The races at Bonanza last Thursday and Friday were attended by one of the largest crowds that ever gathered together in the county. There were so many in attendance that Bonanza's accommodations were hardly sufficient. The races were interesting and all had a good time.

Though it cannot be known positively until the result is officially canvassed, it is concluded from reports that the proposition to establish a high school in this county has carried by a big majority. This valuable educational enterprise will do much to stimulate the growth of this town and county.

C. C. Chitwood has resigned his position in the Red Cross drug store and will leave shortly for Klamath Falls, where he will engage in the drug business with a brother. While Mr. Chitwood's sojourn in this city has been brief he has made many warm friends in Marshfield, who will regret his departure.—Marshfield Sun.

Of those elected to county offices from the two tickets it is consoling to see that voters have reposed in the republicans their two most important and responsible trusts—that of handling the county's money and that of presiding over the county's mysterious dead. This shows that people are not slow to vote right when filling offices that cut much figure.

Rev. W. B. Pepper of Ft. Bidwell, Calif., Rev. J. B. Stark of Paisley, Or., and Rev. J. L. Beatty of Klamath Agency, were here Friday, Saturday and Sunday to attend a Methodist conference and examination presided over by the local pastor, Rev. N. J. Harbit. The visiting ministers preached to attentive audiences Friday evening, Saturday evening and Sunday morning and evening.

Judge Baldwin has nearly completed one of the most commodious and complete photograph galleries in the state. It occupies the entire second story of his furniture building, and is divided into several rooms, with a large sky light, etc., and all elaborately and elegantly finished. This establishment will be presided over by his daughter, Miss Maud Baldwin, whose superior accomplishments in the art of photography are well known.

See the advertisement of the excursion to be given on Upper Klamath lake by A. C. Griffith June 21. The excursionists will leave here on that day and return the day following. At Odessa, where a postoffice has lately been established, a dancing platform will be erected, and music will be furnished by the Klamath Falls band. All people need recreation occasionally, and the coming excursion affords an excellent opportunity. Odessa promises to be a popular resort for tourists and pleasure-seekers this summer.

Ashland Record: J. H. Rayburn was killed instantly yesterday evening at 6 o'clock at a point between Gold Hill and the gravel pit near that town by being struck by a moving train. Rayburn was a peddler of paperweights, mantle piece ornaments, notions, etc., and was in Ashland a few days ago. He was camped at the point named and had his horse staked out feeding on the grass alongside the railroad track. As the train came thundering along he crossed the track to secure his dog and was jumping back when the cow-catcher caught him. He failed to judge the speed of the train and death came to him instantly. Coroner E. B. Pichel is holding an inquest over the remains today.

Ashland Tidings: J. Frank Adams, the well known horse dealer and irrigationist of Klamath county, came in from Merrill yesterday with a drove of 80 horses, which he had sold to J. M. Davidson. The latter is the representative of the Miocene Ditch Co., of Nome, Alaska, and will ship the horses north today for Nome, where they will be worked on the ditch the company is constructing there. With the horses will go harness, scrapers and other material which was bought in San Francisco, and the entire cost of the equipment will represent an outlay of about $7,000. Mr. Adams, who has been using the horses in the construction of the Little Klamath ditch, received from $80 to $100 per head for the animals in the sale.

Portland Telegram: Silver Lake is an eastern Oregon town whose people have not celebrated Christmas for seven years, according to Z. M. Brown, a Crook county stockman, who has just returned from that part of Lake county. An expensive monument standing in the village cemetery, he says, tells how 45 residents of Silver Lake met a horrible death by fire through the upsetting of a coal oil lamp at a Christmas-tree festival seven years ago. That number of persons taken out of a small community leaves vacancies in the homes that will not be filled in this generation. Silver Lake will not permit a saloon license to be issued since that event, so it is the one absolutely "dry" town in the state. A drunken man overturned the lamp Christmas eve, 1895, that resulted in a tragedy which caused a thrill of horror to pass over the entire northwest and east the county of Lake into deepest gloom.

The Klamath Falls school closed its year's work last week and gave its commencement program in the opera house Thursday evening when the honor of graduation was conferred on Ray Fountain. Mr. Fountain presented an oration on "The Evolution of Government," which showed considerable depth of thought and careful preparation. R. J. Hammond, in behalf of the board, bestowed the usual diploma. Other features of the entertainment were songs, recitations and drills, interspersed with music by the orchestra. All of the participants displayed talent and good training, and not only reflected credit on themselves but on the teachers who had them in charge. There was genuine merit in every part of the program and the large audience showed appreciation by close attention and frequent applause. The opera house was tastefully decorated for the occasion with foliage and flowers. Both pupils and teachers deserve congratulation and praise for the successful manner in which the entertainment was carried, and for the forward strides made in their educational work during the past nine months.

A Real Friend.

"I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for fifteen years," says W. T. Sturdevant of Merry Oaks, N. C. "After I had tried many doctors and medicines to no avail one of my friends persuaded me to try Kodol. It gave immediate relief. I can eat almost anything I want now and my digestion is good. I cheerfully recommend Kodol." Don't try to cure stomach trouble by dieting. That only further weakens the system. You need wholesome, strengthening food. Kodol enables you to assimilate what you eat by digesting it without the stomach's aid.
