A Question of Age.

Freddy-And can you really and truly remember Abraham Lincoln? Grandpa- Why, yes, of course. You see, I'm a great deal older than you are.

Freddy-Say, grandpa, how old will I have to be before I can remember him?

A Masculine Lady's Maid.

A Bostonian while exploring the files of a paper printed in his town a century ago came across this rather startling advertisement : "H. Rogers informs those ladies who wish to be with it. That would remove two obdressed by him, either on assembly or ball days, to give him notice the previous day. Ladies who engage to and don't dress must pay half price."

When the Proportion Is Right.

"But true love, you know," urged the young man, "can live on bread and cheese and kisses."

'That may be true when the proportion is right," returned the practical old gentleman, "but, unfortunately, in your case, it is about ninetenths kisses,"-Chicago Post.

Many knives brought in for repairs are prized because they are gifts; or they were bought in some foreign country, or they just suit the hand of the man that uses them. There are various more or less sentimental reasons why a man may prefer to keep the old knife rather than discard it for a new one.
