Horses Wanted.

I want 200 head of work horses, 1100 to 1400 and up, fairly well broke. Frank Adams, Merrill, Ore.

CHARLES V. GALLOWAY W. C. HAWLEY'S SPEECH

Yamhill County

Democratic Nominee, Representative in Congress.

The Branch Bank.

The Merrill branch of the Klamath County bank will open for business tomorrow morning. Pearl Merrill will have charge of the institution as assistant cashier. He and Alex. Martin, Jr., left this city Wednesday morning for Merrill to complete the final details preparatory to opening for business. For the present the bank will be located in Martin's store, but as soon as the new bank building is completed, the business will be transferred to the new location.

It is needless to say that it will be well patronized. The very fact that it is a part of the pioneer bank of Klamath county is a sufficient guarantee of its responsibility, for the name of Martin is synonymous with that which goes to make a safe and honestly managed financial institution. Mr. Merrill, who will be at the head of this branch, is a man well known in this locality. His courteous and gentlemanly bearing will surely make the Merrill bank a popular one, and thorough knowledge of business assures a careful and systematic conduct of affairs.

Ashland Normal Notes.

Chapel Notes

Monday morning, Prof. Mulkey read and discussed an article entitled, "How to Be Popular."

Tuesday morning, the English Literature class recited selections from Hamlet. Prof. VanScoy also read an interesting article on "The Art of Questioning."

Wednesday morning, B. F. Van Dyke a graduate of Portland University, talked to the students about missionary work in India. Rev. Van Dyke has been a missionary in Southeastern Asia for several years. He has been connected with a large Anglo-Chinese school located at Singapore. This school has one thousand students enrolled. The city is very cosmopolitan. It is said that thirty nine different languages are spoken among the students. There are also two or three schools for girls in Singapore. These students are very intelligent, being especially proficient in music. Teachers are in demand and the work is very interesting. Rev. Van Dyke also told several incidents of his life in a Chinese settlement, which was located in the center of the Bengal-tiger district.

Thursday morning, Prof. Mellinger gave the students a talk on the grandeur of the earth, the sun and all the planets.

the country today; The railroad rate question, The trust and monopoly question, The tariff question.

Roosevelt has just fought and won in behalf of the American people a great fight, the passing of the railroad rate bill.

The Republican party has advocated tariff policy all through, but on the other hand do not regard it as a sacred thing that may not be changed when time proves that it is defective in certain parts. A schedule that was right some years ago may be wrong now, and if so, should be changed.

Taking up the rate question, in 1885 the Senate appointed a committee to investigate railroad rates. The Republican party has been aiding all kinds of interests and all kinds of organizations that have had for their purpose or as a result of their labors, the development of the country. The Government has aided railroads by giving them the right of eminent domain, grants of land, and in other ways. This power has been abused. About eight millions of the people of the United States depend upon the earnings of the railroad. The railroads have about one-tenth of the wealth, and they support about one-tenth of the people. The entire railroad situation of the United States is in the hands of some eight men. Now, when the Government began aiding the railroads, they could not see that they would combine into great systems, and that indirectly they would give eight or ten men control of the whole industrial situation of the United States. The committee appointed in 1885 reported, and made one of the best reports ever made by a committee, and the Interstate Commerce Commission was the result of that report. In 1890 the Republican party introduced the Sherman anti-trust law. Mr. Harrison executed the law in four instances, but when President Cleveland came into power, he doubted the wisdom of the law as to its validity, and he refused to execute the law. Now, I say that when a man takes an office in the United States, it is a servant of the people, and it is his duty to enforce the laws upon the statute books, whether he doubts their wisdom or not. Mr. McKinley and Mr. Roosevelt enforced the law in seventeen instances.

Trusts have been fostered not by a high protective tariff but by unjust discrimination in railroad rates in their favor by the railroads. The bill recently passed will cure this evil. The Armour Packing Company was able to drive all competitors out of the field by getting a rate from the railroads that enabled them to so undersell their competitors and to force them out of business, hence the Armour Company is in control of the situation, and were able to charge the highest price for dressed meat, and pay the lowest price for cattle.

Now, a word as to immigration. I am heartily in favor of a strict immigration law. We must have it. We need a law that will result in bringing the best of the world to America and not the worst. We have all the criminals we want in this country and the door should be barred. The place to restrict immigration is in the old country before they come here, instead of after they arrive. America welcomes any man or body of men capable of being absorbed and made a part of the body politic. The sitting should be done in Europe and not in Castle Garden. Only the class that make good American citizens should be admitted. We need them, but when coolies come in large numbers and the scum of Europe knock for admittance, then the doors must be barred.

Of my competitor for this office, I have nothing to say, but what is kindly of him. He is a nice young man. I know his father and mother. He is a democrat, and he must line up for democratic policies. If you elect a democrat to the Senate and a democrat to the House, you must do it with the full knowledge that they will line up for democratic policies.

In closing, I want to make an appeal to the republicans of this county to stand loyally by the party's nominees. They were placed on the ticket, not at the behest of any clerk, faction, or boss, not by any manipulated convention, but by the free and untrammelled will of a majority of the people. Majorities must rule, and though you may have been disappointed in the selection made, give to the successful man that loyal support that you would ask from his friends had your choice won. That is only fair, that is only honorable. By so doing you best serve your conscience and best protect the interests that are nearest to your welfare.

A Fireman's benefit ball will be given in Houston's opera house, Merrill, Thursday evening, May 31st. Good music and a pleasant evening awaits all. 5-24
