

LOCAL AND BUSINESS BRIEFS

Frank and Charlie Koster of Poe Valley are in town on business.

Fred Loosley and Captain O. C. Appleton of Fort Klamath were in the city yesterday.

Meals at all hours at the Gem Cafe, first class service.

The warm days this week have thrown considerable discouragement upon the spirit of the local wool trust.

DRESSMAKING—For Dressmaking call on Mrs. Sherwood, Marple cottage.

Frank Downing from across the California line was in town this week trading with Klamath Falls merchants.

Strangers arriving in Klamath Falls daily, and they all have money and look prosperous. It means a good omen for the county.

Families can be supplied now with "Tony's Best" at the Central Dining Parlors with or without meals.

The Washington Birthday Ball given at Houston's Opera House last night is reported to have been a success. About 60 couple were present.

PIANO TUNING—H. E. Hall is here to do piano tuning. His work is guaranteed. References can be obtained at F. Klamath. Leave orders at Winters' jewelry store.

Marriage license was issued by the county clerk last Friday to Mr. John Henry Angove and Miss Carrie Moore, both of Klamath county.

Mr. Oren Booth and Miss Alzada Anderson were married at the home of Mrs. O. Short February 17, Rev. J. W. Bryant performing the ceremony.

Among the reports that come of Merrill's prosperity is that a first class creamery will be built there early in the spring.

Richard Breitenstein is busy at work on his new building on East Main street where he expects to open an implement and produce house.

H. Florid, superintendent of the Klamath Falls-Pokegema stage line arrived in the city Tuesday on business for his company.

The Woman's Club will meet at the home of Mrs. John Schallack tomorrow evening at 7:30. All members are expected to be present.

Strayed—Came to my place about October 15, 1904, light buckskin horse, black mane and tail, weight about 900 pounds. Owner can have same by proving property and paying charges.

C. F. Arant, Fire Chief Boggs requests all members of the local fire department to be on hand at the meeting next Monday night. He states that the business requires the presence of all the members.

L. Gerber of Lorella was in Klamath Falls the first of the week. Mr. Gerber is one of the most wide awake stockmen of Southern Oregon and one of its most liberal citizens.

See L. Alva Lewis' ad on the second page of this paper. Mr. Lewis is a live business man, carries a first class stock of jewelry, and knows how to let the people know it.

James Watts, of the firm of Watts Bros., leading merchants of Bly, was in Klamath Falls on business Sunday. He states that Bly is in the van with Klamath's advancement.

The Hollister Free Lance of last week states that C. N. Hawkins was expected to arrive home at any time from Washington, D. C., and that Judge Benson was also expected to arrive with him and spend several days as the guest of his daughter, Mrs. N. C. Briggs, Jr., of that place.

The K. K. K. store managers have been making considerable improvement this week. New self-adjustable shelves have been placed in position for the shoe department, and the shelving throughout the store have been remodeled and enlarged. The store bears a much neater and much more convenient appearance. The boys say they are getting ready for the rush.

Reports from Mrs. W. O. Smith and Mrs. H. P. Galarnear, who left for San Francisco last Saturday morning, state that they arrived safely after a pleasant trip.

The boat Winema returned the first of the week from Griffith's mill with a cargo of lumber to be used in building its cabin. The work is now proceeding on the boat at a point near where it was launched.

J. V. Houston is supposed to have left San Francisco for Klamath Falls yesterday. He is expected here now any day, after several weeks of vacation, visiting the coast towns.

I. Wright, the saloon man, who recently returned from a trip to San Francisco and the Willamette Valley, reports a delightful trip and is much improved in health.

Mr. Fred Loosley while here this week stated that the creamery at Fort Klamath would begin to run about six weeks from now. The creamery is not usually opened until grass is in good condition.

The new hook and ladder wagon was completed by Lewis & Peil, the blacksmiths, yesterday and turned over to the fire department. It was immediately placed in position at the city hall fire station.

Rev. M. C. Starr is conducting revival services at the Methodist church. The meeting has been running all the week and may be continued a week or more longer. The pastor reports satisfactory results to date.

A letter from San Francisco announces that Dr. Hargus has reached that place on his return from New York, and would start, with his family, for Klamath Falls in a few days. He will possibly arrive here the first of the week.

Reames & Jennings state that their big ad on the fourth page of this paper has brought in good results. The people love to patronize business men who show enterprise, and one of the best indications of enterprise is a good ad in the local paper.

The local Foresters Court will give a grand ball at Houston's Opera House March 17th. This Court is composed of a large number of members of the leading citizens of Klamath, and the occasion will be one of importance to the order.

The pupils in a number of rooms of the public school of this city will observe the anniversary of Washington's birthday tomorrow by the singing of patriotic songs and recital of patriotic selections. School was dismissed yesterday in observance of the day.

C. D. Willson wrote Sam Walker that he would reach Redding the 20th and would telephone from that point for a team, but up to this morning Mr. Walker had not heard from him. He is expected home at any time.

Harry M. Ackley returned from Pokegema yesterday with a new gang edger which he had shipped to that point for his sawmill at this place. He states that by the time the spring run begins he will have his mill in tiptop shape with a number of improvements added.

Fred Melhase is placing the material on the ground for his new building on the property recently purchased from Joe G. Pierce on the corner opposite his present market on Main street. He will construct a two story edifice of native sandstone. The first story will be used for a market and the second for rooms and offices.

The exterior work of the Sullivan block on Main street is nearing completion. Mr. Sullivan will introduce a new feature of interior finishing in the building. He will ceil it with steel sheeting. This he says is being used generally in the East and is giving satisfaction. It not only looks well, but prevents fires in many cases breaking out from the inside.

The District Attorney announces that he expects to secure more indictments at the April term of the Federal court.

INDIANS STILL FIGHTING

The Indians on the reservation who are dissatisfied with the present head of the reservation are relentless in their fight. Although Inspector Holland has just recently conducted a six weeks trial on the reservation in which scores of witnesses were examined and voluminous evidence taken which has been forwarded to the Department of Indian Affairs at Washington, D. C., along with the report of the Inspector, they are not even awaiting the action of the Department upon the case.

They are preparing petitions and affidavits of voluminous contents and forwarding them to the Department almost daily. Every day may be seen dozens of the dissatisfied red men hanging around their attorney's office in Klamath Falls, eager to consult the lawyers and sign affidavits setting forth their wrongs and such other things as is deemed necessary to remove the present head at the reservation. Jesse Kirk, the preacher, chief, lawyer, and leader of the turbulent element is always on hand and giving directions in the matter. It is claimed that at a meeting of the various councils of the many tribes on the reservation that he has been given full power to act in behalf of them all; that in reality he is the dictator of the disaffected element, and whatever he says will go whether right or wrong.

Kirk is the descent of an ancestor without the very best of reputation, and the whites generally in Klamath county have but little confidence in the man today. If the Indians have just cause for any of their complaints, the selection of Kirk as a leader prejudices their interest in the minds of those who know the wily preacher Indian.

NEW SCHOOL BUILDING.

At an informal meeting of the City School Board this week the preliminary steps for closing the bond sale were consummated. Blank bonds have been ordered and will be signed and forwarded to the State Land Board as soon as they arrive. Should the State Land Board fail to buy the bonds, they will immediately be offered for sale in the stock market. Director Worden states that there will be no trouble in making the sale, as a number of capitalists have been making inquiry about the matter. He further states that building will be on the new public school edifice as soon as the bond matter is closed. This will only be a week or more at the latest.

The idea prevails among some of the teachers and patrons that the present school term will be shortened on account of the new building. When seen yesterday by a Republican representative, Director Boggs stated that the work would not interfere with the present term. Although the old building will be removed and the new building will occupy its present site, school will continue without interruption. It is expected to complete the new edifice by the opening of the fall term of school, but should this not be done, the fall term may be delayed a week or so.

GONE TO ASHLAND.

County Judge George T. Baldwin and County Commissioner Fred Melhase left yesterday morning for Ashland, where they are to meet Architect Burggraf, to consider the finishing touches in selecting the plans for the new High School building for Klamath County.

The County officials expect to be absent four or five days. They will fully inspect the Ashland high school building in order to see what changes can be made to lessen the cost of building as they will adopt that structure in the main as their model.

It is safe to state that at the March term of the county court the plans for the new edifice will be adopted and building will soon follow.

Horace T. Jones, government land inspector formerly stationed in Klamath Falls, arrived from Roseburg last night. He will remain here a few days on business for the government.

DEATH OF HARRY FINK

Harry H. Fink aged 31 years, three months and 22 days, died at his home on Main Street, in this city, Sunday morning, February 19, 1905, after an illness of about one month.

Deceased was born at Clinton, Iowa, and came to Idaho Falls about six years ago. About one year ago he moved to Klamath Falls where he resided to the time of his death.

The late Mr. Fink was married to Miss Ida Conquest in 1890, who still survives him. To them were born two girl children, Harriet and Josephine, aged respectively seven and three years, who also survive their father.

Deceased was formerly in the implement business, but has been engaged in the real estate business since coming to Klamath Falls. He was a member of the Masons and Woodmen. His membership in the former order was with the Klamath Falls lodge, while he belonged to a Woodman lodge in Iowa.

Deceased left $2800 insurance in the New York Life company as well as $2000 beneficiary from the Woodmen lodge.

The funeral took place Monday at 2 o'clock P. M., Rev. W. G. Smith conducting the services at the home, and the Masons performing the last sad rites at the grave.

Ky Taylor, H. P. Galarnear, H. H. Van Valkenburg, Don Zinswalt, L. F. Wittits and C. K. Brandenburg were the pall bearers.

FEEDERS COMPLAIN

Mr. Louis Gerber, the Horseshoe Valley stockman, who was in town the first of the week in discussing the cattle situation said:

"It has been a hard year for beef feeders, owing to early warm rains in California. There is at present plenty of grass cattle on the market. To tell the truth I do not believe a single feeder made a cent this year. I do not believe they could do it on $4 hay. Then there are other things against them. The charges on the road between this point and the railroad are simply outrageous, but there will, I hope, soon be a railroad in here and that will equalize things. If a railroad does not come pretty soon, cattle shippers will arrange with Mr. Wells of Idaho, who is willing to put in three different feeding stations between Merrill and Ball Mountain, at convenient distances and will also put up four miles of wire fence on the east side of the high grade, ascending Ball mountain."

Mr. Gerber reported the following stock items:

Charles Horton took out 300 head of fine cattle, which were sold to the Oakland Meat Company.

Fred Stukel started 200 head from the Whitney and Sims ranch for C. Swanson. Louis Gerber bought 240 head from Messrs. Bloomingcamp, Kilgore, Casey & Son, H. Anderson and Barrows, and started them for Montague with W. D. Campbell in charge.

The famous land fraud cases have been set down for trial for June 1. This was done at the instance of Attorney Henry, who thinks he will be too busy to try the cases at the April term of the Federal Court.

RAILROAD BONUS GROWS

The bonus for the new railroad is still growing. Nearly $40,000 has been subscribed and several thousand more are in sight. The people are beginning to see the benefits of a road, who had not been enthusiastic over the matter in the past, and are putting their names to the list.

L. B. Applegate came in with a $2000 subscription this week and gives some good advice in a letter to the Committee, an extract from which is published on the editorial page of this issue of the Republican. Those who are holding back will have cause to regret it if there should be a failure to raise the amount required, and on this account the road should go to some other point in the county.

Following is the list of names, with the amounts subscribed to date:
