It is stated on good authority that the members of the gang were so bold, that even when a man saw another man riding one of his horses he was afraid to protest. If he entered a claim to the animal he was given a warning which was usually sufficient to keep him quiet.

Welsh was brought back to the city the next day and Tuesday appeared before the Grand Jury to give his testimony in the case. The trial which will come up within the next two weeks will attract the greatest attention throughout the entire county. The conviction of the gaug, it is believed, will wipe out cattle and horse stealing in this county. The country is fast settling up and the opportunities for this kind of work are not as great as when the country was more sparsely settled.
