

DAIRY

Dairy is pleasantly situated on the west side of Yonka Valley, near the center of Klamath County. It has two good general stores with enterprising up-to-date dealers who enjoy a large trade from surrounding valleys; a hotel and feed barn, and a school house. It is surrounded by a rich farming community with which it is connected by a farmers' telephone line and also a long distance line. Is on the stage line, twenty miles east of Klamath Falls.

News is scarce and hard to pick up these days.

Nobody has been heard to complain of the lack of moisture in the ground this spring.

Might not Rockefeller better have left that thirty two millions with the people in the first place?

Several bridges are reported washed out in the north part of the valley by the late flood.

Colley Grey was in Dairy Monday. He has recovered from his late illness, and may return to Fort Klamath soon.

Chas. Horton, in company with his two boys, expects to start for Prineville, overland, on the 28th, on a stock-hunting trip. The present weather prognosticates a hazardous trip of it.

No mail from the outside world between Thursday and Tuesday, all because of the floods and washouts. It's pretty tough doing without reading matter.

This is a bad time of the year for butter eaters, and many families are obliged to do without. It seems to be between seasons for the cows, while dairy men are submerged with orders. The car shortage on the railroads is nothing compared to the butter shortage.

Judging by the weather of the past two or three years in this country it is apparent to the subscriber that February and March ought to change places on the calendar. Either that or that the weather bureau ought to be abolished. Nearly all through February the weather was about as "pleasant as May," while since March came in it has been—well, I'll not speak of it.

The rain storm which came on the evening of the 19th was a most severe one, and raised all the little rivulets into roaring rivers. Buck creek was the highest next morning it has been known to be for many years, spreading out in some places till it was a mile wide, and carrying away many fences. It also washed out dikes and fills along the roads which crossed it in several places, doing much damage. The freshest demonstrated that all of the bridges on the creek are too short by half to carry off the water. In consequence the road work of several years past will have to be done over again.

Somebody is circulating the report here that the discovery has been made that there is something wrong with the books of the Klamath Water Users Association which needs investigating at the approaching annual meeting. Your correspondent has tried to learn the source of the report, but has thus far failed. It is evidently circulated quietly with the object of injuring the chances of the re-election of the present board of directors.

Yonka postoffice is now a thing of entity, having a semi-weekly mail delivered to and from its precincts. The postoffice is located at the residence of Jacob Rueck, who is the postmaster. C. H. Carlson is the mail carrier, and I am told that he carries it for 90c per round trip—which is very cheap—also delivering it to the residents enroute. So Yonka valley has two postoffices within its limits.

I'm afraid there are too many "wait and see" kind of people around Dairy for the village ever to become a city. They are kickers by instinct and environment, and have no idea of the power there is in the united action of a community. It is astonishing to see men whose own farms within a mile or 100 of the village, "kicking" against building a new school house, while they admit that the old one is no longer fit for the children to be cooped up in. "May be we will have to build a bigger one in a year or two; let us wait and see." Such philosophy makes one very tired. The man who succeeds takes chances.
