Charles Pattee, the prominent Bonanzaite, is in the city. He emphatically states that he is not a candidate for any county office and will not be. He is too busy making money to waste his time running for office. The fact that at the near future of Bonanza is unusually bright and that this summer will be filled with many good things for that town, is the magnet that holds Mr. Pattee in the ranks of the money-makers of the county.

John Jones, who has been sojourning on his homestead near Dairy, was in the city Saturday.

Many of the farmers throughout the county have taken to the fields with their plows, and the prospects are that the sod will be turned from 30 to 60 days earlier than usual. This is the kind of weather that makes the farmer extremely happy. And there are others.

F. P. Cronemiller's appointment as receiver of the Lakeview land office was confirmed by the Senate this week. All that now remains is the receipt of the commission and filing of the bond.

Lost or stolen, the usual Klamath county winter weather. It would seem that the people of the Willamette valley walked off with what we generally have here and left in its place their wet and foggy climate. The oldest of the old timers is scratching his head when he begins to compare this winter with that of, well let us see. But he generally cannot "see."

No Hold-Up

The reported hold-up on the bridge last Thursday evening turns out to have been a mistake. Mr. Rosecrans had made an appointment to meet Capt. Hansberry on the bridge and was waiting for him when George Hawxhurst passed. He was mistaken for Hansberry and Rosecrans remarked that he was not the man he wanted. Hawxhurst believing that it was an attempted hold-up reported the matter to the police, who on visiting the bridge found no one, the Captain having come along in the meantime.
