THURSDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1904.

Ex-President Cleveland is to be forced into the campaign to make an address. The party's candidate has dodged all the great issues.

"Protection is a robbery," says the Democratic platform and Judge Parker proposed to compound a felony by "gradually reducing" a robbery.

Democrats who delighted in declaring that President Roosevelt had been muzzled wished that he had been after they read his letter of acceptance.

Scientists claim to have discovered a hole in the Pacific Ocean that is 20,000 feet deep. Nice place for Judge Parker to take his dive on the morning of November 9.

It is inconsiderate of all these people to keep asking "What has Judge Parker done?" He has done the Democratic party pretty thoroughly, but they don't want it known.

To impress the modern farmer by arguments which seemed important to his grandfather is about as hopeless as it would be to try to run a ranch with a scythe and a spade.

Chairman Taggart insists that he sees Democratic victory ahead. Taggart is afflicted, evidently, with the same style of political strabismus which James K. Jones used to display.

Republicans will welcome the Democratic decision to make the tariff an issue. Republicans fear no argument against a policy which has made the nation the most prosperous in the world.

Merchants and manufacturers state that the fall business promises to be a record breaker. Such conditions would not exist if Democratic success were deemed possible by the business interests of the nation.

The Democratic campaign textbook very kindly calls attention to the fact that our railroad employees who were getting ten years ago about $450,000, 000 in wages are now getting over $750,000,000 annually, an increase of over $300,000,000.

PARKER'S LITTLE LAMB.

From the Kansas City Journal. Parker had a little lamb, he called it Mary Jane; it did not talk and had no views, hence it is safe and sane.

FROM OUR EXCHANGES.

(Medford Mail)
 F. W. Jennings, of the firm of Reames & Jennings, Klamath Falls, was among those who attended the Elk gathering at Jacksonville Saturday night. Mr. Jennings is enthusiastic over the future of the Klamath country. The canal company is now working night and day on the tunnel, piercing the hill through which they expect to carry the waters of the Klamath Lake. Five shafts are being sunk and the weekly expenditure for labor is $2000. The tunnel will involve an outlay of at least $200,000, but when completed the canal will cover over 10,000 acres of the most prolific soil in Eastern Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Rhodes and children came over from Merrill, Klamath county last week. After visiting with friends and Mrs. Rhodes' parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Coltrill, until Monday evening they left for a month's visit to Independence, Iowa, Chicago, and the St. Louis fair. These good people formerly lived in Medford, about ten years ago. Fortune has smiled upon them since they settled in Klamath county and the shekels which they are laying by for a rainy day are not small in number. Mr. Rhodes owns a section of timber land upon which he has a saw and planing mill and aside from this he farms about 200 acres of land from which he this year harvested a fine crop of wheat and barley. They are good, honest, hardworking people and the success which has come to them is deserved.

Walter Reed of Bly, reports that since the removal of the Bly post-office to old Bly, the Watts Bros., who had a store at New Bly, where they kept the postoffice, have bought out the Smith store at the old site, and the Casebeer hotel at New Bly has been closed, and hereafter all business will be done at the old Bly site.

R. P. George of Waldo went to Klamath Falls last week to visit his sister, Mrs. Carriek, who is seriously ill.—Grants Pass Courier.

HAY WILL BE PLENTIFUL.

Very Few Cattle Will Be Wintered in Klamath County—Beef Being Sold on Commission.

Reports from all over Klamath county show that the hay crop is exceptionally good this year and will be the largest ever known in this section of Oregon. Five dollars a ton has been offered for alfalfa and many of the growers are holding for six dollars, with the result that the cattle owners are selling their stock as fast as possible. Large herds from Lake, Crook and northern Klamath are continually being driven through Klamath Falls, and Merrill to the railroad for shipment to San Francisco or to be sold on commission.

As yet we have learned of only a very few cattlemen who expect to feed their stock here this winter. Indications are that hay will be cheap before Spring as there has been considerable rain in California during the past few weeks and the range is reported as green and in fine shape. It is possible that a great many of the hay growers will decide to buy cattle rather than sell their hay at a low price.

CRATER LAKE PARK.

(Dennis H. Stovall.)

Two hundred and fifty square miles of solitude, and this solitude bordered by snow-capped ranges, sentinelled by glittering peaks and lofty crags is Crater Lake National Park, the newly-established public wonderland of Oregon. Of all the many parks over which Uncle Sam keeps a guarding hand, this is most like a park, because it is God-made. After three days driving from the railroad we found our camping place in the black hemlocks, one mile from Crater Lake. Such a spot! A few yards above us a great snow bank, and ice water always.
