(Oregonian.) fic, yesterday issued a circular letter Dairy, Oregon. to the Eastern agents of the company, notifying them that tickets to Western Oregon points bought at the settlers' rates, will be in effect in March and April, will entitle the bolders to stopover priveliges at all stations south of Portland, within the final destination of the tickets. That is, the passenger from the East holding a ticket to Ashland (which will cost him no more than a ticket 50 kegs, at $5 per keg. to Portland), will have the right to stop off ten days at any station between Portland and Ashland, or ten days each at every station between these two Oregon points.

This arrangement will be effected by the Southern Pacific Company, Dairy, Or. taking up at Portland the coupon for passage from Portland to Ashland and issuing in its stead an exchange check, good for the same trip, but not limited to an unbroken ride. The passenger will have the privilege of staying ten days in Portland if he shall choose, then for example, going to Oregon City and stopping off for another ten days, passing thence to Woodburn for another stay of ten days, and so on along the line.
