> Laramie, Wyo .- A little girl of the name of O'Connor had a remarkable escape from death beneath the wheels of a locomotive here. The child, with two others, was crossing the Union Pacific tracks on her way to school Her companions passed in front of an approaching freight train and called to her to follow. When the train was barely ten feet away she made the dash. In the center of the tracks her feet slipped and she fell on her hands and knees. The pilot of the locomotive struck her and threw her into the air, where she turned a complete somersault, and again fell on the track. The engineer meanwhile had reversed and the locomotive stopped with the pilot over the child's body. Had the engine gone another foot she would have been crushed to death.
