

LOCAL NEWS.

J. R. Edson of Beswick was here Sunday. M. J. Canning of Portland was here this week. E. D. Baker of Portland arrived here Friday. John Millon of Ashland arrived here Friday. Harvey Lee of Redding, Cal., arrived here Monday. Oliver and Nell Sly of Picard Cal., were here Saturday. Wm. Thomason of San Francisco arrived here Monday. I. J. Straw of the Dorris ranch Sunday in Klamath Falls. Mr. Hayes of Tule lake was doing business in town yesterday. H. J. Crisman of Bonanza visited Klamath Falls Saturday last. Miss Birdie D. McCarty of Lakeview was at this place Saturday. J. W. Manning has returned from Ashland to his ranch in this county. Miss Nellie Boyd arrived home Monday from Eugene where she has been attending college. Joe Wilson and J. L. Chase of Adin, Cal., who were here on business last week, returned home Thursday. Sheriff Summers and wife started the fore part of the week for Portland, to be absent several days. County Treasurer Van Valkenburg has been ill and confined to his house part of the time during the past week. Frank M. Corser, government Indian school inspector, arrived at this place Sunday and left the next day for Klamath Agency. J. L. Yaden returned Friday from the mountains on the Ashland road where he had been doing some grading to facilitate his stage line. The portrait of Daniel Gordon, of Keno, the oldest inhabitant of Klamath county, will be seen in the Daily Oregonian of Tuesday, April 30. W. H. Roberts and J. W. O'Neill of Hornbrook stopped here yesterday on their way home from Lakeview where they filed on timber claims. J. W. Barriss of Ashland arrived here Tuesday to look over the town with a view of investing. While in the county, he will visit relatives at Bly. Miss Clara Shattuck, daughter of Son Shattuck of Fort Klamath, arrived here Tuesday on her way home from Ashland where she had been attending school. This week John Dixon sold to H. S. Newton & Son 80 acres of land, unimproved but under the ditch, and near the Summers ranch, for $25 per acre; total, $2,000. Mr. Boyd, who came from Minnesota last fall and bought a large tract of raw land near Bly, has since then cleared and put into grain 200 acres of it. This is quick work. Dr. Straw returned on Wednesday of last week from his trip to Yreka, Cal. He stated that the times were lively, but were not near as much so as here in Klamath Falls. Last week E. R. Reames sold the house and lots just north of where he resides on River street to L. B. Applegate for $1,300. We are glad to see so good a citizen move in. A. T. Langell and wife stopped here Tuesday on their way to Klamath Agency, where they will reside, Mr. Langell having accepted the government position of agency farmer. Mrs. S. S. Mitchell of Klamath Falls has recently been visiting her sister, Mrs. Jack True of Ashland, and last week both went to Woodville to visit their mother, Mrs. P. C. McGill. Ashland Record: Prof. A. C. Gutherie, principal of the Klamath Falls public schools, will return to Ashland as soon as school terminates, and take charge of his fine fruit farm in Peachblow Paradise. Among the articles of incorporation filed in the office of the secretary of state last week was that of the Whitney Mercantile Company, Merrill, Klamath county; capital, $10,000, by W. P. Whitney, F. S. Brandon and D. M. Whitney. A valuable little farm of 80 acres, owned by Mr. McMillon and situated about four miles east of town, was sold by him yesterday to E. B. Henry for $2,400, being at the rate of $30 per acre. The land is under the ditch and well improved. W. A. Liston, of Salem, district agent for the Continental Fire Insurance Co., has been here the past week to adjust the loss of J. W. Stout, of Lost river, whose house was burned, together with its contents. The property was insured for $300. Heavy storms, with the mercury standing near zero, have been making life unhappy during the past two weeks in western Nebraska and South Dakota and eastern Wyoming, causing heavy losses to stockmen. As a matter of fact, the weather in this part of Oregon holds over those states by a large majority. The blasting of the rocks along the irrigating ditch at this place has thus far been done fully as carefully as could have been expected, and no accidents of a serious nature have occurred. The constant bombardment is however somewhat hard on the nervous system and when the job is done all will be glad. By the courtesy of Hon. Binger Hermann of Washington, D. C., this office had the pleasure of receiving this week a magnificent map of the United States. It is the largest, most complete and up-to-date map that has thus far been published, and we are greatly indebted to Mr. Hermann for a map so invaluable for reference. Fishermen and hunters go out now-a-days to reduce to captivity the fish and fowl that swim in or on the lakes and rivers. Great strings of fish and heavy loads of wild geese and ducks reward the industrious, and give cheerful assurance that the pot and trying pan will continue to boil and fry and exercise their cunning against the hunger which might otherwise prevail. A. D. Harpold of Bonanza visited this place Tuesday. He is working on projects for extensive irrigation in the near future. Besides his scheme, already inaugurated, to irrigate from a lake near Bonanza, he says he will next week begin an enterprise to lift water from Lost river near the Upper Gap, where he proposes to use the falls for power. This will water several thousand acres in Poe Valley. U. S. Marshal F. L. Morse arrived here from Portland last week and from here went to Fort Klamath and arrested a man named Dumore, charged with selling liquor to the Indians. It is also reported that he went to Dairy and on a similar charge arrested Taylor Wilson, who gave bail for his appearance before the U. S. court. The marshal started on his return to Portland Monday morning, accompanied by Dumore. A correspondence from Eureka, Cal., dated the 25th ult., and published in the Oregonian, states: The city council has passed the franchise asked for by the Klamath River Railroad Company. This is the second franchise passed within a month, the other one being to the California & Northern Company. The Klamath Company has been endeavoring for two years to obtain a franchise. The corporation is headed by A. B. Hammond, a well-known financier of Oregon and Montana. Work on the new road will be commenced immediately. The Crook County Journal at Prineville came out last week in greatly improved shape. It now has eight pages, five columns to the page and all printed at home. It is a very attractive form for a newspaper, and its pages, well and interestingly filled, are deserving of the cordial patronage of the Crook county public. This stylish form for a newspaper was adopted by the Lakeview Examiner last summer, then the Alturas Era did the same and now the Prineville Journal follows suit. We congratulate all of them on their enterprise and ability, and hope in due time to follow their example. Judge Willits is adding to and improving his store very greatly. He has had a new stone wall put under the entire building, and also a wall on the east side for an addition, now to be built. The addition is to be 14 feet wide in front, extend back the length of the store, 52 feet, and be two stories high. When completed, the whole will have a front on Main street of 39 feet and depth of 52 feet, and with its two imposing stories will much improve the business look of things. In addition the Judge will also build this summer, near the store, a residence, large, well arranged and stylishly constructed. And thus he will set a good example. The Lakeview Examiner reports that the wool crop in that county is said to be heavy this season. With the sheep in Lake county numbering over 100,000, the wool crop will indeed be heavy. There is wool enough in that county alone to justify the building of a large woolen mill at Klamath Falls, thereby making a first class market for the wool in Lake county, as also for that produced in Crook and Klamath counties. Here is the best water power in Oregon that is now going begging for some enterprising company to come and build more mills, prominent among which will be a woolen mill. From present appearances, however, we believe that the time is not far off when the importance and value of this great water power will be recognized and brought into use. A Nebraska exchange contains the following lines inspired by the vernal housecleaning chaos: Father, dear father, come home with me now, for ma has some carpet to beat; she's got all the furniture out in the yard from the front door clean down in the street. The stove must come down and be put in the shed, and the yard must be cleaned of dead grass; for it's time to clean house, and the— it is to pay—and the front windows sadly need glass. Father, dear father, come home with me now, and bring some bologna and cheese; it's 12 o'clock and there's nothing to eat—I'm so hungry I'm weak in the knees. All the dinner we have will be cold scraps and such and we'll have to eat standing up too; for the table and all are out in the yard—oh, I wish the springcleaning was through. Father, dear father, come home with me now, for ma is as mad as a Turk; she proposes to put you to work. There's painting to do and paper to hang, and window casings to scrub; for its housecleaning time, and you've got to come home and revel in suds and cold grub. When we came here a year and a half ago, we noticed that a large number of citizens, perhaps a majority of them, showed little enthusiasm over the project of building a railroad into this county. Some declared they wanted no railroad; others had been so often disappointed in past years by such projects that they had become disgusted and had lost confidence in any promise looking that way in the future. But as time has passed and citizens have more and more thought over the benefits and convenience of railroad advantages, a great change has taken place. Instead of wanting no railroad, a large majority now want one, and want it badly, and would not object if there were two railroads instead of one. They have seen that railroads would bring a greatly increased population; they would have good markets at their doors for everything they had for sale, and they would see the whole country enlivened and enriched by mills, manufactures, and a thousand industries which without a railroad would be impossible. This healthy improvement in opinion, will have a good effect. It will in fact do much towards bringing a railroad, for railway companies always prefer to go where they are appreciated and wanted, and where the people are friendly, and they avoid a country which is hostile. Here is a story told by the Valley Record, of love and disappointment at the village of Shake on the road between Ashland and Klamath Falls: "Uncle George W. Bailey, the well known resident of Shake and who keeps the station there, was in town last week expecting to receive a lady from near Denver, Colo., who was to become his bride. Mr. Bailey has been a widower for several years and is tired of living such a lonely life, after having become addicted to the married habit. He has been making goo-goo eyes through the United States mails to a lady in Colorado who has responded in a series of sensible and affectionate letters and enclosed a picture of a fairly good looking woman. At first she was going to come without any money, but later had become ill and wished the price of the car fare. Mr. Bailey sent her a ticket and expected her last Thursday, the sign being her blooming self with two bird cages, a basket with a rabbit, and a pet cat." She did not appear and Mr. Bailey returned home undecided whether the idol of his fancy had been unavoidably detained or whether he had been misled in the price of the car fare. He had his place completely renovated ready to receive his rosy woozy. As Mr. Bailey needs a help mate, any reputable lady who is that way inclined may find a respectable subject worthy of her attention at Shake postoffice."

DEATH OF HENRY BLOOMINGCAMP.

Henry Bloomingcamp, a prominent stockgrower of Sprague river valley, met with a fatal accident on Monday. He, in company with others, were blasting rock for the new irrigating ditch near Bly, of which he was one of the proprietors, when he was struck on the head by a flying rock, and was instantly killed. Mr. Bloomingcamp was about 35 years of age and was well known and much respected in the county as an enterprising business man, and his death will be greatly regretted. He was a single man. His brothers live in Klamath county, and his parents at Bogus, Cal., where his remains were taken on Tuesday. His funeral and burial are expected to take place at Yreka. When you want the best hand made harness at the lowest price, call on George W. Bradley. My harness and work are guaranteed to be equal to any on the Coast. I. O. O. F. ANNIVERSARY AT BONANZA. The 82nd anniversary of the I. O. O. F. was duly and appropriately celebrated at Bonanza, on Friday, April 26th, under the auspices of the lodge at that place. A very large number of citizens from all parts of the county were in attendance, and the day was one of unalloyed enjoyment, with out a flaw or discord to mar the proceedings, which throughout were arranged and managed with perfect order and good taste. At 1 o'clock p. m. the proceedings opened with a grand parade, largely participated in and accompanied by music. This interesting inauguration of the ceremonies of the day was followed by the eloquent and instructive address of Prof. R. A. Hopkins, and to which the large audience listened with pleasure and applause. The races which followed on the mile track near town, excited great interest. There were three running races. The first was a quarter mile race, 3 horses entered and won by Louis Gerber's horse, "Alexander." The second race, three-quarters of a mile, 3 saddle horses, won by Hugh Clifton's horse. The third race, three-quarters of a mile, 3 horses, won by Gerber's "Alexander." In the evening at Bauman's hall, the following program was presented: Music.....Miss Abbott Recitation.....Leo Bean Soliloquy.....Marie Harpold Song.....Miss French, Miss Huse, Prof. Hopkins Comedy....."In Want of a Servant." Recitation.....Miss Parker Song.....Duet. Comedy....."Matrimonial Advertisement." Recitation.....Mrs. Harpold Then followed the dance, with good music and attendance. At 12 o'clock, midnight, a royal basket supper received attention, after which came more dancing until the small hours of the next morning. Altogether, it was, from start to finish, a pleasurable combination of enjoyments. Parade, oration, races, theatricals, ball, and supper, all carefully arranged and successfully carried out, and in which the members of the Bonanza lodge did themselves proud.
