WOMAN AT LIGHT 30 YEARS

Edna Emma Isaac, Keeper Lighthouse Mixed But Two Nights in Her Career.

For 28 years a woman has kept the light off Klamath Falls. Edna Emma Isaac, the lightkeeper, is situated about two miles southwest of Klamath Falls, on a low point of land, the light being 178 feet above the sea. The tower rises from the center of a small white building with the usual red roof and green shutters, with a tiny porch opening toward the sea. The building was erected in 1856, and its first keeper was Albert J. Williams, the husband of Mrs. Julia E. Williams, the present keeper. He received his appointment when Franklin J. Pierce was president. The light is a fixed white of the first order and may be seen 17 miles at sea. Just as the civil war was closing, in 1865, Mrs. Williams was appointed keeper in place of her husband, who had died, and she has had the longest service of any keeper on the coast. Mrs. Williams has been away from her post but two nights in 27 years, and does not go away in the daytime save on Sunday, when she rides into town to attend the Congregational church, of which she has long been a member. The family came originally from Maine. When they came to the lighthouse in 1856 Mr. and Mrs. Williams had two little daughters, and while there two sons were born to them and one child died.

LETTER AN ENDLESS CHAIN

Thomas Bailey Aldrich Gives Quaint Praise to the Author of Unique System.

Dr. Edward Everett Hale tells an amusing rebuke once given by Thomas Bailey Aldrich to Prof. E. S. Morse for the latter's illegible handwriting. According to Dr. Hale, Mr. Aldrich got back at the professor in this wise: "My Dear Morse: It was very pleasing to me to get your recent letter. Perhaps I should have been more pleased had I been able to decipher the same. I haven't read it yet. I think I'll take a short rest at it to-day and maybe I shall, in the course of a few months, be able to make out what he means by those 't's that look like w's and those 'a's that have no eyebrows.' Other letters are read and thrown away, but yours are kept forever—unread. One of them will last a reasonable man a lifetime. Admiringly yours, 'T. B. ALDRICH'."

DANES BUILDING AN ARK.

Northern-Style Constructing a Unique Vessel—Anticipated After Ship Described in Genesis.

The Danes have been building a vessel upon the lines of Noah's ark is described in Genesis. The vessel is 33 feet long, five feet wide and three feet in height, one-tenth of Noah's measurements. It was floated on the sound on October 30, with a party of professors, engineers and officials on board, and is reported to have behaved admirably at sea. The event confirms the theory that the Babylonians had at a very early period a sea-borne commerce, that Noah's ship was a sea-going vessel, and that it was driven, as recorded in the Babylonian annals, by a storm-wave up to the Doab of the Tigris and Euphrates into the mountains. The remembrance of this calamity, which destroyed whole cities, lasted long and grew with the Jews in the account of a flood. Herr Von Inseering states that the Babylonians kept doves on board their ships, which they occasionally released, and thus, by following the direction of their flight, were able to reach land.

TELL WEATHER BY ONIONS

French Peasants Plant Their Crops in Accordance with These Peculiar Signs.

One of the rites performed by the French peasants on New Year's eve is the forecasting of the weather for the coming year by means of onions. When the bells ring for midnight mass they scoop out the middles of 12 onions, set them in a row on the kitchen table fill them with salt and name them for the months of the year. Then, when they return from mass they examine the condition of the salt. If it has melted in any of the "months," those months will be rainy; if the salt remains dry it indicates drought; if half-melted the first fortnight of the month will be wet.

The peasants have such implicit faith in this means of foretelling the weather that they plant their crops in accordance with the prophecy of the onions.

Derrick to Move Meteor.
The 36-ton meteorite which was brought to this country some years ago by Lieut. Peary has been removed from the Brooklyn navy yard to the American Museum of Natural History. It was necessary to use the big derrick owned by a wrecking company. The meteorite was landed at the West Fifty-fifth street pier, Manhattan, whence it was brought to the museum on a large truck.

Reward for Eagle Heads.
A price has been put on the head of the American eagle in Tehama county, California. The board of supervisors offers a reward of one dollar for the head of each of the great birds on the petition of the sheep men, who have lost many lambs by eagles.

Are You Going to Build?
If so I want an opportunity to figure on your work. I am prepared to make prices on all classes of buildings and will furnish plans whenever necessary. All work guaranteed.

BUFFALO FOR THE MARKET

Edna Emma Isaac, Keeper Lighthouse Mixed But Two Nights in Her Career.

Some three or four years ago Pawnee Bill bought up all the loose buffalo obtainable and declared that he would raise buffalo meat for the market. The buffalo ranch has been a success, as there is now a large bunch of as fine young buffalo as was ever seen, being corn fed, and they will be slaughtered and shipped east for the holiday trade. An experiment of crossing the buffalo with Galloway cattle was made, which should bring an animal far surpassing the genuine buffalo, as the Galloway animal is of itself very handsome, with a long, silky coat and a finely disposition, which should temper the fiery disposition of the genuine buffalo, as well as improve the color of the robe. The average price per pound of buffalo meat is about $1.25—the loin and short ribs bringing $1.50 per pound—while the plate and stew bring about one dollar. The robe brings $75; the heads, when mounted, readily bring $75 to $150 each, according to size and quality. Both the heads and robes are very handsome when taken at this season of the year, as they then have their heavy winter coat.

Oklahoma in years past was the paradise of the buffalo. Here is where the heaviest growths of buffalo grass are found, which to the buffalo is equal to the richest timothy to our domestic animals. Pawnee Bill's ranch lies in the heart of this excellent range and he has proven beyond a doubt that the buffalo can be raised for slaughter at a profit.

"MRS." NOT ON TOMBSTONE

On the Shaft It Is Generally "Wife of" in Referring to the Deceased.

How often one hears the expression, "She just got married because she wanted to have Mrs. put on her tombstone." Now, this seems a very natural statement to the average listener, says the Philadelphia Record, but, as a matter of fact, there are few tombstones that have "Mrs." on them, as very recent interviews with grave diggers and church sextons have demonstrated, so the woman who intends plunging into matrimony with the idea that she is going to be known as Mrs. Jackson or Mrs. Blackton after death had better hesitate before she takes any desperate step. Even after death a married woman is only considered a part of her husband's property, for out of several hundred tombstones investigated none had the appellation Mrs., while every one had "Sarah, wife of," or "Jane, wife of." When the investigator asked an old sexton well versed on tombstones where there were any tombstones with "Mrs." on them he replied: "Well, I've been seen to the buryin' of married women for the last 50 years, but I ain't never seen a tombstone yet that had a 'Mrs.' on it."

CHANCE IN HABIT OF QUAIL

This Is Commonly Supposed to Be the Reason for Poor Shooting of Year.

Shooting is not so good or so plentiful as one might wish. Indeed, quail shooting is a different thing now from what it was years ago. The fable of the country has measurably changed and the habits of the birds are different from what they were.

The fields are less open than in ante and early post-bellum days, the grain stubble area is smaller, creeks are marginated with brushwood, there is more cover and shelter for birds and the bass are not made in a day's hunt, as they once were, and, withal, the habits of quail seem to have changed with the increase of sportsmen and the advent of the breechloader and pump gun. Once they were found in the open fields, and one could effectively put in two barrels on the flush. Then they would fly and alight in full view upon ditch banks or in any light cover. To this spot the sportsman would follow them and get good shooting in the open, after bagging eight or ten birds from a flock. Now it is rare to find a covey outside of pine or oak brush or the swamps. In these places they refuse to lie to the dog, and when flushed they will fly from a half to three-quarters of a mile and alight in almost impenetrable jungles. It never occurs to them now to scatter out along ditch banks, as they once did, and one in a covey will raise flock after flock, succeed in getting not a shot on flush and utterly fail to find them the second time.
