

GREAT CLOSING OUT SALE

OF THE COSS PIANO HOUSE,
By C. F. Shepherd.

Having received a car load of pianos and organs at Ashland, and having been appointed by the Eilers Piano House to take and close out the consigned stock of pianos and organs of H. M. Coss, of the Coss Piano House of Medford, Oregon, in the shortest possible time, we have decided to dispose of them in the next ten days; and if not sold in that time they will be shipped to other territory. They MUST be sold, and at the prices offered you cannot afford to lose this opportunity if you intend to purchase within 10 months.

After this special sale at Medford, a similar sale will be instituted at Grants Pass. We have in stock several very fine KIMBALL PIANOS in Mahogany, quarter-sawn oak and burl-walnut cases, the Wheelock, United Makers, Marshall Pianos and one second hand Cornish; and about one dozen Kimball and Burdett Organs in oak and walnut cases; also several second hand instruments.

Besides the above makes and my regular line of Chickering and Crown pianos, I am now sole agent for the following: Wheelock, Jacob Doll and Stuyvesant, pianos, the Newman Bros., and Crown Organs. Piano and Organ instruction books, stools and seats for sale.

Address or call at Medford store, or address Ashland, Or., Box 170.

Landlord Corner of the Hotel Oregon, Ashland, accompanied by Surveyor McCall, was here a few days this week to visit the ranch which he recently bought near town.

We are informed that Jas. R. Edson, postmaster at Beswick, Cal., and a well and favorably known old settler of that section, suffered a stroke of paralysis last Sunday night.

The Ashland oil company has purchased the necessary machinery and will soon commence boring for oil. The indications are that their efforts will prove successful in finding it.

At the Presbyterian church next Sunday, subject of morning sermon: "Work Among the Mountain Whites of Kentucky;" subject of evening sermon: "What Think Ye of Christ?"

J. Howard, who has been employed in the Hotel Linkville, left here yesterday to fill a position as one of the drivers on the Ashland end of the stage line from that place to Klamath Falls.

Alexander Zevely who was in Klamath Falls yesterday, reports that he has sold his saloon business at Bonanza, and intends to visit Southern Oregon race meetings with a number of speed horses.

At the meeting of the county board last week, nothing outside of the ordinary routine business was transacted. Everything pertaining to county affairs seems to be running smoothly and satisfactorily.

The new building of the L. O. O. F. has not been commenced as yet, but it is to be hoped that it soon will be. If built according to the program, it will be a magnificent addition to Main street.

In giving the names of the incorporators of the Duffy Company last week, we mentioned the name of Geo. Taylor as one of them. This was a mistake. Instead of Taylor it should have been George Hurn.

The Oregonian says that the articles of incorporation of the Duffy Company of Klamath Falls were filed in the secretary of state's office at Salem, May 11th, the object being to deal in general merchandise.

Reames & Jennings, Judge Willits and the Duffy Company are every day receiving new additions to their large stocks of dry goods, from which their numerous patrons are reaping rich returns for their money.

Mrs. Craig and daughter departed for the Willamette Valley yesterday, being accompanied to the railroad by Rev. Craig. He will return to finish his year as minister here. Mrs. Craig has gone to work in the interest of the D. H. Lodge.

The price of Oregon potatoes in San Francisco is now $1.25 per bushel. If Klamath county had a convenient way of getting its enormous yield of potatoes to that market, it would become one of the most profitable crops that could be raised.

Numerous big covered wagons, some singly and others in trains drawn by from four to six horses, have been frequent in the streets the past week. Some carry loads of freight from the railroad; others contain families of movers who are hunting farms.

W. D. Hiddleman, who sold his ranch of 180 acres near Fort Klamath last winter to H. J. Gordon of Rogue River, for $2,500, gave possession of the property this week and is preparing to move into one of the counties east or northeast of here.

A gentleman informs us that on Sunday evening during the light sprinkle of rain, lightning struck the Smith ranch and killed a valuable colt. No other damage was done. Our informant says that this was the only strike that has occurred in the county for a year or more.

W. H. McClure of Poe Valley was here on Friday. He stated that W. H. Cross and son, with their families, of Halsey, Ore., were en route across the country from that place and would arrive here in about five days. They are accompanied by Mr. Morgan and family, also of Halsey, and all are designing to purchase ranches and become permanent residents of Klamath county.

It is to be greatly regretted that the excursion of President McKinley is likely to be abandoned on account of the serious illness of Mrs. McKinley. The presidential party is now at San Francisco, and will leave there direct for the East, if the proposed trip to Oregon is given up.

There were two or three small sized frosts ten days or two weeks ago, but doing little damage to crops. As to the fruit, it will be all right, as is testified to by the trees which are now in full blossom, and which indicate that we are to have the biggest yield of fruit this county has seen for years.

Monday Sheriff Summers received a telegram describing one E. Arlington, who broke out of jail at Redding, Cal., and afterwards, on Saturday, resisted arrest at Adin, Cal., and in doing so killed H. S. Waller, constable, and R. H. Dorian, H. E. weighs 150 pounds, and has dark brown hair, eyes and mustache, the latter drooping. At last accounts he was still at large.

The Portland Oregonian of last Thursday reports that Andrew Dammont of Klamath county, arrested on a charge of selling liquor to Indians, and released on bonds, put in an appearance in the United States District Court yesterday and changed his plea of not guilty to guilty and was sentenced to 60 days' imprisonment in Klamath county jail, and to pay a fine of $100.

A large crowd of members of the Eastern Star attended an entertainment and banquet given in their hall Tuesday evening in honor of Mrs. Benson, Mrs. Cogswell and Mrs. Craig, in view of their departure from Klamath Falls. Music and recitations, a sumptuous supper, dancing and general sociability engaged the attention of those present. The evening was most pleasantly spent.

Rumors of new steamboats on the lakes, electric roads between certain points, and of many other projects that may be made beneficial, are floating in the air and will continue to float there, unless solid work and energy take the place of talk. Many profitable enterprises which now stand begging for some one to take hold of, ought not to have to wait long.

We went down to the court house yesterday to see what the news was. But there was nothing in particular going on, no new law suits on tap, no new marriage licenses issued, and but few new transfers of land. The fact was that the people are generally too busy on their stock ranches, farms and irrigating ditches to attend to lesser matters of interest.

From every appearance great and increased crops are due this year. Alfalfa and fat cattle will crowd the hills and valleys everywhere in the county, and good times, peace, plenty and lots of money will be the result and certain reward of the industrious and persevering. Such will be the story of Klamath county this year.

The proposed new road across the mountains from Medford to Pelican Bay has already been commenced, the design of which is to capture the trade and business of the Wood river country. While it is a wise move on the part of Medford, it will be a wiser thing on our part to prevent such a move from meeting with a successful accomplishment of the object in view. Klamath Falls is the natural trading point for the citizens of Wood river, and they will gladly patronize Klamath Falls instead of Medford if they can have a good road to travel over.

To offset the enterprise of Medford, therefore, build a more direct road from this place, following the east side of Klamath river and Upper Klamath lake to Fort Klamath, and make it first class in every respect. Then the trade would continue to come here. But a good road is absolutely necessary. A poor road will result in the accomplishment of Medford's desire and design.

A Medford correspondent of the Oregonian, of May 8, says: There is an unusually large immigration of home and timber-seekers into Southern Oregon this Spring, and a few words concerning the quality and quantity of the timber of Jackson and Klamath Counties may be of interest. Sugar pine, yellow pine and fir most abundant in these counties, there being about an equal quantity of each. This timber is of excellent quality and of sufficient quantity to warrant the investment of many thousands of dollars. There are a great number of acres of Government land in this district which is heavily timbered and awaiting the filing of homesteads and timber claims. There are more people locating homes this Spring in Medford and vicinity than at any time during the five years previous. Timber at present is selling at from $5 to $30 per acre, and as the timber of Oregon has a world-wide reputation for quantity, strength and durability, it may not be long before the price will be from 50 cents to $1 per 1000-foot stumpage. At the present rate of locating, the timber claims of Southern Oregon will be practically exhausted by October of the present year.

It is a source of gratification that L. P. W. Quimby, the game and forestry warden of this state, has recently duly appointed Elmer I. Applegate to be one of the six special deputy game and forestry wardens, with jurisdiction everywhere in the state, under the state law for the protection of forests, game, wild fowl, song birds, trout and other game fish, approved February 27, 1901. Of the six special deputies, four were appointed on the west side of the Cascades, and two on the east side. The business reputation of Mr. Applegate warrants us in saying that no better appointment could have been made. His headquarters will be at Klamath Falls. In connection with this announcement, we call attention to the state law above referred to, and especially to the fact that in Jackson, Klamath and Lake counties "it shall be unlawful at any time between the
