

Great Is Klamath

Lie Passed

All the exhibits sent from this county, perhaps none ever attracted the attention that did the one sent to the National Stock Show, held recently in Chicago. The Union Pacific colonization department was attracted by the display and inserted in the Chicago paper a quarter-page advertisement calling the attention of the people to it. If it had not been one of superior merit the Union Pacific would not spend money in bringing it to the attention of the visitors of the stock show.

Many letters have already been received referring to it, one among them being from Frank Ira White if it were a fact that the products represented a fair average of what can be done here or if they were raised especially for the show. James Horsburg, Jr., general passenger agent of the Southern Pacific, visited the show to see the Klamath exhibit, and this is what he wrote to John C. Hill, of the Holcomb Realty Company: "I had the pleasure today of seeing as a central object in the booth at the International Live Stock Exposition, the eight-pound potato you mention. It is certainly big enough to attract attention and I understand it did not fail of doing so. The exhibit was seen by thousands of people during the past few days and I hope the effort put forth will result in commensurate benefit to the territory represented."

Sunday evening D. C. Campbell and George L. McDonough, colonizing agents of the Union Pacific and the men who had charge of the exhibit, arrived here for the purpose of getting personally acquainted with the conditions existing here. In discussing the matter with a representative of the Republican, they stated:

"If the people of the west think for a moment that the people of the middle west are not interested in this section they are mistaken. Anyone who witnessed the interest manifested in the Klamath and Butte Valley exhibits would readily recognize the fact that there is a 'move westward' spirit rampant in the middle west and that it is going to result in settling up every acre of agricultural land west of the Rockies. Nearly half a million people saw the Klamath exhibit and we handed out over one hundred thousand pamphlets containing information relative to this and other sections on our lines. It was a wise thing for the people here to send that exhibit, for it is bound to be productive of a great good."

After looking over the field, they left for Butte Valley Wednesday morning.

The controversy between Senator Fulton and Attorney Heney is getting warm, and the prospects for a regular Kilkinney scrap are exceedingly bright. The following from the Portland Journal would indicate that the Senator and Attorney are getting ready to be very pointed in their remarks:

Characterizing F. J. Heney as one of a "band of assassins," who are conspiring to wreck him politically, Senator Fulton brands as a malicious lie Heney's published assertion that he has evidence proving that the Oregon Senator is corrupt deal with John H. Hall to shield land crooks from indictment.

Heney's accusation was contained in an interview published during his recent visit to Portland. When the Journal correspondent called upon Senator Fulton and informed him of the charges made by Heney, the senator at first contented himself with the following reply:

"Of course I have absolutely no knowledge of what Heney means. I have no interview therefore to give excepting to say that it's a lie. I have not the least notion in the world what he can mean in saying such things. I cannot add a word to this statement."

Fulton said he must know more explicitly the nature of Heney's allegations before he could make an extended statement. He said it would be fighting in the dark to do more.

Heney's accusation against Senator Fulton was contained in an interview published last Tuesday, during his brief visit to Portland. He had been asked whether he was not still as much interested in having a reliable man in the office of United States district attorney as when he secured the appointment of William C. Bristol, to which Heney replied:

"It should be remembered that at that time one of Oregon's senators was convicted; also one of its representatives was under two indictments, and that I had evidence to prove the other senator corrupt and engaged in a corrupt deal with John H. Hall, United States district attorney, to shield land crooks from indictment."

Senator Fulton later decided to reply more fully to Heney. He said:

"I do not know just what Heney said, but if, as reported, he charges that I had been guilty of any manner of corruption or of seeking to protect any violator of the law from legal prosecution, I brand the statement as a willful, deliberate, malicious lie."

"I assume he refers to the old charge that I promised to support Hall on condition that he would protect Brownell. That charge I long ago met and refuted, and it is too stale to revive now."

"Only one actuated by vindictive malice will attempt it. I have no apology to offer for my opposition to the confirmation of Bristol should that ever become an issue, and I will easily justify my course. Not only was I not responsible for the withdrawal of his nomination at this time, but on the contrary I knew nothing about it, nor have I ever attempted to prevent him trying the land fraud cases. On the contrary, I have at all times advised that he be retained until after they were disposed of. If necessary this can be proved by members of the judiciary committee of the department of justice and by the president. During the last four years I have been constantly and maliciously pursued by the little cabal dominated by Heney, who have resorted to every species of calumny and distortion of truth in order to injure my standing before the people of Oregon and bring about my defeat for re-election. We shall see how far the people will approve such methods."

New Forms and Proofs

New forms of applications for Homestead Entry, Soldier's Additional Homestead Entry, Desert Land Entry, and for Timber or Stone Sworn Statements, Timber or Stone Final Proofs, and Yearly Proof in Desert Land cases, have been adopted, and on and after March 1, 1908, no entries will be allowed in the class of cases above mentioned unless executed upon the new official forms, or upon forms which are exact duplicates thereof, both as to wording, arrangement, and size. Each of said forms is a combination of the several forms and affidavits formerly required to be filed in such cases, and the use thereof will result in a saving of time, labor and expense to the local land officers, proof-taking officers, and claimants.

FROM OUR EXCHANGES

[Bonanza Bulletin]
Two hundred head of stock cattle belonging to S. W. Kilgore & Sons were driven through Bonanza Wednesday to the feeding grounds of S. W. Kilgore on Lost River near Klamath Falls.

Last Saturday night some one broke into the saloon of Cox & Robinson. They wrenched the top from one of the slot machines and broke out the glass in the front, but it was supposed that the noise of the breaking glass scared the intruders away. Nothing has been missed more than a few bottles of whiskey.

Last Friday another panther measuring about eight feet was captured in the hills east of Langell valley by H. F. Swingle and Ivan Kilgore. The head and hide were presented to the Secretary of the panther club, and the reward of $20 was paid. Mr. Swingle will send the hide and head below and have a rug made of the same.

[Merrill Record]
Mrs. P. R. Merrill leaves tomorrow for Willows, Cal., where she will visit with friends and relatives.

Among some hogs which N. C. Merrill butchered this week were four which together tipped the scales at 1995 pounds. One alone weighed 628 lbs. Pretty hard to beat in any county.

J. Frank Adams has secured the contract of Abner Weed to construct a levee along the edge of the Weed land bordering Wood river, in this county, and also to cut a ditch seven miles long, 24 feet in width and four feet deep by which the land will be irrigated.

J. Frank Adams informs us the decrease in the depth of the waters of Tule lake as shown by government measurement at his place, amount to one inch within the past two weeks. When the vast size of this body of water is taken into consideration and the further fact that this is the season of precipitation and not of evaporation, it will be readily recognized that the newly discovered outlet is gradually lowering the lake. Mr. Adams is hiring men and procuring heavy crowbars, picks, chains, a derrick, and other machinery, and proposes to try to enlarge the channel sufficiently to allow as much water as runs in Lost river to flow out. This should soon demonstrate whether or no the present outlet is permanent or is merely running into a large cave in the lava beds that will eventually become filled up, causing the water to again rise to its old level.

Pointed Paragraphs

The following, sent the Republican by a Klamath County merchant is worth reading:

Intelligent competition is the life of trade.

Getting credit is as much a habit as it is a necessity, and more so with some people.

Your merchant is not a millionaire. What makes you think he ought to credit you for a year?

Merchants are required to pay in 30 to 60 days. Have you paid your bill as you promised?

You may only owe $10, but you are only one of a hundred or more. 10X100—1000.

If everybody paid cash as they went, you could buy cheaper.

Catalogue houses don't bother with butter and eggs, or any old thing, just to please you. They take cash only. Don't overlook this.

Don't take dirty eggs to town; clean them.

Leave the little undersized eggs at home. You are not willing to take twelve ounces of coffee for a pound. "Live and let live."

Don't ask for more than you are willing to give.

Don't speculate with money you owe your merchant. Go and pay him as you promised.

Paste these remarks in your hat so you can be reminded of your duty once in awhile.

Notice is hereby given that the partnership heretofore existing between Baldwin and Hughes is dissolved, James H. Hughes retiring. The business will in the future be conducted by the undersigned who assumes any indebtedness existing and will collect all accounts due the firm.
