Psychic Phenomena Which Proved to Be Beyond Solution by Any of the Known Laws of Physical Science—A Puzzled Physicist.

Professor Lombroso, the Italian physicist, contributed to the Annales des Sciences Psychiques an account of two psychic phenomena which he investigated purely in the interests of material science. The article is entitled "Haunted Houses Which I Have Studied," and the professor confessed that he set about his investigations with nothing to be desired in the completeness of his skepticism.

The phenomena in question, however, proved to be beyond solution by any known laws of physical science. Frankly, the great criminologist admitted that for the first time in his life he was in the presence of the intangible and that he was worsted in his attempt to grapple with the unsubstantial.

"I was asked in November, 1900, to investigate some strange occurrences which had taken place at the house of Signor Pavarino by way of Pescatori, Turin. One phenomenon I was asked to explain was the mysterious overturning of cups and jugs, which were precipitated to the ground by some unseen agency.

"These occurrences were accompanied by loud knockings on the walls and the pulling of bells in various parts of the house. The youngest daughter was awakened on several occasions by blows aimed at her by some unseen hand, and her body on examination was found to be covered with bruises, the result of severe pinchings. Her sister, who slept in the same bed, felt nothing and was not disturbed in any way.

"The clash of rapiers was heard in the house at another time, accompanied by cries of anger and groans of anguish. Lights were also seen passing to and fro in unlighted rooms. An Alpine hat was continually moving about the room, and even when it was deliberately nailed to a chair an invisible hand precipitated it to the ground. All these mysterious happenings went on for eight months, and in regard to them I took the evidence of reliable persons, who testified that they had been eyewitnesses of the phenomena. Even when the bell ropes were removed from the bells the tinkling continued at all hours of the day and night.

"The scene changed to a house in the next street, by way of Bava, adjoining by way of Pescatori, where the newspapers of Turin began to chronicle mysterious occurrences of almost a similar nature to these which occurred in by way of Pescatori, cups and saucers, pans and kettles being juggled about by an unseen agency and causing at the time a most infernal row.

"In particular, one circumstance was most noteworthy. In the cellar, filled with full and empty bottles, much loss to the proprietor was caused by the smashing of the flasks by some unseen hand, but with every trace of method and willfulness in the way in which the breakage occurred. On my entrance into the cellar I lighted five candles, thinking that a supernatural spirit would avoid the light. On the contrary, I saw three empty bottles roll about as if pushed by a finger and break close by me. I made every possible investigation to discover a hidden trick, but to no avail. Several bottles were taken up in the air as if lifted by the hand and dashed to the ground.

"The wife of the proprietor left about that time for a visit to her father's. While she was away the occurrences ceased, only to break out again immediately on her return by way of Bava. The waiter of the house was then removed, and the occurrences ceased altogether, leaving it to be supposed, since no other hypothesis is probable, that he was the medium through which the phenomena were rendered possible.

"In May, 1903, I was asked to investigate another mysterious affair which happened in the family of a printer named Mignotti, also in Turin. It was noticed that when one of his children, a little boy, went to bed at night loud knockings began to be heard on the wall next to which he lay. A doctor, the police and myself were called in. We examined the walls and the rooms with great care.

"As soon as the boy was placed in his bed the knocking began. It was evidently conducted in an intelligent manner, and it was possible to establish some sort of communication. It was only, however, when the boy lay awake that the phenomenon occurred. As soon as he went to sleep the knocking became very vague and indistinct. He was clearly the immediate cause, though beyond a high fever, when the phenomenon was most frequent, he was in other respects a normal child. I state these facts clearly and absolutely as I witnessed them and confess my total inability to explain them."—Public Opinion.

Her Proudest Moment.
 Suffragette—The proudest moment of my life was when I was a passenger on an American liner and fell over the side. Friend—The proudest moment! But how do you mean? Suffragette—A sailor called out, "Man overboard!"—Liverpool Post.
