The Vital Parts of a Studebaker Are Made Just Right

The vital parts—and every part of the Studebaker wagon—are made just right! That's why the Studebaker is the most economical—costs you less per year. They last longer—so the original cost is less per year. They need fewer repairs—so the repair cost is less per year—not to mention saving in time. They are lighter draft—so they cost you less in horse feed. Horses cost more than wagons; light draft saves horses. Studebaker wagons run more easily than others because each wheel is perfectly proportioned, with the box of the hub set in the exact center. The skin is so set that the wheel runs straight ahead under a load and cannot rub, bind or grind on the axle. Studebaker hubs never hug either nut or collar. That's another reason why the Studebaker is of such wonderfully light draft. It makes hard loads easy for horses.

And it stands up under hard loads. The Studebaker has a carrying capacity at least 40% greater than that of the ordinary wagon. Because skin, axle, spoke, hub and tire are made just right. The skins have a transverse strength 25% greater than that required by the United States Government. The axles are 3/4 inch deeper than others, and are made from selected butt-cut Black Hickory, air-dried from 3 to 5 years. The hubs are extra large in diameter—made from the best procurable wood. The famous Studebaker slope-shoulder spokes carry the largest amount of wood into the hub, and are stronger than others are weaker. The tires are 1 1/2 inch deep, and are perfectly fitted to each wheel so that there is no such thing as a quickly loosening Studebaker tire. No wonder the largest and best equipped vehicle factory in the world is required to meet the demand for the Studebaker. We are proud to sell the Studebaker. See us.

Ranchers' Stock Trespassing

The government has recently had trouble with ranchmen living in the vicinity of the Klamath Indian agency whose cattle and horses have been ranging on the reservation. As a result several of these men are to be prosecuted by Uncle Sam. Representatives of the government at the agency have corralled several bunches of the cattle and are now arranging, through the district attorney's office in Portland, to file suit against these violators of the law.

The treaty between Uncle Sam and the Indians was signed at Klamath lake October 14, 1861. J. W. Perit Huntington and William Logan, commissioners of the United States, represented the government when these articles of agreement were entered into relative to the land on the summit of the Cascade mountains.

Three tribes of Indians took part in the transaction. Some of the names of the chiefs and headmen of the Moloks, and the Snakes and the Klamaths, all of whom signed the treaty and whose names appear in the statutes of the United States, are as follows:

Keint-poo, Chuck-ei-ox, Kile to-ak, Mughen-Kit, Blow, Le-In, Poo-sak-sult, Cheenult, No-ak-sum, Mooch-kat-allek, Toon-ki-yeon, Toon-tuck-to, Ski-a-lie, Tat-tet-pas, Mok-has, La-lake, Chilo-que-nas, Sky-to-ock-et and Ya-hooksin.

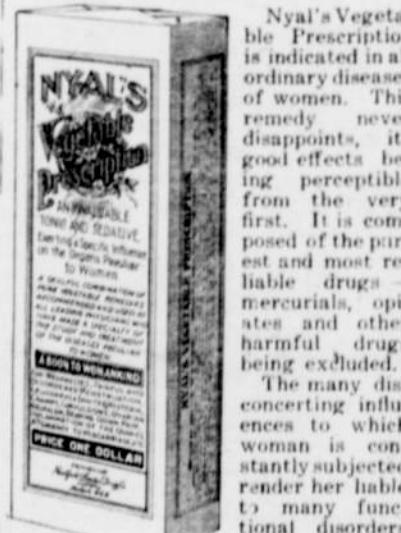

Throughout the entire Klamath basin the prospects for average crops are very good. Dry land crops are looking quite well, but are not as far advanced as they usually are at this time of the year.

In the vicinity of Merrill the alfalfa fields, which are under the ditch, give promise of at least an average yield at the first cutting. The haying season will be a few weeks later this year than last year, and the cutting of alfalfa will begin in the course of a week or two. In some places in the lower part of the valley a few small patches have already been cut, but on all of the large ranches preparations are just being made to begin the hay harvest. Most of the large stockmen are of the opinion that there will be enough hay to supply the demand and that the price of stock cattle will keep up throughout the entire feeding season.

Summons
In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for the County of Klamath.
Joseph M. Moore, Plaintiff vs.
Willey Moore, Defendant.
To Willey Moore, the above named defendant, in the name of the State of Oregon: You are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled suit, on or before the 14th day of August, 1908, the time prescribed in the order for publication, the first publication hereof being on July 2, 1908, and if you fail to so appear and answer, or want thereof the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief prayed for in the complaint. For a decree dissolving the bonds of matrimony existing between plaintiff and defendant, that defendant be forever barred of any interest in any property of plaintiff, and for such further relief as to the court may appear just and equitable in the premises.
This summons is served by publication thereof in the Klamath Republic by order of the Honorable J. B. Griffith, county judge of said county, dated June 29, 1908, requiring this summons to be published once a week for six successive weeks.
C. C. Brewer,
Attorney for Plaintiff.

Doc Lightbody, who was formerly engaged in the painting business in this city, has returned here from Red Bluff, Cal., where he has resided for the past year. He expects to remain in this city.

Frank Faulkner, who has been in the employ of the Linkville Saddlery Co. for several months, has resigned his position and will leave for Portland in the morning.

Nyal's Vegetable Prescription is indicated in all ordinary diseases of women. This remedy never disappoints, its good effects being perceptible from the very first. It is composed of the purest and most reliable drugs—mercurials, opiates and other harmful drugs being excluded. The many disconcerting influences to which woman is constantly subjected render her liable to many functional disorders that not only tend to destroy her comfort and happiness, but which gradually merge into chronic and serious diseases.

Nyal's Vegetable Prescription is without a peer for the successful treatment of female weakness, painful and disordered menstruation, hysteria, cramps, "bearing down pains," inflammation and falling of the womb. This is a remedy of sterling worth.
