Some skeletons, doubtless those of Indians, have lately been unearthed by the excavating at the rear of the Bank Exchange saloon. One skeleton indicated that it had been buried in a hole that was not of sufficient length, the feet and head lying much higher than the rest of the body.

Yreka Journal: Mrs. D. B. Worthington, nee Myrtle Shearer, accompanied by her child, arrived this morning from the east, via Oregon, on a visit to her mother, Mrs. E. Shearer. Mrs. Worthington resides at Beloit, Wis., where her husband prints a daily paper. He formerly published the Express at Klamath Falls Ore.

G. W. Morine, who recently bought the Chastain hotel at Bonanza, has been making some extensive repairs to the property, and has brought the service of the house up to a high standard. He has repainted, repapered and remodeled the rooms and improved the building throughout, the work being done by F. W. Chitt of Klamath Falls.

The managers of the district fair to be held at Ashland have decided to discard racing this year on account of the expense and the lack of a good track. Hence those of the Rogue river who have a hankering for fast horses and wish to gratify it, should journey across the mountains to Klamath Falls and attend the races here the second week in October.

C. R. DeLap arrived Monday from Ashland where he met and accompanied home his wife on her return from Salem where she had been caring for her child under treatment there. Miss Della Farrar, Mrs. DeLap's sister, went to Salem to take the latter's place with the sick child. The family is much encouraged by the child's improvement and the reports of the attending physician.

The annual county institute opens here October 9 and continues three days. Superintendent DeLap informs us that he has assurances that State Superintendent Ackerman of Salem and President P. L. Campbell of the Monmouth State Normal school will be in attendance as instructors and will give lectures. It promises to be one of the most profitable institutes the county has ever had.

A frightful accident occurred on the Great Northern railroad, forty miles east of Kalspell, Mont., last Friday, thirty-six lives being lost and ten persons injured. Twenty-eight freight cars escaped control and ran into a west-bound passenger train. The wreck caught fire and many of the thirty-six were burned to death. Superintendent Downs and son were in their private car and are among the dead.

There are efforts looking to the re-organization of the brass band, to be placed under the instruction of Mr. Fred Moore, who is experienced and skilled as a musical director. It is hoped the boys will conclude to do this, as a band is a signal benefit to a town. If the plan to re-organize succeeds, we understand the boys will give weekly out-door concerts, which would be a source of very pleasant entertainment for all.

We learn that two days in the second week in October will be devoted to races on the half mile track at Klamath Falls, and that several hundred dollars have already been raised for premiums, etc. A meeting will be held at the city hall on Monday evening to appoint officers and committees and make general arrangements. It is designed to have several of the fastest horses of southern Oregon and northern California participate in the races, and we hope to be able next week to publish more full particulars.

Mrs. A. C. Lewis of this place, received a telegram last Thursday announcing the death of her father, A. J. Sawtell, of Molalla, Ore., who had been suffering from heart disease for the past year. Mr. Sawtell was the pioneer tea-seed grower of the Pacific coast, and had for many years, until his retirement last spring, taken a leading place in business circles of Clackamas county. He leaves to mourn his loss, a wife and one daughter, Mrs. A. C. Lewis of this place. On receipt of the sad news, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis started for Molalla, where they go to attend the funeral.

Hon. H. E. Ankeny and family arrived here last Friday from the Rogue river valley to visit and enjoy the fishing and scenic resorts hereabouts. Mr. Ankeny is also looking after his large interests in this county. He talks very fair, indeed, in reference to preserving the property of these, through whose lots in town the irrigating ditch runs, and we believe he will do everything possible to reduce such damage to a minimum. He is very favorably impressed with the outlook for this town and county, and believes the proposed railroad, which he thinks is sure to start this fall, will inspire a big influx of new settlers and introduce an era of large growth and prosperity.

Thus far several thousand people have visited Crater lake, the huckleberry patch and other attractive places of resort in this county this summer. Many have come from Portland, San Francisco and northern California and a few from the eastern states. As to the people residing in Klamath county, a very large proportion of them have visited Crater lake and the "berry patch," and have returned with contentedness beaming with the health and enjoyment they have had, and with the pleasure of bringing home with them thousands of gallons of luscious fruit from the huckleberry patch. And from every town in neighboring counties have come delegations to view the scenery of mountains and lakes, to camp out and hunt and catch fish, and to drink from Spring creek and Wood river the coldest, and most delicious water they ever drank since they were born. These outings are carnivals of joy, they cure every ill, they replace the cares of business and trouble with a joy which sweetens life until the time for the next year's similar outing comes round.

Monday evening's stage from Ashland brought to Klamath Falls, in charge of Stage Contractor J. L. Yaden and Constable Chas. Gardner, an individual, giving his name as James F. Prestoon, and aged about 30 years, who had plied the business of a highwayman on the mountains near Pokegama on Sunday. He held up three travelers and demanded their money at the point of a revolver, the first victim being Mr. Yaden.

Mr. Yaden was traveling in a road cart and was going on business to Fred Frame's place some distance beyond the logging camp. Within a mile of his destination, he met Prestoon who accosted him and asked him about directions, distances and neighboring towns. At the conclusion of this preliminary interview, the highwayman rather clumsily drew a gun and asked Mr. Yaden if he had any money. The latter replied that he had a little and proceeded to empty one pocket, from which he delivered to the stranger $1.80. Then Mr. Yaden was allowed to pass on, but had gone only a few rods when he noticed the robber was tarrying and watching him with an air of perplexity or dissatisfaction. Mr. Yaden, suspecting that the individual believed he could reap a bigger harvest from him, asked him in a jocular vein if he wanted his watch. The robber said he would like to see it. Thereupon Mr. Yaden told him with determination that he had better journey on if he didn't want to get hurt. The robber acted on this suggestion and disappeared.

Later the highwayman met W. J. Booth, a fruit peddler, who gave up 40 cents on demand. Farther along, an old gentleman by the name of A. D. Burton was held up, but had nothing to give.

In the mean time Mr. Yaden hurried to Pokegama and there organized a party to go in pursuit of the robber, who after a chase of 15 miles, was overhauled and captured without resistance at Puckett's station where he had stopped to get a cup of coffee. The highwayman would have met the stage en route to Ashland a half hour later, and knowing this fact inspired Mr. Yaden to exercise all possible energy in capturing the man. Much credit is due Mr. Yaden and those who assisted him for their promptitude.

Prestoon was held to the circuit court in this county on a complaint issued from Justice Yeager's court at Pokegama, charged with highway robbery on the person of A. D. Burton. The fact, however, that Mr. Yaden was held up in Jackson county and that circuit court is in session there now led the authorities to transfer the prisoner to that place, where he will plead guilty and receive his sentence. He was satisfied with this move and Deputy District Attorney Rutenic secured from him a written confession of guilt. Mr. Yaden took the prisoner in charge yesterday morning and started with him for Jackson county. They will be met at Hart's station by the sheriff of that county.

DRAMATIC ENTERTAINMENT.

At the opera house Friday night, the sensational melo-drama in five acts, entitled "The Octoroon" will be presented. This is a story of slavery days. It was first produced in New York in 1858, where it created such a sensation that the participants were threatened with violence. During the following three years it received more presentations than any other drama on the American stage at that time, and was almost as effective in bringing about the war as was the world-renowned story of Uncle Tom's Cabin. When you see the play Friday night, you will see it in full, with all the properties, effects and mechanical contrivances that are required to produce such a bill, and last but not least, with an excellent cast. Come one, come all, and enjoy a rare entertainment.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.

Monday evening's stage from Ashland brought to Klamath Falls, in charge of Stage Contractor J. L. Yaden and Constable Chas. Gardner, an individual, giving his name as James F. Prestoon, and aged about 30 years, who had plied the business of a highwayman on the mountains near Pokegama on Sunday. A PHOTOGRAPHER IS IN TOWN.

L. Van Burkleo, the San Francisco photographer, who is touring the county seeking health, is in Klamath Falls. He has his photo outfit with him, which he takes along to make expenses. We had the pleasure of seeing his work and consider it unsurpassable. It is the latest style of finish, and we never before had a photographer here that did work like his. Give him a call and see for yourself. His tent is next to Mr. Duffy's new store.

SCHOOL COMMENCES SEPT. 9.

Some will need new clothing and shoes. Everybody agrees that it pays to buy good clothing and shoes for school purposes. We have put in a splendid line of real leather shoes that will wear. Also a nice line of boys' suits. Would be pleased if you would call and look at the goods and get prices. THE DUFFY CO.

A SNAP FOR STOCKMEN.

I have 20 head of yearling Hereford bulls, all of them registered, that I would sell at $100 each, if taken soon. F. O. BUNTING.

Address, Lakeview, Oregon. Stock Ranch, Drews Valley.

NOTICE.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will give an entertainment, September 13, at 8 p. m. in Duffy's new store. An interesting program will be carried out, after which ice cream will be served. Come one! Come all!

"OCTOROON."

As Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe with her story, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," touched a chord of sympathy in the breasts of the American people in pity for the slaves, so Dion Boucicault with his drama, "The Octoroon," roused them almost to frenzy. Don't fail to see this great play at the opera house Friday night, Sept. 6.

Miss Magilton, dentist, will leave here the 14th inst., and those wishing dental work done should call on her at Hotel Linkville before that date.

CONTEST NOTICE.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, UNITED STATES LAND OFFICE, LAKEVIEW, OREGON, July 1st, 1901.

A sufficient contest affidavit having been filed in this office by O. T. Anderson, of Ely, Oregon, contestant, against homestead entry No. 1783, made April 18th, 1893, for W 1/4 of NE 1/4, NE 1/4 of NE 1/4 of Sec. 29, and SW 1/4 of SE 1/4 of Sec. 17, all in Township 36 S., Range 15 E., by Chris Moos, contestee, in which it is alleged that he left and abandoned said entry more than six years ago, and ever since then has failed to reside thereon, and still fails to reside on the same; that his absence from said claim was not due from his employment in the army, navy or marine corps of the United States; that said contestee has failed to improve and cultivate said tract as required by law, and that all of said parties are hereby notified to appear, respond and offer evidence touching said allegation, at 10 o'clock a. m. on September 7, 1901, before the Register and Receiver at the United States Land Office in Lakeview, Oregon.

The said contestant having, in a proper affidavit, filed July 2, 1901, set forth facts which show that after due diligence personal service of this notice cannot be made, it is hereby ordered and directed that such notice be given by due and proper publication.

E. M. BRATTAIN, Register.
