THURSDAY, JULY 16, 1903.

W. J. Bryan takes advantage of every opportunity to harpoon the political boom of Cleveland democrats. Commenting on the Cleveland movement, Bryan says: "It is a comedy as it now stands, but a tragedy if it should succeed." Cleveland doubtless feels equally as kindly toward Bryan, and the contending elements in the democratic camp strengthen republicanism and add to the assurance of President Roosevelt's re-election.

Every day we can find some reason to be thankful that we live in Klamath county. We have been enjoying the most delightful weather imaginable, warm, sunny days, with nice, cool nights. Our weather will compare favorably with any place in the United States. Look at the conditions in the East, people dying daily from the heat. In Pittsburg on July 5 there were six deaths and fourteen prostrations from heat. On July 11 in New York there were seventeen deaths and thirteen prostrations, and in Philadelphia five deaths, while Chicago and St. Louis are suffering from extreme heat. The first of the month it snowed three inches in Leadville, Colorado, and rained in Portland. Even in our neighboring Lake county it snowed three-fourths of an inch on the 6th. In Washington City a number were killed by lightning, and in fact those places which are not suffering from heat or cold usually have either cyclones or floods to contend with. Now in Klamath county the only fault that can be found by non-residents is on account of a few harmless snakes, which really make the most interesting pets imaginable.

A SLAM AT OUR SNAKES.

Monday's Oregonian publishes a column concerning a report that Klamath ranchers fatten hogs in prize numbers on snakes and produce prize pork which is marketed in Chicago. Parenthetically, let us state here that only enough hogs are raised at present for home consumption, and that the quality is superior on account of the climate, pure water, choice alfalfa and grain, and all of which they joyfully luxuriate. But the report that snakes are fed to hogs is a grievous error--not that the omnivorous pucker wouldn't readily eat them, but because we regard them of genuine value to general health and security against the encroachment of rattlesnakes and noxious vermin. Imagine the poignant sting that would be imparted to one, knowing the virtues of Klamath snakes, on seeing bundles of them gathered up with forks and pitched into hogpens, cruelly dumped into troughs of sour swill, to gratify the voracity of four-legged granter. Would Portlanders feed their cherished Maltese cats and prize pugdog pups to the pink salmon of the Columbia? If not, why should they presume that we would destroy a source of perpetual benefit and comfort, even though we might thereby increase the profits and satisfy the avarice of hog-raisers.

One man quoted in the Oregonian's article hits the nail on the head, and his words are worth reproducing: "The next man the reporter questioned in his search for the truth, said: 'There are lots of hogs, lots of big trout, big lakes and big snakes in the Klamath country, but none of these are so numerous or so big as the liars who talk about that region.'"

WHO IS TO BLAME.
There has been so much comment of late in regard to the condition of our sidewalks that the matter has become a standing joke. Every day, strangers visiting our town will be heard remarking on the dilapidated conditions of our walks. There is even a story going the rounds, and probably credited by some, that the city officials impose a fine on any one walking on the sidewalks as they wish to preserve them as relics. This may be a laughing matter to some people but to property owners it is certainly serious, as clean streets and good sidewalks will add twenty per cent to the value of any property. We would ask who is responsible for this condition and in what way can it be remedied?

We understand that the town board passed an ordinance some time ago providing for the town to build and keep in repair the walks. This would be all right if they did it but they now claim that the city has no money to use for this purpose at the present time.
Now we do not wish it to be understood that this is a personal kick as our columns are solely for the purpose of expressing public opinions, not private ones, but as we have been so often requested by citizens and property owners to call attention to this matter, we feel it our duty to do so. If the town is unable to build the walks, why do they not follow the custom of other towns and compel the property owners to keep in repair the walks in front of their property. This would be agreeable to most of our citizens as a number of them have already expressed their willingness to do so provided everyone would do the same, but what they object to is having to build their own walks and also being taxed to pay for some one's else.

If this rule was carried out the citizens would soon realize the benefit to their property, and in a short time we would have as good walks as any town in the country.
If we could only realize the impression a stranger gets on going into a town and seeing the streets littered with wood and dirt and the sidewalks broken and dilapidated and the grass growing between the rotten boards

COUNTY COMMISSIONER'S COURT.

The regular term of the County Commissioners was held Wednesday, July 1, with the following members present:
Geo. T. Baldwin, County Judge.
N. S. Merrill, Commissioner.
S. T. Summers, Sheriff.
Jas. H. Driscoll, clerk.
The bond of R. W. Marple for coroner of $3000 was approved. The County Judge was authorized to employ men and have rock cleared out and other necessary work done on the new road from Pokegama to the Ashland-Klamath Falls road. Adjournment was then taken until July 6 at 8 o'clock a. m.
On Wednesday the books of the county officials were examined and all were found to balance correctly and therefore were ordered approved. July 9, 10 and 11 were largely spent in examining and allowing claims. Joseph Seeds was continued in care of the county poor for the ensuing year.
Dr. H. B. Hargus was reappointed county physician and health officer.

The contract to repair the Williamson river bridge was awarded to Wm. Flaekus for $350.
The district attorney of the First Judicial district was directed to proceed against M. A. Eddy, superintendent road district No. 10 on account of his wholly failing to perform the duties assigned him.
The board then adjourned.

TURKEY AND BULGARIA AT WAR.

PARRIS, July 12.—According to a dispatch from Constantinople published here, engagements have taken place between Turkish and Bulgarian troops on the frontier, which the Turks accuse the Bulgarians of crossing. On the other hand the Bulgarians assert that the Turks tried to occupy the neutral zone.
The dispatch adds that a ministerial council was hurriedly summoned at the Yildiz Kiosk last night and more troops have been called to the colors.

POPE NEARING DEATH.

Latest reports announce that Pope Leo's condition is growing worse, with the probability that the end will soon come. For the first time during his illness, his mind showed signs of weakening on Tuesday. He had a presentment on that day and is credited with having said:
"If I am destined to die from this illness, I feel I shall expire on Thursday, the feast day of the Carmelite Madonna, whom I especially worship."

WHITTLESEY IS SUSPENDED.

Max Whittlesey, the land office clerk at Lakeview, has been suspended from duty by telegraph and was given three days from July 8 in which to show cause why he should not be dismissed. He is charged with a number of irregularities, among others furnishing information to speculators and locators and preparing plats and entry applications during office hours, the compensation for which he appropriated to his own use. Each one of these acts is in violation of the law and conviction of any one is held to be sufficient ground for removal. It is reported that Mr. Whittlesey has accepted his dismissal and will make no defense.

LAKEVIEW RACES.

The July races at Lakeview attracted a large crowd of people and excited a great deal of interest. There were enough participants in the different events to create spirited rivalry, and doubt as to results aroused lively betting. Tulare Chief, one of the best quarter horses in Oregon, disappointed his admirers at Lakeview. His failure to win more races is attributed to the fact that the Indian who rode him did not understand the business. In a match race with Creedmore, however, Tulare Chief won easily.

TO BE EXECUTED AT SALEM.

Under the law passed by the last Oregon legislature, providing for the execution of condemned criminals at the state penitentiary, a death chamber is to be constructed at the institution, the contract for which has been let, along with other improvements. Six steel cells for condemned prisoners will be put in also.
The first execution to take place in the death chamber will probably be that of W. P. Peacock, convicted of the murder of Alexander Kerr, at Parker Station, on May 18th last, and sentenced to hang on August 7th.

HAY CROP WILL BE GOOD.

From what we consider good authority we learn that the hay crop in Langell and Poe valleys will be nearly as good as last year and the big scare on account of shortage of hay has subsided. At Sprague river the wild hay is the best ever known in that beautiful valley for years. We are reliably informed that owing to the high prices at which some of the alfalfa raisers are holding their hay, at least two of the largest feeders will market their cattle by September. We are also informed by a large feeder that there is very little money in the business with alfalfa at $5 a ton, although he is willing to try it at those figures.
