The Methodist ladies gave a play called "The Old Maid's Convention," Friday night. The old maids were all there with their pets, face powders and lunches. They were contemplating a trip to the Sunny South, where the bachelors reign supreme, when Prof. Makeover appeared on the scene and demonstrated that he could change or make them over into anything they wished to be. Some came out as twins, men, prima donnas, and bologna sausages. The singing was fine, especially the numbers rendered by little Baulah Rhodes, whose voice is wonderful for a child. After the play they had a Lincoln Tableau. This play was well worth 50 cents anywhere, and the Methodist ladies deserve much credit for the able way in which they put the entertainment before the public, especially as they were handicapped for stage room, and the room was a very hard place to sing in. The Lincoln Tableau was especially fine, great credit being due Miss Nellie Garrison in the role of Freedom. "Forgotten" was very sweetly rendered by Mrs. John Patterson. "Dreaming" was rendered by Mrs. Young, who has a very sweet voice. Those taking the parts of old maids were: Mesdames Barrows, Carr, Patterson, Harter, Clemens, Wilson, Tenbrook, Young, Johnson, Misses Lena Kattenhorn, Yretta Johnson, Jessie and Nellie Garrison, Gypsy Johnston, Lucy, Ada and Alice Turner. Rudolph Kattenhorn took the part of Prof. Makeover.

HOT AIR OR A RAILROAD?

Indications are that the Modoc Northern railroad is to be built, and that work is to commence in the near future. The survey has been made and the engineers are now making locations. The people of Merrill are very anxious that the road pass through that town. The survey as made only comes within a mile of Merrill.

W. P. Rhodes, who is in the city from Merrill, states that they have taken the matter up with the officials of the road and have offered to donate depot grounds if the road runs to Merrill. They have been considerably encouraged and an agreement will soon be signed donating about 18 acres for this purpose to the railroad. Mr. Rhodes himself will give ten acres. In consideration of going through Merrill, the railroad, besides the depot site, wants the people to procure the right of way from Merrill to this city.

Mr. Rhodes states that he has been discussing the matter with S. E. Martin and other business men of Merrill who are in town, and they believe they will have no trouble to secure the rights of way to Henley. They do not know what can be done between here and Henley, but think the people of this section should assist them to this end. They have practically agreed to take up the matter and furnish depot grounds free, on condition that the railroad is built within two years. They have been assured that that will be sufficient

HIGH FREIGHT SHIPMENTS.

These are busy days with the Navigation Company and the transfer companies on account of the large shipments being received. Saturday was the biggest day for business that the Navigation Company has had since they began business, and they probably delivered more freight than has ever been brought into Klamath Falls in one day before.

Twelve full carloads were unloaded at the wharf, during last week. These were unloaded from the cars at Holland and brought to this city on barges without any delay whatever. Among the shipments were: one carload each of agricultural implements, potatoes, lumber, plaster and grain, and seven carloads of merchandise. This does not include the small shipments of goods which were handled on the boat.

Monday was also another big day. The following cars have been received so far this week: One carload of potatoes, one car of sugar, two cars of lumber, and five cars of merchandise. The indications are that this week the freight received will average two carloads a day. Practically all of this freight is for Klamath Falls people, and indicates either that business must be exceptionally good or the merchants are laying in a big stock for future use. It is evident that the former must be the case, as since the approach of the railroad, the merchants do not find it necessary to carry a big surplus of stock to last them through many months of bad weather. When they had to depend on the freight teams for hauling their freight they only bought about two or three times a year and in the fall always bought enough goods to last them until spring.

Since the withdrawal of the freight teams and the direct connection by rail and water, the merchants buy oftener and thus are able to always keep their stock fresh and complete. This convenience in the receiving of freight apparently does not surprise the business men and they seem to accept it as if they had always been used to it. If these immense shipments of freight which have been received during the past week had to be hauled by freight teams, as in the not very distant past, it would take months to clean it up. Now, however, it is delivered to the merchants the day following that when it reaches the terminus of the railroad.

TAFT WANTS CO-OPERATION OF STATE GOVERNORS.

HATTIESBURG, Miss., Feb. 13.—The principal speech President-elect W. H. Taft delivered today in the course of his trip north was at Hattiesburg.

"I think," he said, "it is well that the Governors of the states and the President of the United States should have a close association in order that in the great reforms to be accomplished in many directions, especially that of the conservation of our resources, there may be team-work between the states and the United States so that we shall all work together."

"Whoever you preferred before the election, I am willing to accept your kindly and hospitable welcome as an indication that although somebody else was selected in spite of you, you are willing to take me as a sort of a bad second. But, seriously, my friends, it is a very great pleasure for me to come into the South and receive the cordial welcome, the cordial personal welcome, I may say, that I have received at every hand, by white and black, in Georgia, South Carolina, Louisiana and Mississippi, and especially in Hattiesburg."

London is probably the wealthiest city in the world. Its property is insured from fire at $5,200,289,230. Despite this, however, there is a large amount of poverty. The figures show that one person in every 33 is a pauper. Twenty persons in every 100 die in a workhouse or a workhouse infirmary.
