The people of the Upper Project are now signing up their lands, and it is very probable that if the bids, or either one of them, should be satisfactory that actual construction work may be begun on the Clear Lake Dam this year. A decided effort is being made to get all landowners to sign up at once so that Klamath County the delay will not be the fault of the people, if any delay should follow. Several parties have recently visited the parties who have not signed their lands for government irrigation and chances secured within a few weeks. The local Reclamation office has been advised that but two bids were received on the Clear Lake Dam. The work is divided into two schedules, the first being the dam proper and the second the dike at the lower end of the lake. The bids received were as follows:

Mahoney Bros., of San Francisco, schedule 1, $84,950; schedule 2, $30,820; total, $115,770.

Maney Bros., of Winnemucca, Nev., schedule 1, $157,045: schedule 2, $31,-930; total, $188,980.
