It took the Fourth of July committee about five months to publish its first report. Wonder if it will take it that long to answer the Republican's questions?

The Republican asked the committee last week if it would be willing to turn over to two accountants appointed by the Civic Federation all of the books and papers connected with the Fourth of July celebration, but no reply has been forthcoming. The Republican would like to see these accountants appointed, in order that it might have the questions answered that it asked two weeks ago.

According to the report published by the Fourth of July committee it had at its disposal something over $1000, and yet that was not sufficient to pay its debts. Now when the creditors are asking for an accounting they are met with abuse and charges of grafting. However, when a fellow is after the collection of an honest account he is not going to be scared off by the ban-shee cry of the person who gave him the sack. The Republican is not the only one that was handed a cold biscuit by the committee. There are others and they are about as desirous as we are that the committee shows what it did with all of the money paid in.

The editor of the Lakeview Herald is "warned under the collar" because he was not chosen as Receiver of the land office. He presumes that Mr. Cronmiller is a fine fellow, (and in this presumption he is correct) but that when the state delegation undertakes to say that only "loyal Republicans" are going to be placed on guard it is a little more than he can stand. He assumes that the reason he was not appointed was the support of Governor Chamberlain last year, but points to the fact that Bourne was a populist a short time ago and Watson fought Brittain! Well, brother, in 1907 it would seem that a new leaf was turned over, on which was written "Place only Republicans on guard." That rule is certain to hold good for a while at least, so that the best thing you can do is to get in line and not back over the traces any more, nor threaten to support Chamberlain again. If you have an itching for office you must stand up and be counted. If you have not, then you can do as you please.

THE DIRECT PRIMARY

It would seem that the wave of enthusiasm that swept on to the statute books of this state the direct primary law is subsiding and that it is only a question of time before it will be either repealed or become a dead letter. This is the conclusion that is being reached throughout the state by leaders in both parties since Senator Mulkey decided that he could not muster enough strength to win for him the toga that has been worn for the past six years by Senator Fulton. In withdrawing from the race Mr. Mulkey gave, as one of the principal reasons the lukewarm support he received by the advocates of State-ment No. 1. He was an out and out advocate of this feature of the primary law, believing, no doubt, that it would do for him what it did for Bourne, land him in the Senate. But it did not work, for the people throughout the State are beginning to realize that the direct primary law, that great instrument that was going to emancipate the people of Oregon and make them independent of the boss and the hoodler is a large pure and simple. They see now that it is the man with money who wins, for no poor man can go up against it and win a nomination. It costs too much for printers' ink and postage and other "incidental" expenses. The poor, deluded mortal who had high aspirations to serve his State in one capacity or another and who believed that by a direct primary he could circumvent the schemes of the boss is now seeing that he is worse off than he was before, for he has absolutely no show whatever, unless he has a good sized bank account to start with.

Like all new experiments, it met with popular favor the first time it was tried, but as soon as the first trial was over it was seen that the triumph of the will of the people was a myth. They saw that it was not representative and that the Republicans of the State were hoodwinked into supporting it by the Democrats, for the latter were the only ones to be benefited by its operation. The next move to be made is one looking to its repeal. There are many men prominent in state politics who would be glad to take the first step, if they thought it would prove a popular one. But these are not the men who will bring about its repeal. It will be the man who has the courage of his convictions, who will go out among the people of the State, explain to them the fallacy of the law and help them to reach an intelligent understanding as to its value. There may be such a man in Oregon. We hope there is; and that the time is not far distant when his voice will be heard throughout the State summoning the Republicans back from the ranks of populism and socialism whither they drifted when they permitted themselves to be fooled into voting for such a law as the direct primary.

Another week has passed by and yet no report from the Fourth of July committee. It would seem that for its own vindication a report would be forthcoming. The Republican asked some questions that the committee ought not to have any difficulty in answering. It kicked up an awful lot of dust about the way we have been grafting, and we have been trying to figure out why the work was done with so much vim and vigor. Surely it was not for the purpose of getting the public to look in an opposite direction, for it is impossible to believe that the committee would have an ulterior motive in abusing us.

Tells How to Mix it

A well known authority on Rheumatism gives the readers of a large New York daily paper the following valuable, yet simple and harmless prescription, which any one can easily prepare at home:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Mix by shaking well in a bottle, and take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime. He states that the ingredients can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy at small cost, and, being of vegetable extraction, are harmless to take. This pleasant mixture, if taken regularly for a few days, is said to overcome almost any case of Rheumatism. The pain and swelling, if any, diminishes with each dose, until permanent results are obtained, and without injuring the stomach. While there are many so-called Rheumatism remedies, patent medicines, etc., some of which do give relief, few really give permanent results, and the above will, no doubt be greatly appreciated by many sufferers here at this time.

Inquiry at the drug stores of this neighborhood elicits the information that these drugs are harmless and can be bought separately, or the druggists here will mix the prescription for our readers if asked to.

Had to Do Something.
A cabby was brought to the police station for having hit one of his fares over the head during a dispute about his payment.

"Couldn't you explain to the gentleman without hitting him?" inquired the magistrate.
"Yes, sir, of course I know I was wrong, but, you see, I had jumped off the box, and I couldn't do that for nothing."—Now Louisiana.

Allspice.
Pimento, a dark colored berry, is the size of a pea with the remains of the calyx attached and possesses an odor and flavor resembling a mixture of cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg, from which fact it derives the name of allspice. While an inferior variety grows in Mexico and parts of Central and South America, Jamaica is the only country in the world from which pimento is exported.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury

Mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists. Price, 75c. per bottle.
