

CITY BRIEFS.

See Lewis the Jeweler. Frank Ross, of Belknap, spent Sunday in the city. Harry Dean returned Saturday from Ashland, where he had been spending the holidays. New line of purses at Winters. Hon. John S. Shook and wife, of Dairy, were visitors in the city several days the past week. Henry Janssen is doing some good work by filling in the lower part of his lot along Klamath street. New goods arriving at Winters. Miss Lorinda Sauber, who has been quite sick the past two weeks, is improving and able to be around. Supt. Horace G. Wilson, of the Klamath Reservation, was down from the Agency a few days the first of the week. Fine watch repairing. L. Alva Lewis. H. V. Mitchell this week sold two carloads of horses and one carload of mules to E. Stewart, of San Francisco. Park Wilson, the guide at Pelican Bay, is making arrangements to have a house boat on the upper lake next summer for the use of tourists. New Souvenir spoons just in. L. Alva Lewis. Henry Straw returned Wednesday from Picard, where he had been the past week looking for several driving teams for the Mammoth Stables. Boxes—In Klamath Falls on Saturday morning, January 6, 1906, at 6:30, to Mr. and Mrs. Bert E. Withrow, a daughter, Grandpa George is happy. All grades of cigars at all prices at Mannings. Mrs. L. M. Fitch was in the city last Friday from her ranch beyond Dairy. While here Mrs. Fitch sold her Main street property near the Baldwin building to Abel Ady. Wm. Shook returned Monday night from Salinas, California, where he recently took a shipment of 44 head of stock horses. He disposed of the entire lot at an average of $50 each. Fine watch and jewelry repairing. L. Alva Lewis. If you wish to buy or sell real estate in the Klamath country address Captain O. C. Applegate, either at Klamath Falls or Eugene, Oregon. Forty years experience in Southeastern Oregon. Fine line of watches, jewelry, etc. L. Alva Lewis. I have a 14-room house with 12 lots, an elegant home in Phoenix, Arizona, worth $8000 and rents for $60 per month. Will trade for Klamath county land. What have you?—E. B. Hall, White-lake. New line of Emblem Charms and pins at Winters Jewelry Store. Abner Weed last week purchased 20 head of work horses belonging to Brown & Howard. Some of these horses are to be used on Mr. Weed's ranch and the others will be taken to the logging camps. Repairing a specialty at Winters Jewelry Store. All work guaranteed. Wm. B. Barnes and wife left yesterday morning for San Francisco. While in the city Mr. Barnes will purchase furnishings for the new annex to the American Hotel, of which he is the proprietor. A chicken dinner will be given every Sunday at the Gem Restaurant for 25 cents. Since entering the new building the High school has increased in numbers. John Yaden and Mac Martin, of Klamath Falls, Don W. Parker, of Bonanza, and Tix Griffith of Lost River have entered. The watchword of the school is "One hundred students next year." For Rent—A sunny well furnished room with stove. Close in. Inquire at this office. All services as usual at the Presbyterian Church next Sabbath. Sermon at 11 a. m. on "Essentials Defined" and at 7:30 p. m. on "Shall a Character Good in Nine Points Fail Because of the Tenth?" Special music. The Lord's Supper will follow the morning sermon. All made welcome. Joe Moore sold out his freight business last Saturday, including all his horses and wagons. The four grays and two wagons were bought by John Bateman, and three of the other horses went to Jim Moore. Mr. Moore and his niece, Mrs. Maude Moorehead, will leave tomorrow morning for Woodland, Cal., to spend the winter. The Merrill Creamery Company have made arrangements with Meiss & Armand, of the City Meat Market, to handle their butter in Klamath Falls. Burk and Carl Wilson, who live near Pelican Bay Lodge, came down last week with over $500 worth of fur, which they secured the past few months. The hides were shipped to J. S. Prouty's Sons, of New York City. Among the catch were the following: 20 mink, 20 martin, 5 otter, 3 fishers, 1 black bear, 1 wild cat and 9 skunk. The boys also brought down a quantity of Ginseng root. Chas. Pattee, manager of the Lost River Realty Co., of Bonanza, was in the city Monday. Mr. Pattee states that another big addition to the town of Bonanza is being planned. His company has sold the L. G. Shipley tract of 500 acres, which lies within one-half mile of the town, to L. F. Willits and W. T. Shive, of Klamath Falls. The consideration was $5000. It is stated that the purchasers propose to subdivide the land in small tracts. Household Goods—All of our furniture, household goods, range and kitchen utensils for sale. For particulars call at the ranch one and one-half mile from town. S. S. Mitchell.

A very important real estate transfer was made last week when C. H. Withrow purchased the Wallace Baldwin property opposite the Court House. The lot is 33 feet wide and extends from Main street the entire width of the block to Klamath street. The price paid was $5000. Mr. Withrow states that he will begin as early as possible in the spring, the construction of a modern stone or brick building for store and office purposes. The following road supervisors were appointed by the Commissioners court: Road district No. 1, F. L. Wright; No. 2, S. T. Summers; No. 3, C. Gay Merrill; No. 4, John VanMeter; No. 5, G. K. Van Riper; No. 6, C. H. Hughes; No. 7, R. A. Moon; No. 8, Chas. Flackner; No. 9, D. M. Griffith; No. 10, Valentine Griffith; No. 11, John Hogalstein; No. 12, Geo. L. Chase; No. 13, J. W. Lindsay; No. 14, E. S. Full; No. 15, Chas. Graves. The Board of County Commissioners on Friday designated the Klamath Republican as the official paper of the county, in which the proceedings of the court are to be published. According to the law the paper having the largest bona-fide circulation in the county is named as the official paper. According to the statement of the Express that paper only has 391 subscribers within the county, while the Republican has 507. M. L. Barnes has withdrawn from the firm of Barnes & Horning, real estate brokers, and has sold his interest to Robt. Casey. The new firm will be known as Horning & Casey and will continue business at the old stand on Main street. J. A. Gregory this week sold his Confectionery store near the post office to F. E. Ankeny. Mr. Ankeny has taken charge. Mr. Gregory and wife will go to California for the winter. J. P. Churchill was in the city Saturday attending the meeting of the directors of the Klamath Water Users Association. Chas. Low has a good fresh milch Jersey cow for sale. Call on him at the Belmont Feed Yards. Tule Lake Tidings (From Our Regular Correspondent.) The new year dawned very quietly in our valley. Only by consulting an almanac did we know that 1905 was with the things that were. Tule Lake is completely frozen over, and the cracking and grinding of the ice can be heard for four or five miles. The water birds have all left and our sportsmen are obliged to content themselves with rabbits. The ground is covered with a heavy fall of snow, giving us promise of big crops in the spring. As the ubiquitous small boy and girl are rather in the minority in the vicinity, there are few of us who rejoice in the "Beautiful snow" and rye and potatoes next fall, hardly seem to compensate for sloop and snow at present. In digging a well on his homestead, Mr. Burris has come across some rather curious rock formations. There are holes in the lava about the size of a cherry that are filled with water or a formation of crystals. Mrs. Anna Kattenhorn has returned to her home in Merrill after a brief stay on her claim. Miss Lorinda Sauber spent part of the holidays on her homestead and visiting her sister, Mrs. Pickett. In spite of the inclement weather all of our invalids are recovering. Jack Johnson is over in the Bonanza country gathering up cattle. We wish to call the attention of the girls of the county to the vast possibilities as yet undeveloped, of this valley. We also wish to impress upon the bachelors of this community the necessity of doing their duty by their country, and forsaking their life of single blessedness for matrimonial bliss. First, there is our renial bachelor who lives on the hill. He is trying, we are informed. Then there are three brothers who live at the foot of the hill. Any one of them we are sure would gladly share his heart and home with some lonely spinster, but alas! there are no spinsters here. In the northwest end of our valley there are two bachelors. One is doing his best, but time is valuable and the distance is discouraging. There is our amiable optician, whose home is under the spreading juniper, and who spends most of his time in the Falls. Surely among the blue eyes and the brown eyes that come to be fitted for glasses, he can find one pair he would be willing to gaze into for life. There is our Tennessee gentleman in the west end, whose affections are disengaged at present and finally there is a quintet of bachelors living on adjoining claims in the very center of our valley, numbering among them a clerk, a carpenter, a doctor, a stage driver, and a prosperous farmer, and only one of them spoken for. All these, girls, to be had for the catching, and females, except of the pickled or preserved type as scarce as last summer's strawberries. Come early and avoid the rush. News Gatherer. Tule Lake, January 8. CITY COUNCIL MEETING The adjourned meeting of the City Council was held Monday evening, all of the officers being present with the exception of Recorder Brower, who was sick. After the regular bills were allowed, liquor licenses were granted for a term of six months, to the following persons: Isaac Wright, C. R. Anderson and J. C. Sigler.

The petition of D. E. Resdorff and others, for a sidewalk from Main street along the west side of Fourth street was rejected, as it was thought best that the walk should be built on the opposite side of the street. The report of the City Treasurer was read and accepted. An ordinance was introduced by Councilman Bishop, to grant to C. N. Hawkins and his assigns, a franchise for a street railway line over certain streets of the town. On motion the ordinance was read and passed by its second reading and read by title only. An ordinance was also introduced by Bishop providing for a license tax upon dogs. This was also passed to its second reading and read. The Council then adjourned to meet at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening. At the meeting Tuesday evening, both the street car and the dog ordinances were read the third time and passed. GREAT HORSE RANGE BIGGEST IN THE COUNTRY IN STATE OF WASHINGTON. Eleven Thousand Improved Animals Roam the Immense Range and Require No Feeding. Stretching for 200 miles on the north side of the Columbia river, from a point opposite The Dalles, Ore., away toward the Big Bend, in Washington, lies the largest exclusive horse range in the United States. In this great expanse of variegated hills, prairies and sand dunes, upland plateaus and river bluffs, range the holdings of the Switzlers, John and Jade, numbering 11,000 head of horses, says the Chicago Chronicle. For the last 30 years this expanse of country has been the range of the Switzlers, formerly William, John and Jade. In 1883 William died and the two other brothers continued in partnership for several years, when they divided, and each now conducts his own interests. Jade Switzer lives at Expansion, Klamath county, Wash., 12 miles below the town of Umatilla, on the north side of the Columbia. John Switzer lives on Switzer's island, in the Columbia river, near the town of Umatilla. Jade Switzer owns 4,900 head of horses and John owns 7,000 head, the range for both these immense herds being in the territory from The Dalles to the Big Bend. At the highest tide of the Switzer holdings, before William Switzer died, the brothers owned at one time 15,000 head of horses. This was said to be the largest herd of horses ever owned by one company in the United States. The Switzer brand, an "S" on the hip, was known from the Atlantic to the Pacific ocean, as they shipped and drove horses to every known market in the United States. In the early history of the Switzer horse industry the holdings were cayuses—small, hardy, incorrigible pinto and buckskin mustangs—the hardest brand of equines that ever trailed behind the cattle herds from the Pacific coast to Cheyenne in the early days or that followed an Indian trail over the precipitous mountains of the inland empire. But the cayuses are now entirely weeded out. The Switzlers sold 7,000 head of these mustangs to the Linnton cannery at the contract price of three dollars a head, delivered. Since that cleaning up the class of horses raised on this immense range has been greatly improved. Large draught stallions have been crossed with the wiry, nervous western mares, and the result is a grade of horses weighing from 1,000 to 1,200 pounds, that are fit for any ordinary service, and bring the highest price in every market. About 600 stallions are kept. On this 200 miles of range 11,000 head of wild horses reign monarch of all that survey. The Columbia and Yamhill rivers are their watering places, they run over parts of three large counties, and there are colts on the ranges two and three years old without brands, and that were perhaps never seen by one of the Switzer herds. Round-up corrals are built about ten miles apart over this great range, and the 50 men employed in the round-up gather and brand the colts in the fall. The two brothers own about 250 head of trained saddle horses—a large drove of horses in itself. None of this great herd is ever fed a particle of feed during the winter season, the sandhills and rolling prairies affording sufficient nutritious feed the year round. Settlers are crowding the vast range. Watering places are being taken up, and slowly the great expanse is narrowing down, but there yet remains an empire in extent. Horse stealing is more or less prevalent in the Switzer range, the very magnitude of the business making it impossible to guard against renegades from the outside, who slip in and appropriate what they can safely take away. WAS SEVENTH IN STRENGTH Naval Rating of Japan Previous to the Opening of Hostilities with Russia. On the eve of the war Japan's was the smallest of the seven leading navies of the world. The fleet of Russia, at that time, was inferior only to that of Great Britain and of France. During 1903, says Homer Whitfield, in Success Magazine, Russia spent on her fleet over $55,000,000, while Japan for the whole of her navy expended only about $11,000,000. Consequently Russia laid out in naval equipment nearly five times as much as Japan, whose naval fighting strength, at the beginning of hostilities was only half that of Italy. Alexioff said: "The fleet of the island kingdom is only an exotic which will crumble at the onset." In the anxiety to impress Asia with her might, Russia sent ponderous-looking men-of-war to the far east with few or no mechanical ratings, and with seamen who, in a confession made to me by a Russian officer, were only "agricultural laborers," not only unused to sea life, but also unversed in even the simplest mechanical knowledge. It was in this condition that Japan found its enemy when it opened its attack.

Smokes and Smokes. Granger—How did he make all his money? Kimmins—Smoking. He was the greatest smoker in the world. Granger—Dry up, Kimmins; you can't make money by smoking. Kimmins—He did. He smoked hams.—Royal Magazine. No Cause for Complaint. "And was your husband kind to you during your illness?" asked the inquisitive woman of her seamstress. "Yes, as kind as could be mustam," was the reply. "He was more like a friend than a husband, ma'am."—Chicago News. What It's Like. "I see that New York's subway carried nearly 6,000,000 passengers its first month." "It looks like a success, eh?" "Yes. It's just like picking up money under the street."—Chicago Journal. One of Many. Stringer—There was a time when I lived at the rate of $50,000 a year. Swallows—Indeed! And how long did you keep it up? Stringer—Oh, about 30 seconds.—Chicago News. SURE BREAK. Fair Kieper—What makes you think we are safe? Her Lover—Your father is chasing us in an automobile.—Los Angeles.
