FOR PRESIDENT,
THEODORE ROOSEVELT,
 OF NEW YORK.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
CHARLES W. FAIRBANKS,
 OF INDIANA.

ELECTORS.
 12 G. B. Dimick, of Clackamas Co.
 13 James A. Fee, of Umatilla Co.
 14 J. N. Hart, of Polk Co.
 15 A. C. Hough, of Josephine Co.

The voter should bear in mind that in order to cast a ballot for Roosevelt and Fairbanks, he must vote for each one of the four electors above named, by making an X between the numbers 12, 13, 14, 15, and the name opposite.

Parker continues to remain in the shadow of a hill.

The radical Democrat is forced to admit that there is no appeal from Tom Watson's logic.

The real Democratic issue, so far as the voters should be concerned, is the party's record for mischief and distress for the last fifty years.

"My objection to Parker is that he is too much like Roosevelt," said Mr. Bryan in a Nebraska speech. Mr. Bryan never loses his sense of humor.

TWO TO ONE REPUBLICAN.

The registration which was closed last Thursday shows that there has been 86 names added to the list since last June. Of these, 46 are republicans, 25 Democrats, 13 prohibitionist and 14 do not state their politics. 46 Republicans to 25 Democrats is a good showing for Klamath County and we concur in Senator Fulton's suggestion, that the few Democrats left should get in line and make it unanimous. The new precinct of Odell, which did not have even one Republican to send as a delegate to the County Convention in June, has four new names on their register and all are Republicans. The total registration in the County is 937. As there were about 1000 votes in June, this will leave quite a number who will have to be sworn in on November 8th.

DEATH OF JOHN R. COOK.

John R. Cook, of the well known lumbering and sawmill firm of J. R. Cook & Sons, died at his home in Klamath, Siskiyou county, Thursday night, aged 78 years. Deceased had been prominently identified with lumber business of Northern California for fifteen years or more, and the big saw mill which he established at Klamath was the starting point of that town. He was a native of Lycoming county, Pennsylvania, where he married and afterwards emigrated to Michigan. There he formed a partnership with A. Pardee in the lumber business, and after operating a number of years in that state the firm came to Klamath, where it acquired large tracts of timber and established a mill. Mr. Pardee died soon after coming west and Mr. Cook's two sons were associated with him in the business. Later they sold the business to Harvey Lindley & Co., and this sale was followed in a few years by a lawsuit in the Siskiyou county courts, involving a large sum. Cook & Sons were given a judgment against Lindley & Co. in this litigation. Mr. Cook suffered financially in the fire which nearly wiped out Klamath two or three years ago, but was partially compensated by the insurance carried. He was a man who was honored as an upright character by his acquaintances.—Ashland Tidings.

A CLAIM IN OREGON.
 Wisconsin Girl Makes Big Money on Timber.
 Miss Iva Ryan, daughter of James Ryan, owner of the Appleton Crescent, is in the city visiting her brother, Dudley Ryan, and sister, Mrs. Fred Jones. A couple of years ago Miss Ryan with several other Badgers, went to the Klamath country in Southern Oregon, and filed on a timber claim and homestead, adjoining the half section being located about 150 miles from a railroad. She has spent several months there at various times and has just returned after "proving up." Not only did she enjoy unique experiences among the westerners of whom she is very fond, but has added to her wealth in the sum of at least $5,000, the pine on both claims being dense and of fine quality. Miss Ryan is a newspaper woman and has much to do with the success of her father's daily, but it is not unlikely she will return to the town of Klamath Falls, which she describes most interestingly. It is located in a wide, rich valley, surrounded by high mountains. The valley has natural irrigation facilities and alfalfa—of which five crops a year is raised—brings from $10 to $17 a ton by reason of the fact that Klamath county turns out 10,000 beef cattle every fall. The cattle of adjoining counties are also driven to Klamath for fattening. A railroad is pushing toward Klamath Falls, one of the most picturesque spots in America, and as a result people are pouring in there so rapidly that tents are used to house them. A real estate boom is the logical consequence. The country is a sportsman's paradise, has an abundance of medicinal springs and deposits of lime and borax. Miss Ryan predicts it will be the sprightliest city in Oregon outside of Portland and that it is the best place now in the west for investment and legitimate ranching.—Beloit, Wis., News.

ANOTHER PIONEER GONE.

Uncle Asa Mack Dies Tuesday At the Home of His Son-in-Law.

Asa H. Mack, an old pioneer of Klamath county died Tuesday morning, Oct. 25, at 10:40 at the home of his daughter Mrs. S. L. Walker, aged 80 years. The deceased has been a resident of Oregon for the past 23 years, most of the time being spent in Klamath county.

Asa H. Mack was born in Illinois, October 25, 1824. He came to California in 1849 and engaged in the mining business and at the time the Page & Bacon bank failed he lost everything he had. Later he secured control of a mine at the head of Feather river in Yuba county and put in a hydraulic plant but this work was stopped shortly afterward by state legislation against the workings of hydraulic mines.

He came to Oregon 23 years ago and located with Sam Culver on what was afterward known as the Miller ranch. The last 12 years of his life has been spent with his son-in-law, S. L. Walker. He leaves three sons and two daughters: Harvey Mack, Winthrop, Wash.; Erastus and William Mack, Portland; Mrs. Mary Knox, Portland and Mrs. Sam'l L. Walker, Klamath Falls.

Funeral services were held yesterday from the residence by Rev. J. W. Bryant. Interment was made in the Klamath Falls cemetery. The pall bearers were: H. W. Keene, Geo. Chastain, C. R. DeLap, W. T. Shives, C. D. Willson and Geo. McDonald.

GLENGARY FARM.

Mrs. M. McMillan of the Lakeside Inn last week purchased of Zink Russell, what is considered the best 40 acre tract of land in Klamath county. The land is located at Altamont, three miles from town. The price paid was $3000. This includes a new barn, which cost $800 and about 40 tons of alfalfa hay. It is Mrs. McMillan's intention to stock this farm with good dairy cattle and also it will supply the new hotel with vegetables, chickens, eggs, etc. The new hotel when completed will have 75 rooms.

SHORT COURSES IN AGRICULTURE AND DAIRYING.

Immediately following the winter holidays, the Oregon Agricultural College, at Corvallis, will give free of charge two popular short courses of instruction—one in agriculture, and the other in dairying. These courses consist chiefly of lectures by specialists from the Faculty and from abroad, combined with work in the laboratories, where students have access to the apparatus of the College and Experiment station.

The instruction, which is simple, is adapted to the literary attainments of all; hence no educational test is required for admission to either of the courses. The schedule of lectures will be announced in due time.

The course in agriculture will begin January 9th, and continue ten days. Some of the subjects to be discussed are Horticulture, Plant Breeding, Bacteriology, Chemical Elements, How Plants Grow, Budding of Plants based upon Plant Culture, Hints on Farming, How to Conserve the Fertility of the Soil, Drainage, Soil Moisture, Rose Culture, Veterinary Surgery, Rotation of Crops, Roadmaking, Fertilization and How to Make the Old Farm Pay.

The course in dairying will commence January 21, and continue six weeks. Students will meet for work six days of the week. The mornings will be devoted to practical work in dairy rooms, two days will be devoted to butter making two days to cheese making, and two days will be spent in the dairy laboratories. In the afternoon of the days, except those devoted to cheese making, lectures and recitations will occupy two or three hours. The lectures will treat of Soil Chemistry and Physics, Feed and Feeding, Dairying, Bacteriology, Breeds and Breeding, and Chemistry of Dairy Products.

There will be no fees except the breakage deposit of three dollars. This deposit is intended to cover breakage of glass ware in the laboratory, and the actual cost of material used; hence a part of this fee will be returned in case of no breakage. Books will cost about three dollars. Rooms with board and lodging will cost from $3.00 to $5.50 per week. For further information address the Registrar.

A WORD TO THE WISE.

It is not all gold that glitters, nor does PIANOS mean that all pianos are alike, nor does it make a piano any better to have a man selling it on a salary or on a commission, neither does it make it any better because it comes from some large house in some far-off city, represented by a salaried man. This is what is commonly called now "money and the man" that buys the piano to use in his home pays for the canvasser, salaried men and also the hot air; well competition is the life of trade, and we have no objection to any competition, a buyer of good judgment will look around carefully before buying. The Coss Piano House, of Ashland and Medford, invites you to call and examine our line of pianos and organs, about twenty five different makes to choose from, such as the Weber, famous for its beautiful, rich, ringing tone and enduring qualities; Bush & Girts, Schuman, Wheelock, Stuyvesant, Jacoby, Dool, Sherwood & Son, Poole, Stegaw, Victor, Kroll, Royal and others. Also handle the wonderful self piano player, the Pianola, Burdett and other organs. Have some bargains in second-hand pianos and organs, also rent pianos. Terms of sale easy to suit purchaser, and prices guaranteed lower than any Southern Oregon dealer, when quality is considered, and remember that quality is the only thing to consider in the purchase of a piano, and, as to our reliability, we will leave that to a host of satisfied customers in Jackson and other counties in Oregon and California; people whose names are a credit to any firm to appear on their list as purchasers.

Namely: A. M. Woodford, postmaster, Medford; A. S. Bliton, editor Medford Mail; G. H. Haskins, Bruggist; J. A. Whitman, J. D. Heary, Mrs. Gray, A. E. Reames, district attorney; Henry Orth, T. J.
