A flurry of excitement was caused last evening, bringing out the hose company, by a chimney on the Esmond hotel catching fire. No damage resulted.

Frank Williams of Ashland has been appointed one of the eleven members of a commission to handle the $500,000 appropriated by the legislature for the Lewis and Clark fair.

It is reported that O. T. Brown has this week sold his valuable ranch of 520 acres, situated four miles west of town, to H. H. Van Valkenburg of this place. It is one of the most desirable ranches in the county.

Lakeview Examiner: The wind last week played havoc with things generally in Chewaucan valley. Hares, sheds and buildings that were not substantial, were blown down. No material damage, however, was reported.

Ashland has been enjoying the unusual experience of coasting, this being the first occasion of sufficient snow for that pleasure since the winter of 1890. The town has plenty of facilities for tobogganing, but seldom enough snow and cold.

State Treasurer Moore has received from a government appropriation for disabled soldiers the sum of $1,700, being Oregon's portion for the quarter ending December 31 last. This money is used for the maintenance of the soldiers' home at Roseburg.

We are informed that C. E. Hoyt, the popular hotel keeper at Fort Klamath, is making preparations to run a line of stages between that place and Crater lake next summer. He also proposes to be in shape to feed and shelter guests at both the Fort and the lake.

Several of our townsmen have lately bought timber from the state, situated not far from town, for the wise purpose of having plenty of wood in the future. The present scarcity of fuel has aroused a general determination to avoid a repetition of the prevailing condition.

Melbasse Bros. entertained a large crowd of friends at their new residence at Fort Klamath last Friday night. Dancing was the chief amusement, and all who attended had a most enjoyable time. At an appropriate hour the guests were regaled with an excellent supper.

Lakeview Herald: The horse owners of Silver Lake brought from Klamath Marsh 250 head of horses, some of the bunch having never been corralled before. During the summer the horses of that country had become so wild and unruly, that the men were obliged to take advantage of the snow to corral them.

Lakeview Examiner: Dave Edler came over from Merrill, Klamath county, last Friday on land business. Dave says Merrill is the best alfalfa country in Oregon. He is feeding some of his sheep there this winter. Irrigation works wonders on land like that which surrounds Merrill. Lake county has many such places, and the putting on of water is all they lack of being just like the Merrill county. The water is just as accessible here as there.

There is said to be a new enterprise on foot—the reproduction of faces of the dead on tombstones. We suppose this innovation will not be forced on all who yield to the luxury of tombstones. For instance, the fact that the writer hereof never sees his photographic likeness without a convulsion and hasn't had the courage to look into a mirror for ten years, wouldn't be apt to want his entrancing beauty paraded permanently on a marble shaft.

I. D. Applegate who left for Washington City about a month ago, in the interest of a measure before congress to pay the Klamath Indians for lands excluded from their reservation, arrived on his return home Monday evening. He reports that owing to the death of Congressman Tongue and the illness of Senator Mitchell and the fact that this is the short session of congress, there may be some doubt as to the bill passing at present.

The Ashland Town Talk states that W. F. Arant, superintendent of Crater Lake National Park, has gone to Salem to talk over with legislators the propriety of making an appropriation to improve the roads leading to the park, and that paper adds that Ashland is the best point, from which tourists should start by team for the lake. Nevertheless, to Lairds and up the new railroad to Pokegama and from there, via Klamath Falls, by wagon or part of the way by water, will make the shortest, most feasible and agreeable route to the lake during the coming summer. Before the annual rush to the park begins, the new railroad will be completed and trains running regularly. In the face of this improved condition, it is not likely tourists will stop off at Ashland or Medford and accept a drive of a hundred miles or more, much as they might wish to accommodate those towns.

A bill to defeat the coyote bounty was discussed in the legislature a few days ago and the question is still unsettled. We are assured that fully 90 per cent of the people of Klamath county are opposed to such bounty, and still we should not selfishly deny due consideration to those counties that deem the bounty an essential to them. While people here do not grieve over the destruction of coyotes, they feel that such animals are not injurious enough to warrant the bounty, that they slaughter enough rabbits to in a measure atone for the probable error of their creation, that the various industries of the county have grown to such prosperous proportions that a harvest of coyote scalps, at so much per scalp, is no longer necessary to pecuniary success, and that California coyotes won't stay at home even in the face of surrendering slices of their hides for the Oregon premium. However, any Eastern Oregon counties feeling that the bounty is a benefit to them, should probably have the law in some shape, applied locally if not generally.

While Ashland has many excellent people who are not only enterprising and progressive at home, but who are considerate of their neighbors and would scorn the policy of concealing or minimizing their merits, yet there are some still hanging on in that town, who according to late reports, spend much time and effort in trying to derogate the desirability of Klamath county and persuade prospective settlers and investors not to come here. This is a narrow-minded practice and retards the development of the whole of Southern Oregon. To try to tear down a neighbor, though doing injury to the latter, does not work out the intention of self-construction, and hence, no good results. People seeking opportunities in Klamath are not apt to find what they want in Jackson county, and the reverse may be equally true—those wanting the fruits and milder climate of the Rogue river could not gratify their wishes here. Resources and conditions are altogether different and will satisfy different tastes. Development of Klamath's resources will benefit Jackson county, and thus, there should be co-operation for mutual progress, rather than working out a boomerang which damages both. The injurious practice of a small circle at Ashland, however, will soon be effectually cut off by transportation of passengers on the new railroad to Pokegama.

MUSSELMAN-CHILDERS. W. H. Musselman and Etta M. Childers, both of Fort Klamath, were united in marriage at Hotel Linkville, Klamath Falls, Sunday at noon. Judge Geo. T. Baldwin performing the ceremony. C. E. Hoyt and Miss Hulda Craddock of Fort Klamath were in attendance at the wedding. Both bride and groom are well known and highly respected people of Fort Klamath and have many friends who will join us in extending congratulations and best wishes.

HILL-CRADDOCK. The marriage of Mr. Pleasant M. Hill to Miss Hulda Craddock, both of Fort Klamath, took place here Monday evening, Judge Geo. T. Baldwin officiating. The young couple have the best wishes of a large circle of friends.

LYONS CAPTURED. Ed. Lyons, formerly of Jackson county, and who shot and killed Sheriff W. W. Withers of Lane county, last Thursday, while the latter was trying to arrest him on a charge of horse stealing, committed in Josephine county, was captured Monday morning and subsequently lodged in the county jail at Eugene. Angry crowds had gathered about the jail since the capture and it is believed that only a speedy trial and hanging of Lyons can prevent a lynching.

Death of G. B. Van Riper. Garrett B. Van Riper, for many years a resident of Klamath county, died at his home in Ashland Saturday morning, aged 76 years, 9 months and 23 days. Mr. Van Riper crossed the plains to Oregon in 1850 and located in the Umpqua valley. In 1870 he came to Klamath county, where he resided until 1892, when he moved to Ashland. He represented Klamath county in the state legislature in 1873 and was highly respected by all who knew him. He leaves a widow and five sons and daughters: Mrs. J. D. Walker of Lorella, Klamath county; Mrs. C. P. Hughes of Bedford; Mrs. W. L. Corane of Sacramento, G. K.; Van Riper of Bonanza, and G. P. Van Riper of Ashland. The funeral was held Monday afternoon.

DEATH OF ABRAHAM D. BALIS. Abraham D. Balis, aged about 65 years, died at his home in Merrill on Monday. Mr. Balis was a veteran of the Civil war and had a severe experience in one of the southern prisons, which debilitated his health and caused the palsied condition, from which he suffered for many years. He was one of the old settlers of this county and had a legion of warm friends. His wife preceded him into Eternity, though he leaves a number of grown children.

TENDENCY OF THE TIMES. The tendency of medical science is toward preventative measures. The best thought of the world is being given to the subject. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. It has been fully demonstrated that pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, can be prevented by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Pneumonia always results from a cold or from an attack of influenza (grip), and it has been observed that this remedy counteracts any tendency of these diseases toward pneumonia. This has been fully proven in many thousands of cases in which this remedy has been used during the great prevalence of colds and grip in recent years, and can be relied upon with implicit confidence. Pneumonia often results from a slight cold when no danger is apprehended until it is suddenly discovered that there is fever and difficulty in breathing and pains in the chest, then it is announced that the patient has pneumonia. Be on the safe side and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the cold is contracted. It always cures. For sale by Chitwood & Co.

Fine Breakfast Bacon and Hams at Unedeed Meat Market. Try them. The best physic. Once tried and you will always use Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets," says William A. Girard, Pease, Vt. "These Tablets are the most prompt, most pleasant and most reliable cathartic in use. For sale by Chitwood & Co.

I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a number of years and have no hesitancy in saying that it is the best remedy for coughs, colds and croup I have ever used in my family. I have not words to express my confidence in this remedy.—Mrs. J. A. Moore, North Star, Mich. For sale by Chitwood & Co.
