HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Ptomaine poisoning develops through the action of acid on tin. This is why every can of meat or vegetables or fish should be turned out immediately after opening into a dish or earthenware vessel. Refrigerated ice cream is a fruitful source of ptomaine poisoning, so also are loose oysters, and it behooves every housewife to beware of the source of her ice cream and oyster supply.

When piano keys are discolored they may be cleaned with a cloth which has been dipped in eau de cologne and then into finely powdered whiting. The keys should be rubbed one at a time and afterward polished with an old soft silk handkerchief.

Keep the wax coated boxes in which crackers are packed, as they make excellent polishers for irons instead of the little blocks of wax generally used.

Coffee grounds kept in the sink strainer will catch grease and thus prevent clogging of the pipes if all greasy water is poured through the strainer.

When lemons have become hard and dry immerse them in cold water. They will soon become quite soft and ready to use.

Soak new brooms in strong hot salt water before using; this toughens the bristles and the brooms last longer.

REGION IN WHICH ARE MANY HOMES OF CULTURE

The Only Real Work of the Year Is
During the Harvest Season—
Farmers Generally Are Students.

There are homes on the wheat ranches where culture reigns. Books, pictures, music, pianos and newspapers keep the inhabitants busy with the best things of life, says the Kansas City Star. The serious toil of the harvest is studying the character of the men. Last year a young man worked for us who, we readily saw, was of good breeding and came from a respectable home. His hand was sore in the harvest and I dressed it and doctored him the best I could. I got worse, and one day I asked him what was the matter with it. He said: "The blood does not circulate in it. Then he rolled up his sleeve and showed a scar that was frightful. It had been in some scrape and had received a bad cut, which had been sewed up by a surgeon. His horse was well and he worked for us nearly a year. One time he was sick for several weeks and I said to him: 'John, why don't you write to your folks?' 'I know that you have a home and that your parents are worrying about you. He took my advice and wrote two letters. A while later he said to us: 'I'm going to leave you. I will eat dinner with my folks to-morrow in Osage, Col.' Well dressed and feeling good with $250 in his pocket, he bade us good-by. We soon received a letter from his mother, thanking us for what we had done for her son."

When the men who have accumulated much land in the wheat country will be in smaller tracts and so their money will be in smaller tracts and so they will settle that the local market will supply all the labor needed in the harvest. That will mark the end of the summer migration.

Swimmers' Cramp

In drowning accidents where expert swimmers suddenly lose all control of their powers, the usual explanation is that cramps is beginning to be formed in the muscles. It has been noted that persons having disease of the middle ear, who have already shown symptoms of vertigo, are especially liable to such accidents, and as the semicircular canals are the organs of direction, it is suggested that even a slight hemorrhage in this delicate structure from a blow by the waves would result in utter helplessness. Persons with ears not perfectly sound are therefore warned against swimming in rough water.

"And you think she loves him?"
"Of course. Her father and mother and all her relatives just hate him."
—Chicago Tribune.

Better Policy

Dame Nature, too, is cleaning house. "You've had your retreat." She purges her voracious carpet-down. The one that can't be beat.
—Judge.

Perfect people are very trying.

Arrogance leaves behind a trail of ill-feeling and enmity.
Too many men spend their money before they get hold of it.
We strengthen ourselves by the exercise of lifting up others.
The dollar you give does more good than the millions you wish you could give.

G. S. Hoyt,
Fort Klamath, Oregon, August 3, 1906.
