which he and his wife made six weeks ago to friends at Portland and Salem. Mrs. Moore will return in about a month.

At Grace M. E. church, Easter Sunday, April 7, morning sermon will be on "The Risen Christ, Our Inspiration." Evening, Easter service conducted by the Sunday school. Come!

W. H. McClure is building on his ranch at Bedford one of the largest barns in the county. Its length will be 120 feet, width 60 feet and will be capable of holding 150 tons of alfalfa.

At the residence of W. H. McClure of Bedford on Sunday, March 24th, there was born to Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bolton, a stout and good natured boy, weighing 7½ pounds. This birth entitled Mr. McClure to the name of "grandfather," and himself being only 38 years old, suggests the probability that he will be a great grandfather before he quits the earth.

Judge Benson's new office in the court house has recently been overhauled and greatly improved in convenience and good looks, by a stylish application of paint, paper, labor and skill.

On Saturday a man was convicted before the municipal court at Portland charged with stealing an Oregonian. The guilty party claimed that he only borrowed the paper to read.

Andrew Carnegie has offered to donate $100,000 to the city of Portland for a public library building, provided a site and maintenance are guaranteed. Portland ought to respond promptly.

I. J. Straw, manager of the Dorris ranch, was in town yesterday and called at this office. He reports that live stock has wintered in excellent condition and that the prospects were never better.

N. S. Merrill delivered last Monday about 100 beef cattle to Swanson & Son of Sacramento. Silas Oberchain was in charge. We understand Mr. C. Horton also sold about twenty head to the same parties.

S. B. Low, stockman of Oiene, was doing business in town Saturday, accompanied by his son, Jud Low, who on account of sickness had just returned from Ashland where he had been attending school several months.

L. Heusman, the well known rancher of Shasta Valley, passed through here yesterday from Silver Lake, where he purchased 500 head of stock cattle of G. Small. The stock will be driven to Little Shasta some time next month.

The school board met Monday and elected the following teachers for the ensuing school year: Miss Alice Applegate, principal; Miss Elva Galloway, assistant principal; Miss Martha Cardwell, intermediate; Mrs. Emma Cogswell, primary.

The old board of town trustees had their final meeting in the town hall Monday evening and finished up public business, canvassed the recent election returns and adjourned sine die. The new board met at the same place Tuesday evening.

Lakeview Examiner: A. L. Price, who is running the Alex Reid estate sheep, was a business visitor in town last Friday. Mr. Price says this has been a fine winter for the wool-growers, and sheep will go to the mountain ranges in excellent condition.

Our thanks are due to Congressman Tongue for a large, handsomely bound and interesting book in relation to Cuba, its census and other valuable statistics and information; containing also a large number of views of the principal cities and towns.

J. Koesel, the Klamath Falls butcher, is making some judicious improvements in his line of business. He has leased five acres on which is located the lower hot spring, about a mile east of town, and has built a slaughter house, dug wells and has made ample preparations to expeditiously turn cattle and hogs into beef and pork.

The time table of the arrival and departure of the Ager and Ashland mails was changed on the 1st of April. The Ager stage leaves here at 8 o'clock p. m. The Ashland stage leaves at 9:30 a. m. The Ager stage is due to arrive at 2 a. m., and the Ashland at 4:30 p. m. But as a matter of fact, their arrivals depend largely on the condition of the roads.

Lakeview Examiner: A Kansas editor has discovered how to tell a man's politics. Get him in a hotel washroom. The democrat will wash and empty the basin. The republican will wash and leave the water standing. The prohibitionist will wash in the water left standing by the republican, and the populist will comb his whiskers, and not wash at all.

It is reported that the I. O. of O. F. lodge at this place will soon commence erecting on their lot on Main street, opposite the court house, a large stone building, 40 by 100 feet and two stories high, the lower story to be fitted up as a store and the upper to be elegantly fitted up as a hall for the order. It is estimated that the cost will not be less than $3,000 and perhaps more.

Portia Knight mentioned in the following paragraph from the Ashland Record, was formerly a Fort Klamath girl: Portia Knight, who was unknown to fame a few weeks ago, is now a noted woman by virtue of her suit for breach of promise against the Duke of Manchester. The New York World of last Sunday devotes a page to her, giving pictures showing her uneventful career until she met the duke.

We learn from the Lakeview Examiner of last week in relation to the extension of the N. C. O. railroad to Lakeview that Chief Engineer Hall stated that the work of grading and laying ties would go on as soon as the surveyors, now ready to go into the field, could complete their final survey. Engineer Hall said "that in all probability the N. C. O. officials would eat their next Thanksgiving dinner with the people of Lakeview."

W. H. McClure of Bedford states that his cousin, W. H. Cross and family, and James Cross and family, all of Halsey, Or., started from that place for Klamath county this week and will arrive here in about ten days. Mr. W. H. Cross has already bought a ranch near Lost River Gap. Both gentlemen are reputed to be good and enterprising citizens.

We notice by Portland papers that the demand for timber land throughout the state is rapidly increasing and that in consequence the price of such land is having a healthy advance. This increasing value is seen in the great sugar and yellow pine forests in Klamath county, and will be especially seen as soon as a market for such timber can be reached by a railroad. When such road is built, the wealth of Klamath county will be counted by tens of millions.

The Columbia Southern Railroad's litigation in the U. S. court has now, as appears in the Oregonian of Sunday, been fully settled, and the management will consider plans for the extension of the road southward from Shaniko, the present terminus, to Prineville and perhaps farther, and also eastward to Ontario on the Oregon Short Line. From the above it seems to be certain that the southern extension referred to will mean much for the railroad future of Klamath and Lake counties.

A new steam saw mill and shingle mill is being built by W. P. Rhoads on Stukel mountain about half way between Klamath Falls and Merrill. It will be ready for business in about two weeks, and will have a capacity of 15,000 to 25,000 feet per day. It is a good place for a mill, as it has an abundance of good timber around it and has an easy road from it, being all the way down the mountain. The road up, however, is not so easy, as was seen last week, when a load of machinery for the mill was hauled up. The weight was 7,000 pounds and a team of sixteen stout horses was required to make the rise of 2,000 feet.

O. Short whose ranch is about eight miles south of town, states that last year his potato crop yielded, without irrigation, 17,350 pounds to the acre. This amount, at $1.00 per hundred pounds, would bring $173.50. At that rate of yield, even if he received one-half or one-fourth of a dollar per hundred, he would make a big thing. This year he will plant fifty acres of potatoes, and if a railroad gets here so he can ship them to San Francisco, he will be well repaid for his labor and a good profit besides. What a grand fortune an industrious man could make here in a short time off of potatoes, if he could only send them to market.

Most people don't think enough for themselves, but are influenced too often by the suggestions or advice of others. This fact we would apply with special emphasis to people going into a country to investigate with a view of locating. Thus, a stranger may meet those who will traduce their own town and country. They may be instigated by selfish motives or chronic dyspepsia. At any rate, their pessimistic whine shouldn't weigh a second with the new-comer.

He has plenty of tangible evidence from which to form his own opinions and conclusions. He should investigate for himself and decide for himself. He should do his own thinking.

We are without railroad communication, and have had such infernal roads over the mountains that people have dreaded them worse than the devil. And yet, early as it is in the spring, a good many people are arriving every week in search of homes. It is not exactly the right time of the year to see the beauties, advantages and inducements, which are better shown in a more congenial season, yet they come, and though some leave again, the majority are well pleased with the outlook and remain. Reflection shows them that in every branch of business, this country is and will be the best part of the state. The new arrivals in the county are not less than twenty-five per week. As soon as the roads become decent, there will be three or four times that number of homeseekers.

Paisley Post: Last week Will J. Sherlock brought into town the head with horns attached of a huge mountain sheep, which Richard Sherlock killed during the Modoc war. Mr. Richard Sherlock states that during the last summer of the Indian war, known as the Modoc war, he was forced, for his safety, into a cleft of rocks where he remained in hiding for some time, and while there he shot and killed a mammoth mountain sheep, and as such animals were plentiful those times he paid no particular attention to the size of the sheep, caring more for his escape from the red-skins at that time than anything else. He lost the place and has never been able to find the exact spot, though he has hunted many times since for the bones of the large animal. A few days ago Jack Pullen who works for Mr. Sherlock, was looking for sheep and he got into a very rocky place, and while hunting his way out ran onto the horns and bones of a mountain sheep and carried the head to camp. Mr. Sherlock was certain that it was the one he had killed years ago, after being told where it was found.
