Eastern Oregon has reason to be thankful for its share in the distribution of nominations by the republican state convention.

"Scuttle" is the policy of the democrats with reference to the Philippines and "imperialism" will be used as their chief calamity cry.

President Roosevelt met a cordial and enthusiastic welcome at the Charleston exposition last week and his speeches elicited favorable comment.

It looks as though General Miles' constant discord with the administration would soon prompt the president to retire him from his place in the army.

Mrs. McKinley, wife of the late, martyred president, has been granted the usual pension of $5,000 per annum allowed to the widows of presidents.

Peace is now bright prospects of being restored in South Africa. The proposed terms on which a settlement of differences is likely to be reached, have not been made public as yet.

President Roosevelt's war on trusts will make him unpopular with that class, but will make him solid with the masses. Among the latest efforts by the administration in that line are steps at Kansas City to dissolve the beef trust.

As to who is better fitted to perform the duties of governor,—Mr. Furnish or Mr. Chamberlain,—a big majority of the voters will unhesitatingly decide in favor of the former. Chamberlain is reported lacking in strength and force of character which are indispensable to an efficient executive and which Mr. Furnish possesses to a large degree.

In its deliberations and platform, the democratic state convention omitted mention of their former apostle and leader, W. J. Bryan. He seems to be as much of a back number with his party as is the issue of free silver, on which he expected to ride into the presidency in '06. Bryan's political power weakened when his 16 to 1 boom collapsed.

The democratic platform is a voluminous document and points a finger of pessimism at most all phases of the state and national administrations. It urges that all mistakes could and would be promptly corrected if the democratic politicians were given control. They were safe in making a profusion of promises, for the people of the state will not burden them with the impossible task of fulfilling them.

Every man nominated by the republicans for county office is thoroughly competent for the duties properly to be intrusted to him and is exceptionally well fitted by graces of nature to please people who need his services or go to him with public business. A Klamath county convention probably never nominated a more uniformly able and acceptable set of men. The personal strength of each contributes to the strength of all the rest, and the whole forms a popular combination which we believe cannot possibly be defeated by the opposition.

There is not a single reason why the republican party should not succeed at the polls in this state at the June election. The republican party has a splendid record in its management of affairs of the state, and no man can bring up a single reason why the party should be turned down at this time. There is scarcely a state in the Union that is in better financial condition, and the burden of state taxation is light when compared with others. The party presents for the suffrage of the people a ticket that is without defect. Every man on it is honest and capable and has the confidence of the people. There is no doubt of the election of these men, but no republican can afford to take their election for granted. They must all get out and work for its success.—Salem Statesman.

THE COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL.

The act which provides for the establishment of a county high school, was passed by the Oregon legislature and approved by the governor February 26, 1901. The act provides that on the petition of one hundred or more qualified electors, who are residents and taxpayers of the county, the county court must submit the question of a high school to voters, and a majority of all votes cast, will be decisive. If such majority be in favor of such high school, it becomes the duty of the county court within thirty days after the vote is canvassed, to locate said school and estimate the cost of furnishing a suitable building and the cost of conducting the school for the ensuing year. Such cost is to be paid out of the high school fund which is to be provided for by a special tax on the assessable property of the county. The trifling amount of the tax to establish and maintain this school per year, being but a few mills on each one hundred dollars valuation, will be as nothing compared with the advantages which will be obtained by every family whose children are desirous of a first-class education.

THE DIFFERENCE.

(Portland Oregonian.)
Every reader of the two opposing political platforms in this state campaign must have been impressed with the striking correspondence existing in many points, such as flat salaries for state officials, election of senators by popular vote, initiative and referendum, Chinese exclusion, river improvement, organized labor, land laws, trusts, Federal aid to irrigation, isthmian canal. On these and perhaps on other heads the two parties make professions that are substantially identical.

But parties are not to be estimated by their professions. They are not even to be judged by the things that come along from year to year, but by the whole course and tenor of their history, purposes and tendencies.

The whole course and tenor of the Democratic party for a generation has been contrary to the best interests of the country, and if its proposals had been followed throughout the past forty years, the Nation's course would have been one of humiliation and shame. Such would be the result of following its proposals now, as much as at any time in our history.

The democrats were wrong about the great questions that centered about the conflict involved in our Civil War. They were wrong again on the great questions gathered about the issue of honest money against dishonest money.

Today the Civil War is behind us and the money question is behind us. The great questions before us for solution are those growing out of the Spanish War, and again the democratic party is wrong. It insistently arranges itself against the patriotic impulse, against the National honor and grandeur, against the extension of the National sovereignty, against the enhancement of our political and commercial position on the Pacific Ocean and its shores.

These large questions must be considered in estimating the claims of the parties for popular confidence. No considerable body of intelligent public opinion could be brought to say that the proposals of the democratic party are any more deserving of acceptance today than they have been heretofore.

Oregon will either go republican in June or it will go democratic. If it goes republican it will declare for expansion, progress and greatness in National affairs. If it goes democratic it will declare for isolation, littleness and stagnation. It will either yield to the craven fear of being great or else respond to the virile impulse of National assertion and pride.

A BIG DEAL.

(Ashland Record.)
There is a big deal pending in industrial lines that contemplates the sale of the big sawmill plant at Klamath, the river franchises and some 20,000 acres of timber land in the Jenny creek section belonging to John R. Cook & Sons.

J. H. Tucker of Chicago is negotiating the sale and the probable purchasers are Chicago capitalists and friends of Cook. The property is mortgaged for $125,000 and if the deal goes through Cook and Sons will be able to get clear of their indebtedness and have something to spare.

Mason, Lindley & Co. have been operating the plant for the past several years under a lease, cutting the timber from their own lands in the Jenny creek section. The superior court at Yreka several weeks ago rendered a decision in a big law suit between their company and Cook & Sons company, some of the points being adverse to Mason, Lindley & Co. and they have given notice of appeal to the supreme court.

In connection with the transfer from Cook & Sons to the Chicago people it is reported that there is a deal on hand with Mason, Lindley & Co. whereby they are to give possession and relinquish their lease on April 20th.

Mason, Lindley & Co. are constructing a 30-mile railroad from Laird's, a point a few miles south of Klamath, to their vast body of timber lands on Jenny creek and will put up an extensive saw mill plant, modern box factory, etc., as well as a new town site near Laird's. They have had a force averaging 100 men at work for two months grading the road and some 300 more men will be put on soon. During the past week there was to arrive special rail to lay 18 miles of track.

Mr. Swain, a bridge contractor of Inyo county, Cal., and who constructed the recent county bridge over the Klamath river at Ash creek below Hornbrook, has the contract to build the railroad bridge across Klamath river near Fall creek, and is at work on the same, the iron for construction being on hand.

The new railroad is to be completed by July. It is presumed and believed by many that this will be a link for a railroad system connecting Eureka, Cal., with the outside and eastern world via the Klamath river.

Wants To Help Others.

"I had stomach trouble all my life," says Edward Mehler, proprietor of the Union Bottling Works, Erie, Pa., "and tried all kinds of remedies, went to several doctors and spent considerable money trying to get a moment's peace. Finally I read of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and have taken it to my great satisfaction. I never found its equal for stomach trouble and gladly recommend it in hope that I may help other sufferers."
