PRESIDENT SHOT.

The people of the nation were shocked and appalled on receipt of the news, flashed over the wires Friday afternoon, that an attempt had been made to assassinate President McKinley, while he was in attendance at the Buffalo exposition. An anarchistic arch-fiend committed the dastardly deed.

Between 3 and 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, President McKinley went to the Temple of Music on the exposition grounds and was there engaged in shaking hands with the passing crowd. When the assassin's turn came, he extended his left hand, his right being swathed in a handkerchief.

Immediate attention from the best skill obtainable was rendered the President. A successful operation and the condition of the patient afterwards justified the hope and belief that the wounds were not necessarily fatal.

On receipt of the terrible news, Mrs. McKinley bore up bravely, though she was greatly affected by it. Vice-President Roosevelt and cabinet officers have hurried to Buffalo to watch the condition of the President.

LATEST NEWS.

The news received this morning, as to the condition of President McKinley, is that he is nearly out of danger. No bad symptoms have occurred and his steady improvement justly gives happy assurance of his full recovery in the near future.

FRUITS OF ANARCHY.

The attempt to assassinate President McKinley is the fourth attack on the life of a chief executive within the history of the United States. A lunatic tried to kill President Jackson, but failed to even inflame a wound.

The assassin lies obdurate and defiant in his cell. His brains inclined to and absorbed the infamous doctrine of anarchy, which would demolish governments and kill their authorized heads.

This tragic event, as the outgrowth of anarchistic agitation, has inspired a systematic effort to detect and eradicate anarchists. They should be driven from the country and no longer allowed to threaten the government.

TRIP TO CRATER LAKE.

KLAMATH FALLS, Aug. 28.—After much planning and many purchases, Dr. C. A. Wooddy, editor of the Pacific Baptist; Rev. George R. Varney, general missionary for Oregon, and the writer, on Monday, August 12, checked our baggage and stowed ourselves in the sleeper of the Southern Pacific express, southbound.

Four days brought us the 83 miles to Crater lake. Two things surprised us—the clearness and coldness of the water, of which we drank our pint cups dry and felt no harm, and the magnificence of the timber.

Our camp was a mile and a half from the rim of the crater. Saturday morning we walked to the summit. Standing on the rim we looked down those 1500 feet. The first impression was that we were looking into a mass of clouds.

A prominent Oregon timber man said yesterday that the common-pit rate gave all the Southern Pacific stations in this state was the main cause of the quickening in the demand for our timber.

property of the United States. There was no lock, not even an oak-lock, but good oars, so we, as a part of this great country, took possession and paddled to the island two miles from the shore.

Also a grain ranch at Lorella known as the "Simp, Wilson ranch," containing 320 acres. All well fenced and sufficiently watered by numerous springs of excellent water.

One of the comforts here is to receive The Oregonian the day after publication. Yours truly, ALEXANDER BLACKBURN, D. D.

PRICES OF TIMBER LANDS ADVANCE.

Speaking of the recent advance in the price of Oregon timber lands, the Oregonian of Saturday, says: "The leading city hotels are frequented by many eastern timber men at present, and conferences between them and local 'cruisers' are being held all the time.
