pose of Direct Primary
Law Is Carried Into Effect

SALEM, Ore., Jan. 23.—Fred W. Mulkey was elected United States Senator by the Oregon legislature yesterday. He received the full vote of both houses, which is a remarkable compliment to the man who will represent this great state in the highest legislative body of the land until March 4th, next.

Following the election of Mr. Mulkey, Jonathan Bourne was elected United States Senator for the long term, be-gaining March 4, and continuing for six years. On his selection the vote stood as follows:

Jonathan Bourne, 23.
R. S. Bean, 4.
Absent, 1.
In the House the vote was:
Jonathan Bourne, 57.
F. A. Moore, 2.
Fred W. Mulkey, 1.

The people of Klamath County want to take some action in regard to the bill now before the legislature creating the new county of Deschutes. This is an important measure, so far as Klamathites are concerned and a vigorous protest should be sent in against the loss of so much valuable territory.

Representative Merryman was made chairman of the committee on mileage and salaries and a member of the committee on pharmacy and medicine.

H. N. Mitchell Seriously Injured

While enjoying the sports of his boyhood last Monday night, H. N. Mitchell, proprietor of the Home Bakery, met with an accident that nearly cost him his life. With a party of friends he was coasting down the hill near the Mason & Davis camp. Being desirous of getting more speed out of his sled he went farther up the hill than any of his companions. The desired momentum was secured, but it was too great for the runners of his sled, one of which broke and hurled him against a fence. It was at first thought that he was killed outright, but examination proved that he was only stunned. He was conveyed to a nearby house and a physician summoned. No bones were broken, but it is feared that he is injured internally. If no complications set in, he may be able to get out after several days.

GREAT SLAUGHTER MUST STOP

Audobon Society Gets Funds To Enforce Law.

The National Audobon society has recently received a large bequest amounting to over $200,000, which will be distributed over the United States for the purpose of suppressing the traffic in the plumage of birds.

The local organization has received a valuable allotment for use in this state and a special effort will be inaugurated at once to prohibit the slaughter of the grebe which is again beginning to take on a serious aspect in the southern part of the state.

The Klamath County—in the vicinity of the Klamath lakes—is one of the most profitable fields for the prosecution of this pursuit in the country.

The grebe is only valuable as a millinery decoration at one time of the year, the nesting season. A small part of the down from the breast, which the bird does not develop at any other time, is taken from the female and the operation not only kills the bird, but all the young. The grebe is found in flocks and the slaughter is comparatively easy and thousands are shipped to New York and other eastern points yearly.

With the accession of the funds recently received the society will provide the deputy game warden on the lakes with a launch in order that he may effectively put a stop to the illegal slaughter of the little white-plumbed bird. —Portland Journal.

The Boston Store

The Clearance Sale still continues at the Boston Store, and as a result the people of this county are getting greater bargains than has ever before been offered them. Special attention is called to the special reduction that is made in men's clothing. This house represents two of the largest clothing manufacturers in the United States—the makers of the famous Acorn Brand and Kuh, Nathan & Fisher. The latter clothing we have only put in a couple of months ago. It is of the finest material and latest pattern. It is an admitted fact that the Kuh, Nathan & Fisher garments are by far the best wearing, best shape-keeping and nobbiest men's clothing on the market today. Every garment is guaranteed to give satisfaction or you get your money back.

For the ladies we have reductions in prices all along the line. You know the Boston Store; you know that we are here to stay, and that we are looking forward to a greater future. Consequently we do not propose to engage in any sharp practice that would merit your ill will. We have your confidence and we intend to keep it by honest dealings with our customers.

The Teachers' Institute, held last week, was a decided success. But more successful and of equal importance, was the reception given in the evening. The Assembly Hall was taxed to its capacity and the large attendance went to show the deep interest that is being taken in the public and high schools. Comment on the program is unnecessary, for the reason that each number was well taken care of and afforded much instruction and pleasure to the audience.

HUMPHREYS GOES TO CALIFORNIA

Will Take Charge of Government's Biggest Project

The following taken from the Sacramento Bee will be of a great deal of interest here:

D. C. Henry, Supervising Engineer of the Reclamation Service District, comprising Superior California, Oregon and Washington, and T. H. Humphreys, who succeeded S. G. Bennett as engineer in charge of the Stony Creek project at Orland, arrived here Sunday night and yesterday were in consultation with P. D. Bane, President of the Water Users' Association, in reference to establishing headquarters for the work that will now be gotten under way.

The first matter that will occupy their attention will be the completion of arrangements for the purchase by the Government of the two ditches now in the district—The Lemon Home Water, Power and Light Company's ditch on the north side of the creek and the Stony Creek Irrigation Company's ditch on the Orland side of the stream—and the securing of options on the several parcels of ground that are suitable for reservoir sites.

This work is the beginning of a project that will be, it is claimed, of more benefit to the Sacramento Valley than anything ever undertaken in its history. It means irrigation for the entire region. At Orland the first step will be taken.

This is the first public announcement of the fact that T. H. Humphreys is to be transferred from this project to that of Orland. The Orland project is just in its infancy and of the vast number of engineers now in the employ of the service, none is more fitted to take charge of it than is Mr. Humphreys. He had his training in a good school, that of the Klamath Project. While the Orland enterprise is a little more advanced than was the Klamath project when Mr. Humphreys took charge of it, yet many questions remain to be passed upon.

This is a substantial promotion for Mr. Humphreys, inasmuch as the Orland Project will be the greatest of all the reclamation works undertaken by the government. Upwards of $40,000,000 are to be expended there in the reclamation of nearly 3,000,000 acres, and his appointment goes to show what has always been recognized here by those who were familiar with the situation, that his standing with the Reclamation Service is of the very highest. Mr. Humphreys will be missed from here, but his many friends are glad to see him receive such substantial recognition and wish him God speed.

He will leave for his new field Friday, having received final instructions to that effect last week. Accompanying the letter of instructions was the information that his salary is considerably increased, as a further token of esteem on the part of the Service.

P. L. Fountain returned Tuesday from an extended trip throughout the Willamette and Rogue River valleys. He suffered, while in Ashland, from a severe attack of tonsillitis. Some of his friends are telling him that it was a put-up job on the part of the Ashlandites, who feared that he might talk most of the people of that sleepy burg into coming over to this land of milk and honey, and they decided to put his talking apparatus out of business.

S. R. and W. D. Kingdon of Fort Klamath, who have been visiting in the Willamette valley returned here Tuesday. They were accompanied by their brother, Justin T., who is in the employ of the Wyoming Central Irrigating company. He expects to remain but a short time when he will return to his duties.

The Great Southern Drama "In Old Virginia" will be presented at the opera house next Saturday night Jan. 26th, for the benefit of the Fraternal Lodges heretofore mentioned. Don't miss it as it will be the best performance yet put on by the Home Dramatic Club. Reserved seats are now on sale at the Perfection Confectionery Store.

All persons knowing themselves to be indebted to L. F. Willits on store account, may settle the same at my old stand, with Shive Brothers & Co. where my books will be kept during my absence from the city. L. F. Willits.

W. R. McKim, who was for a short time associated with S. K. Noel in the feed business, left for San Francisco Tuesday afternoon. He was accompanied by Mrs. McKim. They do not expect to return.

H. P. Galarneau returned from Portland last Friday, where he had been on a vacation.

CITY COUNCIL

Meets in Regular Session But Does
Little Business

The regular meeting of the City Council was held last Monday evening, but inasmuch as the Recorder had "gotten the habit" of passing the meeting nights, during the absence from the city of so many of the members of the council, he forgot about appearing upon the scene and it was well after nine o'clock before the solons got down to business. So well had they cleaned up the calendar at the previous meeting that there was little for them to do and the session was a short one.

Attorney C. F. Stone appeared before the body with an ordinance providing for the granting of a franchise to the Reclamation Service for the Keno Canal along High street. The ordinance provided that, in case the franchise was granted, that the government would construct "within the same boundaries and along the same lines as the present said street or road over which this franchise is granted, a road or street of equal width and of as good grade and surface as the present road or street." It is further provided, "that in the event that it should be necessary to change said street or road from its present location to a location along the west side of Link river, the government would procure from the adjoining property owners a sufficient strip of land and construct a road of equal width and length and dedicate the same to the city."

Mr. Mills, on behalf of the property owners, objected to the passage of the ordinance, on the grounds that it would give the government an advantage over them, provided it was necessary to invoke the aid of the law.

Mr. Stone stated that the government had no idea of trying to take advantage of the property owners, but that inasmuch as they could not agree on where they wanted the road, something tangible was desired for presentation to them when they were approached on the question of assessing damages to their property.

The council, however, took the position that the government should first reach an understanding with the property owners and then come before it for the franchise desired.

The ordinance to establish grades on certain streets came up for final passage, but inasmuch as the city engineer was not present it was laid over until the next meeting. One of the objects of this ordinance is to fix the grade on Conger avenue, it being claimed that the tracks of the Klamath Falls Land and Transportation company's railway were not placed according to the original grade.

The proposed amendment to the city charter, limiting the amount of damages for injuries from defective sidewalks to $100, was approved and ordered forwarded to Representative Merryman for presentation to the legislature.

Bills amounting to $54 were ordered paid.

GEO. WINGFIELD

The Poor Lakeview Boy Who Struck
It Rich in Goldfield

He has announced his intention of coming up to the new gold mines at Windy Hollow. When Wingfield takes hold of the good things at Windy Hollow—something is bound to move. He has cleaned up $7,000,000 in the last few years in Nevada. Over the Sierras and across the deserts of Nevada the news of the wonderful richness of Windy Hollow has spread—when Geo. Wingfield returns to his old stamping ground in Lake county there are coming with him a "bunch" of the world's greatest mining men from Tonahap and Goldfield. The stock of the Lakeview Mining and Milling Co. can be had (on the first allotment) at 25c a share. After Wingfield and his associates plant their feet in Windy Hollow the stock of the Lakeview Mining & Milling Co. will rise. Then the man with the small capital will have lost his opportunity.

Another Boat

That Merrill and the surrounding country is determined to have communication with the outside world in the future in a more satisfactory manner than in the past is evidenced by the enthusiastic mass meeting held in the opera house last night.

The meeting was called at the instigation of W. R. Davis, who is at the head of a movement to get a boat on the freight and passenger run between Laird's Landing and the Merrill boat landing. The proposition placed before our people was that a joint stock company be formed to build and operate a boat in connection with the Lake Shore stage line. Mr. Davis read several communications from S. P. officials stating that this company would sign contracts with the new company giving it all the business into the whole Klamath country providing the boat and stage service was placed under one head. It seems that boat service last year from Laird's Landing to Klamath Falls was very unsatisfactory. The Klamath is said not to be a boat that will give satisfaction on this run as it draws too much water and besides cannot run at all in winter because of ice.

STEAL PART OF KLAMATH

When Mr. Davis was here sometime ago he stated to a representative of The Republican that it was the intention of his company to place a boat on the run between here and Laird's Landing, and that the boat which he proposed purchasing would be of the latest type for use on water similar to those on the lower lakes and would meet the demands for speed and ice breaking equipment.

There is no question but that a boat service from Laird's would be a paying proposition, especially if the company operating it was assured of the entire business of the Southern Pacific, and this Mr. Davis says they will have.

Another factor will enter into the field in competition with the Davis-Laird company for the business tributary to the California-Northeastern, and that will be the contemplated stage route by way of Teeter's landing. It is understood that plans are on foot for a combination between the Navigation company and the Oregon stage company to operate a line from the terminus of the new railroad to Teeter's landing by stage and from there to the city by the steamer Klamath. The representatives of these companies will neither affirm nor deny this plan, and it is therefore impossible to state definitely whether it will be inaugurated or not.

The Sale at the Portland Store

Never before in this county was a sale more successful than the one going on now at the Portland Store. The attendance during the first few days was more than expected, and the manager not being provided with enough help had to lock the doors several times in order to prevent the store from being overcrowded, this is not a sale of odds and ends and shelf worn stock, as the Portland Store is a new concern and is known to carry the highest grades of clothing, hats, shoes and gent's furnishings. Everything is up-to-date and of the latest make. Owing to the large stock of goods to be disposed of the sale will continue for several days longer.

The next play given at the opera house by home talent will be the great Southern Drama in five acts entitled "In Old Virginia." If you have to stand up, don't blame the management as reserved seats are now on sale at the usual place and if you hurry you can still get a good seat.

A Vigorous Protest Will Be Necessary to Defeat Scheme--Mass Meetings Should Be Held at Once

An important question now confronts the people of this county. It is whether they are willing that twenty-four miles of the north end of Klamath shall be chopped off and handed over to the new county of Deschutes; or shall remain as it is and continue to pay revenue to this county on a valuation of nearly two and one-half million dollars. Representative Merryman has advised his constituents of the situation and has asked for their assistance in combating the scheme, but as yet no effort has been made towards forwarding to him the vigorous protest that is needed to have the effect he desires.

There is not a man in the county who favors the proposed chopping off, but instead of getting together and showing the unanimity that should characterize the fight to be made against this measure, there arises the old cry "you can't lead for I won't follow." It is not a question of who leads or who follows that is at stake now. It is whether we shall stand as one man in the effort to back up Representative Merryman in the fight he is making to save to this county so much valuable territory.

This proposed county is simply a scheme of speculators at Bend and Portland, who hope through the creation of a new county to unload the property that has already gotten too heavy for them to carry. They wish to do this at the expense of the surrounding country, and they will be successful if the people of Klamath and Lake counties do not do more to defeat the proposition than they have done so far. Our Representative cannot do everything. He has to depend to a certain extent on assistance from his constituents, and this assistance he has not received in this case. Already the cry is raised in Salem that the people of Klamath do not care whether they lose this territory or not, for the reason that they have passed up the question without any protest other than that made by their representative. And this is true on the face of it, and will remain so unless there is some speedy action taken. A mass meeting should be held at once and proper resolutions passed on the matter and forwarded to Dr. Merryman. This city is not the only one that is interested in it. Every town in the county is as vitally interested as is Klamath Falls. Mass meetings should be held there and resolutions adopted and forwarded to Hon. George H. Merryman, House of Representatives, Salem.
