

GREAT CLOSING OUT SALE

OF THE COSS PIANO HOUSE,
By C. F. Shepherd.

Having received a car load of pianos and organs at Ashland, and having been appointed by the Eilers Piano House to take and close out the consigned stock of pianos and organs of H. M. Coss, of the Coss Piano House of Medford, Oregon, in the shortest possible time, we have decided to dispose of them in the next ten days; and if not sold in that time they will be shipped to other territory. They MUST be sold, and at the prices offered you cannot afford to lose this opportunity if you intend to purchase within 15 months.

After this special sale at Medford, a similar sale will be instituted at Grants Pass. We have in stock several very fine KIMBALL PIANOS in Mahogany, quarter-sawn oak and burl-walnut cases, the Wheelock, United Makers, Marshall Pianos and one second hand Cornish; and about one dozen Kimball and Burdett Organs in oak and walnut cases; also several second hand instruments.

Besides the above makes and my regular line of Chickering and Crown pianos, I am now sole agent for the following: Wheelock, Jacob Doll and Stayesant, pianos, the Newman Bros., and Crown Organs. Piano and Organ instruction books, stools and scarfs for sale.

Address or call at Medford store, or address Ashland, Or., Box 170.

Under the progressive spirit of the town, Judge Willits is rapidly pushing ahead the various improvements which he commenced recently at his place of business.

H. P. Galarnear is tastefully finishing his residence in the eastern part of town, and among other things is now adding a very stylish alcove. When completed he will have a fine residence.

George F. Vaughn, after thorough and careful examination, has found in town a bed of clay suitable for making excellent brick, and is arranging to start into the business next week. A brick yard is greatly needed, and will do a large business.

The roar of artillery, the boom of exploding shells and the havoc of death-dealing shot, have for a few days past appeared to be under swift headway in the neighborhood of G. T. Baldwin's store. It was merely a dynamic upheaval of rocks, made for the purpose of digging out a cellar under his new building.

The Klamath Falls Irrigating Co. has completed the present widening of its ditch, and it is reported that water will be turned in today. The services of nearly all the workmen who were employed, were dispensed with last week, and a large number of them have gone to Bly to work on the irrigating plants at that place.

A general party of six Californians passed through here on Thursday of last week on their way home from the Lakeview land office where they had been to file claims for timber land. They are H. J. Small, Esther Durgin and Emma C. Parshall of Klamathon, and Wm. H. Smith, Ella Gay Hull and Philo Hull of Hornbrook.

The supreme court recently affirmed Judge Benson's decision in the Lake county suit of Jones vs. Conn. The decision was a far-reaching one, determining riparian rights on lines rather favorable to irrigating interests and derogatory to strict common law riparian rights. While the decree was not a positive departure from late decisions of our supreme court, it made a decided step in the line of advance hinted at by the trend of recent authority, and its affirmation marks an epoch for irrigation interest, confirming the necessity of such use of surplus water.

Lakeview Examiner: Judge Benson will be here to open the adjourned term of circuit court on the 6th of May, and then will probably adjourn court until the regular term, May 20th. The regular session of county court will begin on May 11th. Kingery Brothers, Lake county wool growers, lost 299 head of sheep last week at the public shearing corral at Clover Flat. Joe Ambrose, also, lost a few while coming through Crooked Creek valley. It is presumed the sheep found a poisonous weed or were "alkalied." We understand that E. H. Loftus and C. H. Dalrymple have leased for five years a piece of mountain land on the property of S. J. Prose, three miles north of Lakeview. Some time ago while riding over this land John W. Loftus ran onto a ledge of lime stone. The ledge has been prospected and found to be very extensive, as well as of a fine quality of lime.

The various counties round about are talking of having county fairs. It is a laudable thing to do, to have a county fair. It brings to notice the choice cattle and horses, hogs, sheep, specimens of alfalfa, wheat and other grain, big potatoes, and other vegetables, fruit, butter, cheese, and a great variety of other things which are raised or manufactured in the county. It gives to those who attend, a grand display of fast horses and interesting races, and is an excellent and most enjoyable season for people to meet and get acquainted with each other, to renew old friendships and form new ones. The days spent at a county fair are among the most enjoyable of the year, and the memory of them is a constant pleasure. As many neighboring counties are taking steps to have these grand yearly reunions and recreations, why would it not be a wise course if Klamath county did the same? We have everything to make such a fair successful, and a proper display of the resources and productions would greatly aid in bringing this desirable country into notice. Will our readers think over and talk over the county fair business, and if you deem it the proper thing to do, call a meeting and set the machinery in motion.

Miss Magilton, dentist, is at the Linkville Hotel, room 11, and is prepared to do all kinds of dental work. Satisfaction guaranteed.

OBITUARY.

Died, of consumption, on Saturday, the 5th inst., at her home at Klamath Falls, Ore., Mrs. Lena Campbell, the beloved wife of John B. Campbell, aged 18 years and 2 months. The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon at the hall of the I. O. of O. F. under the auspices of the order of Rebekahs, of which she was an honored member. The services at the hall and grave were conducted by Rev. Stockwell, and were attended by a large crowd of friends, whose heartfelt sympathies are extended to the sorrowing relatives, and especially to the afflicted husband and bereaved father, Mr. J. M. Moore.

MARRIED.

By Judge Willits, yesterday afternoon, at the Hotel Linkville, Klamath Falls, Mr. John Lind of Dairy to Miss Chloe Wilson of the same place.

Mr. Lind is an industrious and well liked young man,—has two good ranches and is well fixed financially for the future. The estimable young lady whom he marries, is well worthy of his choice and will make an excellent wife, and both are deserving of happiness and prosperity.

THE DUFFY COMPANY.

The Duffy Company, successors to I. A. Duffy, was duly incorporated last week with the following officers: I. A. Duffy, president and general manager; Wm. Terrill, secretary and treasurer; and Geo. Taylor, vice president. The place of business will for the present be at the same place heretofore occupied by Mr. Duffy, and their business will be to extensively deal, wholesale or retail, in dry goods, groceries, clothing, and in fact everything that their patrons may desire. And with good goods, long experience in buying and satisfactory prices, the company hopes to meet with general approval.
