Plea for the University

There is one question to be voted on at the June election that is of greater importance than any political office. That is the referred bill supporting the State University.

The citizens of the state of Oregon can afford to maintain their own university, and should have too much independence and Kansas, who spend four to six hundred thousand dollars per year on state universities to come into a state where a fraction of that sum is reluctantly given. Sixty per cent of the students in Oregon high schools today have entered the state within the last five years. We want more of that kind of people.

The proposed appropriation will cost the people of this state less than twenty five cents each. The tax will be but twenty five cents per $1000 on the tax roll. Would you begrudge this small amount to educate your or your, neigh-
