Don't overlook a good thing. The remark was often made that St. Johns was too close to Portland to make a city. But look at St. Johns today. The same thing will happen here. South Midland is located in the center of the Klamath Basin; surrounded by hundreds of thousands of acres of rich agricultural and timber land, and on account of its central location and the fact that it is located on the main line of the S. P. R. R. now being constructed from Weed to Natron, which will connect Portland and Frisco, via Klamath County, it is safe to say that lots now selling as cheap as $50 will go like hot cakes in less than five years at $500.—Mark L. Burns, agent.
