This story is told of a nice old resident of Erookline, who recently addressed a class of young women at an vised them to go in for the active life. "Go out and do-something, be someof men," and he wondered why the worth beasting of. audience tittered.

Prof. Tait, of Edinburgh university, asked one of his students to define to authors of the first class. To securtransparent, translucent and opaque. The young man dealt with the query in this way: "I cannot precisely define these terms, but I can indicate their meaning in this way-the windows of this classroom were once transparent, they are now translucent and if not cleaned very soon they will be opaque." The answer gained full marks from the amused professor.

James H. O'Brien, the wealthy California miner, was standing on the steps of a San Francisco hotel, when a seedy citizen came and hailed him: "Hullo, Jim. How are ye?" O'Brien at first did not know the man, and, thinking the stranger was a professional beggar, he said: "Who the dickens are you?" "You don't know from for more than six months since making me, eh?" said the dilapidated party. "Say, Jim; I was quarts o' wine when sailor, soldier or other officer in the marine of former days, and a satisfactory interview followed.

The late Thomas L. Clark, bishop of Rhode Island, widely known as a wit plicity compatible with comfort. Having on one occasion a distinguished English divine as a visitor, the latter was considerably impressed, not to say astonished, at the lack of ceremony observed in the episcopal mansion, and upon retiring hesitatingly inquired if he should leave his shoes outside his door. "Certainly, if you like," replied touch 'em."

WOMEN IN MEDICAL FIELD.

Out of 15 applications for the post of assistant medical officer of the Bracebridge (Lincolnshire, Eng.) lunatic asylum, Miss Jessie B. Hunter was selected. Miss Hunter has occupied the position at a private asylum in Lincolnshire since 1902, and has held the position of assistant house surgeon at Glasgow infirmary. She is a M. B. and C. Dr. Mary Stone, of Australia, sent a paper to the national women's congress urging the estallishment of "epileptic colonies," in view of the fact that the ranks of criminals are continually and materially reenforced by children, weak-willed, moral and physical degenerates who are easily led into vice, and she asks for the segregation of these unfortunates that their kind may not be multiplied.

Taking credit that belongs to others deceives no one so much as yourself. Dr. L. Rosa Minoka is a young Indian doctor, who, having won honors as a graduate of the Women's Medical college of Pennsylvania and served with credit as resident physician of the Women's hospital, of Philadelphia, nas now opened an office in the city. She is said to be not only a fine doctor but a handsome and interesting young woman.

It is said that there are now in France 80 women doctors, 30 of whom are in regular practice. The way, until within the last 25 years, has been made very difficult for women who desired to practice medicine. There is little chivalric feeling in the country. and open derision and insulting refusal to all applications for opportunities to study have been the rule. Today there is a great revulsion of feeling-or manner-and at present the woman doctor is encouraged and smiled upon-a pleasant change,
