Geo. W. Offield sold the 40 acres of the Sims ranch, east of Merrill, which he purchased during the summer for $50 an acre, to M. Giacomini for $55 an acre. Mr. Giacomini is a recent arrival from California. He purchased the Durham place some time ago and being so well pleased with the future outlook of the country has made the further outlay of $2200 for 40 acres more. An increase of $5 an acre also gives Mr. Offield a profit of $200 in four months' time not counting the crop of alfalfa hay from which he reaped a crop worth nearly $1000.—Merrill Record.

Hot Tomatoes every evening at the City Bakery.

The 9-year old son of Thomas Fox, an employe of Mason, Davis & Co., was the victim of an accident Wednesday morning that may result in the loss of an eye. While playing near the tunnel he and a playmate found a piece of fuse, attached to which was a cap. Wishing to remove the cap, they used an axe to chop it off, with the result that it exploded, a small piece striking the Fox boy in the eye and splitting the eyeball. Dr. Cartwright has doubts as to whether it will be necessary to remove the eye, this operation depending on future developments.

Cheating dishes at Newsom & Underwood.

Klamath county is admittedly one of the greatest dairy sections in the State, and yet it was found necessary to ship in butter from Wisconsin to supply the local demand. There is a big opportunity for dairymen here, and it is to be hoped they will be induced to come. With butter at 70 and 75 cents a roll, there is no reason why good money can't be made on the investment.
