THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1904.

Those who were present at the Presbyterian church last Sunday evening, had the pleasure of listening to a very able sermon for the special benefit of business men, by Rev. Smith on the observance of the Sabbath. He argued that "He who never works is not fit for worship and he who never worships is not fit for work." He is ever best and happiest who observes the day, sets apart a portion of his time, talents and income for religious purposes, not as a matter of duty, but gratitude, and he who does this conscientiously and intelligently cannot live carelessly on the intervening days. We are living in the busiest days humanity has ever seen and because of sharp competition many are giving up the day to pleasure and business in spite of the warnings of history and example on every hand. He claimed that the liberty of rest for each demands a law of rest for all. He ended with a strong plea for the observance of Sunday in Klamath Falls, at least to the extent of closing of stores and places of business on that day.

TOWN ELECTION.

Monday, March 14 is the day named for the election of town officers for Klamath Falls. We have heard a number of names mentioned as possible candidates but we would like to ask who is the man or men who are expected or have the authority to name these candidates? Is it possible that the business men and citizens, who jointly own the town and have invested their money here, are willing to allow two or three men to tell them who they shall elect to run their business for them? They certainly would not be willing to do this in their private business. This is a matter that should receive the attention of every citizen. During the next year there will be propositions come up of such importance, that will affect the future of our city. To handle these problems we should have good capable business men, who have the foresight to see that on the future of the town depends their own prosperity, and who are willing to allow the town to benefit by their own past experience. In order that everyone should be given a chance, we would suggest that a public caucus be held to name candidates for the coming town election. This would not prevent other tickets being put up, but it would give the general public a voice in their own affairs.

OUTSIDE THE RING.

ED. REPUBLICAN.—As the time is near at hand when the various political parties will meet in convention to nominate candidates for county offices select delegates to the state convention where state and district officers and joint senators and representatives are nominated, it behooves the voter to make some enquiries as to the fitness and availability of the many aspirants for political honor. True, it may be wholly unnecessary for the voter to trouble himself in the matter, as the political wire-puller and his strikers are already on a still hunt to capture the various primaries, name the candidates on the county ticket and select the delegates to the state convention. So we have only to vote the names they have already prepared for our endorsement and everything will be lovely.

But it strikes me that the common voter who has to foot the bill, has some interest at stake. He has seen his taxes increased while the tax roll showed an enormous increase in taxable property, he has seen the expressed wishes of the legal voters and tax payers overridden in the matter of licensing saloons; he has observed the total disregard of their sworn duties by officers of the law, he has seen the fees that the law provides should be turned into the county treasury pass into the pockets of its salaried officers, he has heard the lame excuses of his representative for not exacting a much needed law to regulate grazing on the public lands when such law was petitioned for and only required honest and diligent effort on his part to secure. He has seen a ticket put out by his party at a convention when every candidate had a fair and impartial opportunity to present their claims, defeated at the polls, largely through the efforts of those who sought office at the hands of that convention, and he wonders if there is such a thing as political honesty in his party.

It is about time that the voter bestir himself, that he sees that political bushwhackers, wirepullers, and faithless public servants are rebuked. Let every republican voter attend his primary and see that honest and capable men are sent as delegates to the county convention, with instructions to honestly and carefully weigh the merits of all aspirants for office, that a ticket may be put out representing as near as may be, the best material from ALL the county, and then let every true republican cast his vote honestly and work diligently for the success of his ticket.

Above all, see to it that our delegates to the state convention are honest representative men who do not pose as "CONSTITUTIONAL LAWYERS." We need a Faulk for prosecuting attorney but if we cannot get one like him, we at least want one who has the courage of his convictions; who will prosecute violators of the law without regard to their race, condition or position; without fear or favor. If the voter does his whole duty, he may have the consciousness of being blameless, should justice miscarry. Should he neglect his duty, he can blame no one but himself.

PERFECT CONFIDENCE.

Where there used to be a feeling of uneasiness and worry in the household when a child showed symptoms of croup, there is now perfect confidence. This is owing to the uniform success of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the treatment of that disease. Mrs. M. I. Hasford, of Poolsville, Md., in speaking of her experience in the use of that remedy says: "I have a world of confidence in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for I have used it with perfect success. My child Garland is subject to severe attacks of croup and it always gives him prompt relief. For sale by C. C. Chitwood."

WHEN YOU HAVE A COLD.

The first action when you have a cold should be to relieve the lungs. This is best accomplished by the free use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This remedy liquefies the tough mucus and causes its expulsion from the air cells of the lungs, produces a free expectation, and opens the secretions. A complete cure soon follows. This remedy will cure a severe cold in less time than any other treatment and it leaves the system in a natural and healthy condition. It counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. For sale by C. C. Chitwood.
