IN THE INTEREST OF IRRIGATION.

The Oregon Irrigation Association, organized recently at Portland, will hold a meeting in that city on November 18 and 19, and each county in the state is entitled to representation. There are three chief purposes of the association as follows:

First—To investigate the rights of private irrigation companies in the state; to look into the status of the contracts which they have acquired under the Carey act, and to ascertain how large areas are covered by those contracts.

Second—To find out where lie the obstacles that the government has encountered in its endeavor to establish irrigation works in Oregon.

Third—To encourage the government to undertake irrigation in Oregon, and to obtain for this state its share of the funds which congress has set apart for such work.

Of the government's fund for irrigation purposes, about one million dollars will come to Oregon if the state shows sufficient interest, as now seems probable, and sets forth the needs of arid localities where the appropriation may be properly and advantageously used.

Now, as a matter of fact, the West does not present a more feasible or profitable field for irrigation than can be found in Klamath county and business sagacity should inspire the people here to make a united and determined effort to secure a share of the benefits of the government's apportionment for Oregon. Such assistance will not interfere with private enterprise. In fact, the area needing and capable of irrigation in this county is so large that there should be no conflict of interests. We want all the capital, looking to the reclamation of the arid lands, that we can get, whether it comes from the government or private sources.

To secure desired results, Klamath county must have large and energetic representation at the meeting to be held in Portland next week. Our county judge, commissioners and surveyor are ex-officio members of the association and are entitled to a voice in the proceedings of the meeting. Also our board of county commissioners can name two delegates and each irrigation company is entitled to send two delegates. Thus, we may have adequate representation if those who are interested take the matter in hand. An extension of irrigation is our most essential need at this time and the opportunity now presented to accrue new benefits in that line should not be allowed to pass with indifference. Let the many people here who are vitally concerned in irrigation see that Klamath county has a sufficient representation at the Portland meeting.

Kansas has cast off the barnacles of populism and political hypochondria and shines forth with a big majority for republicanism, progress and prosperity.

Speaker Henderson, who has kicked himself out of his congressional shoes, proposes, according to reports, to enter a fight for the governorship of Iowa and thereby endeavor to shelve Governor Cummins.

Hon. Levi Ankeny of Walla Walla, a brother of H. T. Ankeny of Jacksonville, is reasonably sure of winning the U. S. senatorship in Washington. The result of the election in that state insures his choice by a large majority.

The Eugene Register wants it distinctly understood that State Senator R. A. Booth is not and will not become a candidate for United States senator. There are probably others who may be persuaded to let the legislature vote for them for that job.

The need for a more efficient fire law in this state—a need emphasized by the destruction of a large area of timber the past summer—is being agitated, and a bill providing more stringent rules against the starting of fires in the forests, will be framed and urged for passage at the coming session of the legislature. The intention is to secure a law that will reduce fire losses to a minimum.

Complete returns show a larger republican victory in Nebraska than has been gained in that state since the ascendency of Bryan in 1896. The republicans elected the governor and all the other state officers, have a majority in both branches of the state legislature and elected five out of the six congressmen. All this was accomplished notwithstanding the personal efforts of Bryan to keep his state in line for democracy and populism.

The elections last week resulted in a republican victory in every northern state participating, with the exception of Nevada. That is the only state in the north that failed to elect a republican governor. Sweeping republican victories in the north are due chiefly to two causes—the excellent personality of President Roosevelt and the prevalence of unprecedented prosperity. The result of the election gives the republican party a majority of twenty-five in the lower branch of congress.

WELCOMES AN INVESTIGATION.

On receiving the report that timber land entries had been suspended, the Lakeview Examiner interviewed Register Brattain of the Lakeview land office and publishes the following paragraph as a result:

"An Examiner representative called on Register E. M. Brattain yesterday to see what he had to say regarding the current reports. Mr. Brattain said he had received no official notification of the action of the Land Department at Washington, and knew nothing regarding the matter but what he had read in the Oregonian. He said that so far as his office is concerned he was prepared to assist the head department in a thorough investigation, and would heartily welcome such investigation."
