

KLAMATH REPUBLICAN

E. J. MURRAY, Editor.

LEADING NEWSPAPER OF INTERIOR OREGON,
TWO DOLLARS PER YEAR IN ADVANCE

The Oregonian is no longer a straight out Republican paper. On the 29th ult. it so announced, and the change occasioned much surprise, and not a little chagrin, among the politicians of the State. The Oregonian has for years fought the battles of the Republican party in this State. It has done more than any one other agency to create men politically and place them on the pinnacle of fame. It has helped year in and year out to fight the political battles of men who, as soon as they were comfortably seated in the office to which they were elected, turned their guns on the one real friend they had and sought to destroy it. But these attacks only made it the stronger. The Oregonian has only experienced the ingratitude that has been the portion of party journals from time immemorial, and simply followed the course that all papers sooner or later take—that of independence. It is thus placed in the position its greatness demands—the true representative and champion of the people. When other papers throughout the State, and for that matter the nation, adopt a similar policy they will be freed from the annoyance of trying to escape assassination at the hands of their political friends.

In announcing its course, the Oregonian said:

"The Oregonian has done what it could to support the Republican party of Oregon. Republicans have not responded. They can now and henceforth support their party themselves, if they desire to do so. Like Romeo at the play, the Oregonian will be a candleholder and look on. It is tired of the effort to appeal on principles, political, social, financial, national and historic, to men who don't care for anything of the kind, but are actuated merely by selfish piques, petty desires and trifling personal ambitions.

"In many a contest the Oregonian has carried the flag; only to be deserted; and each failure was even more a defeat of the Oregonian—and the Oregonian was so taunted with it—than of the Republican party. Now, brethren if you want any success for the Republican party in Oregon, get into line and get to the front.

"Should the pressure upon President Roosevelt compel him to be a candidate again, the Oregonian will support him. Beyond that it has no announcement to make. It can be as independent as any of you, who have given this state and city over to the Democratic party. Since you neither know nor care anything about political principles, or the origin, course, tendencies and achievements of your own party, or the historic tendencies or record of the others, why should the Oregonian worry further? So get in now, and send your Democratic governor to the United States senate. You know your favorite idea is that one party is not preferable to the other.

"What do you intend?" Will you get out your life and drum? What for? You know you think that, on the whole, you may as well be Democrats or Republicans—or better. The Republican idea is that there should be no party in Oregon—but the Democratic."

Notice

Any water faucet or fixture left running, to prevent their freezing, will be sufficient cause to have such service shut off at the curb and a charge of 50c made for again turning it on. All services without a stop and waste cock, to prevent freezing, should have one installed immediately.

BONANZA ITEMS

Fred Fine's new residence is nearing completion.

Robert Goss is putting the finishing touches on his new residence on Price street.

Frank Grohs and family of the Rim Rock Ranch have moved into town for the winter.

Andrew Nichols has just completed a new residence on North street and moved his family in from the ranch southeast of town.

Levi McDonald and Margery Hoagland last week purchased two lots from Clarence Davis lying just west of Goss' Feed Stable and will immediately commence the erection of a feed and livery stable.

G. A. White of Royston has moved into the Ragan house for the winter, and Mr. Ragan is at Royston looking after the stage station.

Miss Maud Rippey, who has been teaching in Langell Valley, left for her home in Ashland last Saturday. She was accompanied by Miss Georgia Hoagland, who will attend school in Ashland this winter.

Ed Bloomingcamp of Bly was a Bonanza visitor last week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Hall and Mr. and Mrs. Hampton of Klamath Falls spent Thanksgiving in our city.

Mr. Wiseman of Marshfield, who came here two weeks ago and decided to locate here in the furniture business, just returned from Portland where he purchased a stock of goods and which he expects to arrive in a few days. He will open up his stock of goods in the Bauman Hall until a suitable building can be found.

Mr. Eldred, who recently opened up a harness and saddlery business, is more than pleased with the business and patronage that he has received in the short time that he has been located here. Mr. Eldred is the only saddle maker in Klamath county.

Mr. Besecker of Dallas, this State, has spent two weeks in this neighborhood looking over different ranches and has about decided to purchase. He leaves for his home this week and will probably move his family out here in the early spring.

Jean Wilkerson of Lorella last week purchased of E. F. Maxey, representing the Pine Ridge Stock Farm, of Salem, Iowa, the French draft stallion Alcautraz. Alcautraz is a bright bay, three years old and weighs 18.0 lbs. He has been examined by several of our best horsemen and has been pronounced to be one of the best horses ever brought into this country.

Mr. E. G. Lyle of St. Louis, Mo., spent a few days here the past week, looking over several large tracts of land for himself and friends who are desirous of purchasing land. Mr. Lyle left St. Louis the latter part of October and has examined several localities since that time but has decided that Klamath county has them all lashed to the mast for opportunities for investments in any kind of real estate.

The frame work for the new flouring mill was erected the past week. Roy I. Kilgore, of the firm who are building the mill, is now in Rogue River Valley looking looking up the milling business preparatory to starting work when the mill is completed.

L. D. Burk, Bert Doane, S. A. White and J. O. Hamaker were at Klamath Falls on Monday.

F. J. Bowne was at the Falls to answer the call as a juror.

Recipe Mixed Often

Some remarkable stories are being told about town and among the country people coming in of this simple home-made mixture curing Rheumatism and Kidney trouble. Here is the recipe and directions for taking: Mix by shaking well in a bottle one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Kargon, three ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Take as a dose one teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime.

No change need be made in your usual diet, but drink plenty of good water.

This mixture, writes one authority in a leading Philadelphia newspaper, has a peculiar tonic effect upon the kidneys; cleansing the clogged-up pores of the eliminative tissues, forcing the kidneys to sift and strain from the blood the uric acid and other poisonous waste matter, overcoming Rheumatism, Bladder and Urinary troubles in a short while.

A New York druggist who has had hundreds of calls for these ingredients since the first announcement in the newspapers last October stated that the people who once try it "swear by it," especially those who have Urinary and Kidney trouble and suffer with Rheumatism.

The druggists in this neighborhood say they can supply the ingredients, which are easily mixed at home. There is said to be no better blood-cleansing agent or system tonic known, and certainly none more harmless or simple to use.

To Catch Moths

Mr. Van Damme, of Clackamas county, offers the following plan to catch codlin moth, which he says he has tried with remarkable success for several years:

Take a sackcloth and saturate it well with sweet cider. Then hang the sack in the orchard, with one end open. At night place a lantern five or six feet away, the light of which will attract the moths. In the morning the sack will contain all the moths in the neighborhood. The time to put this trap into working order is just at the time the fruit trees begin to blossom.

THE CHRISTMAS STORE

This store is a vast emporium of pretty and useful things suitable for Xmas gifts. A satisfying sense of fitness permeates the place.

Why Early Buying Is Best

To buy intelligently one must buy early, for comfort and satisfaction follow in its wake. Exclusiveness has always been a strong point at this store, and many articles and designs cannot be reproduced nor can they be found elsewhere. Exclusiveness is what makes a gift appreciable and imparts to it that rare value.

In the lines enumerated below there are many divisions which give latitude in selection and contain something suitable for most anyone you may have on your list:
