Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound removes such troubles.

Case of this Prominent Chicago Woman Should Give Everyone Confidence in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM : - It affords me great pleasure, indeed, to add my onial to the great number who are today praising Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Three years ago I broke down from ex-cessive physical and mental strain. I was unable to secure proper rest, also lost my appetite, and I became so nervous and irritable too that my friends trembled, and I was unable to attend to my work. Our physician pre-scribed for me, but as I did not seem to improve, I was advised to go away. I could neither spare the time nor money, and was very much worried when, fortunately, one of my club friends called. She told me how she had been cured of ovarian troubles, and how like my symptoms were to hers, seven bottles of your medicine cured her, and she insisted that I take some. "I did so, and am glad that I followed her advice. Within six weeks I was a different woman, strong and robust in health, and have been so ever since.

"A number of my friends who have been troubled with ailments peculiar to our sex have taken your compound, and have also been greatly benefited." — MISS ELIZABETH DALEY, President of the St. Ruth's Court, Order of For-

What is left for the women of America, after reading such letters as we publish, but to believe. Don't some of you who are sick and miserable feel how wicked you are to remain so, making life a burden for yourself and your friends, when a cure is easily and inexpensively obtained? Don't you think it would pay to drop some of your old prejudices and "Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is better than all the doctors for cures?" Surely the experience of hundreds of thousands of women, whom the Compound has cured, should convince all women.

Follow the record of this medicine, and remember that these cures of thousands of women whose letters are constantly printed in this paper were not brought about by "something else," but by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the great Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

Those women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times, for they get what they want -a cure. Moral - stick to the medicine that you know is the Best. CANDY AND CANCER

An Indian Army Officer's Theory of the Dread Disease. In an article in the Indian Medical Gazette, Captain E. R. Rost, I. M. S. attributes the rise in cancer mortality to an increased consumption of sugar, in the form of sweetmeats and other delicacies of modern confectionery. and a corresponding diminution in the use of salt-preserved articles of diet. His theory is that malignant disease is parasitic in origin, and is due to the invasion of the body by a saccharomycete, the growth of which is favored by glucose, but inhibited by substances containing chlorine, and only admissible when the amount of chlorine in the body falls below normal. Some of his experiments, which he records in support of this view, are rather remarkable. He has cultivated saccharomycetes from a variety of tumors on sterile cane sugar, and has also prepared what he describes as "a kind of tumor jam," by preserving portions of tumors in the same medium. Sections of this "jam" show "the tumor cell as usual, but the saccharomycetes abounding in and between them." He passed chlorine gas through his cultures of saccharomycetes, and found that it "rapidly killed the organisms, and it is evidently the chlorine that is the active agent."

According to Captain Rost, the guiding principle in the treatment of cancer should be to diminish the amount of glucose in the body and increase the amount of chlorine, thereby rendering the patient's body an unfavorable culture medium for the specific micro-organisms. He has put this theory into practice upon ten patients, his treatment consisting "first, of a strict diabetic diet, and, secondly, of piling in sodium chloride into the farmers "getje", whose tail comes off body, and preventing its excretion as with a slight touch, and remains jumpmuch as possible." The results are ing about on the ground, attracting the said to have been most successful, attention of an enemy, while the anibut, unfortunately, the patients them- mal itself slinks away and eventually
