THURSDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1901.

State politicians are beginning to fix up their fences for the approaching campaign.

Latest report states that Miss Ellen M. Stone, the American missionary held by bandits for a ransom, is dead.

The Oregonian joins other republican papers in the belief that the recent gigantic combinations will drive this country to government ownership of railroads.

Sunday's Oregonian reports that among the bills to be introduced in congress by Congressman Tongue will be one to create the Crater Lake National Park.

Portland citizens alone have already rolled up a subscription of $300,000 for the Lewis and Clark exposition. This enterprise on the part of Portland insures large outside aid and the success of the project.

A head Chinese source in this country has issued a proclamation requiring every Chinese in the United States to contribute $1, the total sum thus raised to be used in an effort to defeat the re-enactment of the Gentry exclusion law.

The fifty-seventh congress opened on Monday. David B. Henderson of Iowa was re-elected speaker of the house. Senator Frye of Maine presides over the senate. It is reported that several thousand bills have been introduced in the house concerning nearly every phase of public business.

A measure will undoubtedly pass at this session of congress to pay the Klamath Indians for the land excluded from the reservation. This action would have been taken a year ago but for an error, which has since been corrected. Payment of the Indians will be a signal benefit to the prosperity of the county generally.

It is now announced that State Senator J. N. Williamson of Prineville will be a candidate for the congressional nomination to succeed Congressman Moody. Hitherto Mr. Williamson has been considered a strong candidate for the state secretaryship, in the nomination for which he would be pitted against F. I. Dunbar, the present incumbent. The uncertainty as to what office Mr. Williamson will go after is puzzling politicians of the state very much, and they are clamoring anxiously to know "where he is at."

The future for this county and for its towns and people, is brighter and more encouraging now, than it ever has been before. Many of the numerous schemes for irrigation have been and are now developing into certainties, and thousands of acres of land under irrigation and ready to be made into profitable farms, now await coming homeseekers. What a wonderful transformation has taken place within the past two years. That length of time ago, a man could purchase land for a mere song. But few bought, at even the low prices. Now however land is no longer a drug. Great tracts have been placed under the ditch, and the then desolate and unproductive lands now yield immense crops of alfalfa, grain and vegetables. Every year demonstrates more and more the profits of farming, and stock growing, and especially what it will be when we are able to send the various products to market. And that time will soon come. It is probably safe to say that the railroad now being constructed into this county from Klamath, will within a year provide a ready means to reach outside markets, and hence it will double the efforts and ambition of producers and the value of their crops. Next spring and perhaps this winter will see thousands from less favored countries come here to participate in the accumulation of the wealth that will follow. The trump card of Klamath county is of course its vast forests, but its agricultural productions will not come far behind. Together they will form a prosperous and encouraging combination, perhaps the most so of any in the state.

Xmas... Dairy, Or.

It is... into Southern Oregon from... Cascade Mountains, will... Lake and Klamath... adjacent territory... to San Francisco rather than to Portland. If so, we will not have lost anything, for this has always been the case. The only product exported from that region is livestock, and most of it has never come to Portland. This is due to the physical features of the region. It is easier to go south, and strike the railroad in California south of the Siskiyou Mountains than into Rogue River valley. There is no help for this at present.

There may be a change, however, in a few years. That will come when a railroad extends from Portland or some point in the Willamette valley across the mountains into Southern Oregon—an event not likely to happen soon, though not improbable in the distant future. Or that part of Oregon, at an early date, may have an outlet by rail to the Columbia river, and so to Portland. It probably will not be many years till the Columbia Southern, or a branch thereof, or a road projected to run from The Dalles, will be extended into that region making connections with some eastern line or with the California road. When this happens, Portland will be in about as good a position, with reference to the trade of that county, as San Francisco is.

But there are nearer districts, almost equally isolated, to which Portland might well turn its attention—Tillamook county, the Kittitas valley and surrounding country, and others. Portland is geographically the hub of the great wheel, all right; the trouble is that some of the spokes have not been put in yet.

DAIRY CORRESPONDENCE.

We are having lots of fun here in Dairy. We had a big shooting of turkeys on Thanksgiving day. Lots of them were hit and lots not hit. It wound up with a horse race. Pool's horse took the one-half mile race by a neck; McCumber's horse, second. Walter Parker acted as starter.

We are going to have a genuine postoffice here. Ike Davies of the Excelsior is putting in a new cabinet office, got it from way back in Indiana. We are changing roads and building streets. Ike promises to build us a hall, and he is going to have a safe in his store, where we can deposit our valuables.

The justice court was in session last week and several lawyers were in attendance. The case on the docket was this:

The road supervisor went out to mend his ways, and in mending his ways he found it necessary to build a bridge. When he got the bridge completed he found that it was too large to fit the road, or the road too narrow to fit the bridge. So he took it into an adjoining field where it could have more room to spread itself, and then the lady who owned the field informed him that if he did not mend his ways outside of her lot, she would mend him and his ways too. Finally the case was adjusted to the satisfaction of the parties concerned, and peace resumed its usual sway.

We have a nice school here, and divine services most every Sabbath. Ike says he would almost be persuaded to attend, if he was not compelled to change the mail twice every Sunday. He must get used to it or get a helper, so I say. That is all the news this week.

BONANZA WHISPERINGS.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Flaackus, a 12-pound son. The father is doing well.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Gardner of Poe Valley, a 7-pound son.

If not prevented by smallpox, the people of our town will give a grand Christmas entertainment, consisting of drills, tableaux, recitations, etc. Further notice of their proceedings will be given later on.

A night session of school is held here, by the teacher, for the benefit of the large pupils who are behind in their studies.

Thanksgiving passed very quietly in our midst. Perhaps all were too full for utterance.

Wives are wanted by a number of our bachelors; ladies desiring husbands may address the following: H. L. Clopton, Wm. Warren, S. D. Whitmore, L. Beauman, Geo. Sparreton and John Hedger. Free delivery will be given all letters to their address at this office, box 144.

D. F. Driscoll is clerking for a few days in Harpold's store, while N. W. Dumm has gone out to his ranch in Langell's Valley.

The Bonanza choir meets every Wednesday and Saturday evenings. All are welcome to come.

A. D. Harpold made a business trip to the Falls last Monday.

Mrs. Bertha Bean will start for Sacramento next Monday where she goes for medical assistance.

An Evangelist's Story.

"I suffered for years with a bronchial or lung trouble and tried various remedies but did not obtain permanent relief until I commenced using One Minute Cough Cure," writes Rev. James Kirkman, evangelist of Bell River, Ill. "I have no hesitation in recommending it to all sufferers from maladies of this kind." One minute Cough cure affords immediate relief for coughs, colds and all kinds of throat and lung troubles. For croup it is unequalled. Absolutely safe. Very pleasant to take, never fails and is really a favorite with the children. They like it.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

I would respectfully notify the public that on account of the appearance of smallpox in the country I have placed the entire Klamath reservation under quarantine restrictions. I would ask all people outside the reservation lines to remain off the reservation for the present. A measure of this kind to be effective must be as nearly complete as possible. All persons who are within the lines will be required to remain until the danger is regarded as fully past and official notice is given to that effect.

Klamath Agency, Oregon, October 22, 1901. O. C. APPLEGATE, U. S. Indian Agent.

FOR SALE. TWO FINE RANCHES.

The undersigned desires, on account of poor health, to sell two excellent ranches, viz:

One stock ranch about 6 miles from Lorella, containing 520 acres, all fenced with good rail and wire fence, good buildings, house, barn, sheds, spring house, etc.; 150 acres under cultivation, the balance in wild hay, (cuts several hundred tons per year) all excellent soil and plenty of water from several large springs for the hay and crops. It is one of the best ranches, and in the center of a large and first class range.

Also a grain ranch at Lorella known as the "Simp. Wilson ranch," containing 320 acres. All well fenced and sufficiently watered by numerous springs of excellent water; a new house, finished in good style and cost $1,200; a young orchard, 25 acres in alfalfa, the balance cultivated and raising wheat, oats, rye, barley, vegetables, etc., etc. No waste land on it. The best grain ranch in Klamath county.

These ranches will be sold, separately or together, at a bargain. Good title, and both in first rate condition. Call on or write to Health and Beauty.

A poor complexion is usually the result of a torpid liver or irregular action of the bowels. Unless nature's refuse is carried off it will surely cause impure blood. Pimples, boils and other eruptions follow. This is nature's method of throwing off the poisons which the bowels failed to remove. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are world famous for remedying this condition. They stimulate the liver and promote regular and healthy action of the bowels but never cause griping, cramps or distress. Safe pills.
