EDITOR REPUBLICAN:-In your issue of February 15th Iv'e been forcibly reminded of some of the miscenceptions of socialists, by Mr. Charles W. Sherman's article. I'm also, though not pleasantly reminded that at the age of about 20, I, like Mr. Sherman, was tempted by the vision of happiness and universal brotherhood that was to result from the adoption of the world-rectifying panacea of socialism; and that I too was wont to make myself absurd by rushing intoprint to enlighten my benighted fellowcreatures and stir them from their ignorance and lethargy by depicting to them the glories of the socialistic regime. I became interested in a socialistic colony, engineered by A. K. Owen. and located in Mexico.
