THURSDAY, APRIL 18, 1901.

Last week Gov. Geer appointed ex-Senator Corbett and Judge Bellinger of Portland, C. W. Fulton of Astoria, E. E. Young of Baker county, and H. E. Ankeny of Jacksonville, as commissioners of the Lewis and Clark Centennial which is to be held in Portland in 1905.

The Sioux City (Iowa) Tribune (democratic) thinks that Mr. Bryan may ultimately discover where he stands in the estimation of his own party and of the country. It says: "Mr. Bryan declined invitations to speak for Carter Harrison in Chicago, but Carter was overwhelmingly elected. In the Commoner he opposed Rolla Wells, the regular democratic nominee in St. Louis, and Wells won a signal victory. After the election last fall an analysis of returns from states all over the country showed that Bryan uniformly ran behind the rest of the democratic ticket."

In this eventful year, eventful especially for Southeastern Oregon, the main questions that one thinks of or writes about, are as to how one can best promote the growth and general welfare of the country. It is an auspicious time to do this. Under the wise rule of the present administration, every branch of industry and every honorable effort meet with encouragement, and prosperity is the universal rule. Freedom from oppressive debt, the abundance of money and enterprise, and the natural desire to come west and aid in building it up, are bringing here, as never before, a great army of people. In Crook, Lake and Klamath counties this tremendous growth is being seen. These counties, heretofore lacking the business enterprises which railroads always bring, are to be delivered from their frontier positions and stand among the best in the state. Every effort for benefit, for the irrigation and improvement of land, for the building of mills and manufactories, and for the utilization of valuable forests is receiving due attention. Of these counties it may be truly said that they are to have a boom; indeed the boom has already commenced. The innumerable evidences of growth in population, enterprises and improvements tell this. But this boom will not be unhealthy, no reaction will follow, and it will persist and increase year after year until this country is brought up to the high standard which nature designed it to fill. Young and energetic men, with plenty of backbone and ambition, can make no mistake in coming here.

In relation to the sale of lands for back taxes, the Oregonian says: "Persons owing back taxes who do not want their property to get into the hands of brokers should pay the same at the office of the county clerk before July 1. According to the provisions of the law passed at the last session of the legislature, all old taxes can be paid without penalty except the ordinary costs of advertising and sale, if paid before July 1. The penalty otherwise would be 30 per cent. The old lists, covering a period of about 10 years, were bid in by the county. The new act makes the claim of the county or school district valid and binding, and provides also that all properties so bid in shall be sold at auction to the highest bidder on the first Monday after July 1, by the sheriff. A certain broker is making a list of all these properties, and some abstract companies are already said to have complete lists. The brokers will buy in the properties on these lists, and obtain deeds in time, and will charge the owners practically what they please to redeem, and if redemption is not made will obtain complete title to the lands. The new law makes the title good where it is possible to designate the particular parcel of land, notwithstanding the description on the tax roll may be imperfect, or if the name of the owner is not correctly given, and so on. At the sale to the highest bidder all of these old lists will be entirely removed from the custody of the county, and the tax liens be vested in the brokers, except such as they do not buy, which doubtless be very little. Under the highest bidder system, the county may not even get the whole of the taxes due, as the highest bid, unless there is opposition, does not necessarily have to be as much as the aggregate of the back taxes, and it is also possible for a broker to get hold of property by bidding in only one year's back taxes, where several may be due, as the law provides that at the sale property shall not be sold more than once."

Two young Indians, whose names we did not learn, died at Yainax Sunday.

Richard Harding Davis' "The Princess Aline" in dramatized form, illustrated by Charles Dana Gibson, is a feature of the April Ladies' Home Journal. "The Beautiful Jewess Who was Called the Princess of Her People," and "The Lovers of a Cheerful Giver" are two other articles of interest in the same issue. Miss Griscom, the American woman golf champion, shows "How Golf is Played" in a series of photographs. Edward Bok further emphasizes the value of simpler living, and Helen Waterson Moody offers guidance through "The First Tragedy in a Girl's Life."

"A Stucco Country House for $7500," "A Shingled Country House for $2500," and "Some Artistic Little Homes" have a practical value to those planning to build homes. There are three short stories by Gellert Burgess, W. A. Fraser and Laura Spencer Porter, and Elizabeth Stewart Phelps' "The Successors of Mary the First" is concluded. W. L. Taylor's painting, "The Barn-Raising as a Social Event," is worthy fills a whole page, and "Through Picturesque America" is finished, making way for similar tours into other lands. Much space is devoted to fashions, and there are articles on gardening, the lawn, floriculture, cooking, etc. By The Curtis Publishing Company, Philadelphia. One dollar a year; ten cents a copy.

You will waste time if you try to cure indigestion or dyspepsia by starving yourself. That only makes it worse when you do eat heartily. You always need plenty of good food properly digested. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is the result of years of scientific research for something that would digest not only some elements of food but every kind. And it is the one remedy that will do it.
