FOREST RESERVE TIMBER.

In January, 1902, the Interior Department issued the following circular of information regarding the "free use" of forest reserve timber.

1. The matter is a privilege, and not a right. It may be refused to any person.

2. Who can get timber under free use provisions of law: It is usually granted to settlers, farmers, prospectors, and others residing within or in the neighborhood of a forest reserve.

3. Who cannot get it: It is refused to companies, corporations, sawmill parties, and owners of large establishments, who require large quantities and are expected to purchase; and to non-residents of the state in which the reserve is located.

4. How much is given, and by whom: Permits for an amount not exceeding $20 in stumpage value may be granted by the forest supervisor. Permits for a larger amount, and within the stumpage value of $100, are granted only by the Secretary of the Interior.

5. How often the same person can apply: Not often than once a year.

6. How long a permit holds good: Six months from the date when it is issued; or less time, in the discretion of the forest supervisor.

7. What can be obtained: All kinds of timber; generally dry fire wood, dry poles, and logs; also, if really needed, green timber.

8. How obtained: (a) Application must be made to the forest supervisor; (b) blank form of application is furnished by the forest officers, and is filled out and signed by the applicant. (If necessary, the forest officer will lend assistance in filling out the blank application); (c) the timber must be located by a forest officer before any cutting is done.

9. Terms of this privilege: (a) Only the timber applied for can be cut. For instance, no green timber may be taken if dry wood is applied for, and it must be measured, either standing or in the pile, before being hauled away; (c) no unmarked live timber can be cut; (d) there must be no cutting across the line of the area assigned--cutting across the line is trespass; (e) the rules about cleaning up tops and brush must be obeyed--the cutting area must be left in good clean condition; (f) the rules generally governing forest reserves must be observed; (g) the wood, timber, or other material derived from it is to be used only at the place stated in the application. The use of it elsewhere, and especially the sale of it, makes the cutting a trespass, and the applicant becomes liable to suit and is always debarred thereafter from the privileges of free use; (h) the cutting of the timber by a local mill is permissible; but the sawing must be paid for in cash and cannot be done on shares. Moreover, the sawing and hauling of the lumber must be done in a manner required by the forest officer, and in such a way as to enable him to determine whether or not the timber and lumber are really used in the place and manner promised in the application; (i) in placing a valuation on timber given under the "free-use" act, $1 per M for timber, green or dry, and 25 cents per cord for fuel wood, will be the minimum price considered; (k) applications for "shakes" etc., involving a wasteful use of timber, will be refused whenever a more economical utilization and satisfactory cleaning up of the tops and logs is not guaranteed.

JUST RAINED DOWN.

The Yreka Journal has the following to say in regard to a recent article published in the Republican, "Old pioneer residents of this place who have lived at Klamath Falls, Or., say the story is a fake yarn about the spawn of toads deposited in upper Klamath lake, and on hatching out by the millions, start by instinct to home of birth. The toads come down from the clouds in rain storms, and little fishes have also come down in showers, which our informants claim to have witnessed. An old Siskiyou settler claims to have seen such a shower at one time on Shasta river in this county, and it is a fact also that worms have covered the ground in Yreka after a heavy warm rain shower."

This is the first time that we have ever heard it denied that toads were hatched. If Brother Nixon had taken the trouble to consult his encyclopedia he would have found no mention made of any incubators being the purpose of hatching toads or little fishes, but on the contrary he would have learned that while toads in their adult state are much less aquatic than frogs yet their spawn is deposited in water, in which their tadpoles live like those of frogs.

We would also state for the benefit of these old residents of Klamath county that we have not had a rain in Klamath Falls for the past month, and that while possibly during their residence here some years ago, the toads may have adopted the custom of having their young come down in rain storms, yet at the present time they have returned to the old fashioned form of hatching their offspring.

W. A. Liston, the popular fire insurance man of Salem, who has been soliciting in Klamath and Lake counties left for his home Tuesday morning. Mr. Liston has been very successful in his business while here, having written over $2300 in premiums in less than a month. He wishes to thank the people here for the courtesy extended to him.
