READY TO CO-OPERATE.

What is going to be the condition of affairs on the Klamath Project this year? This is the question that is agitating the minds of the people of this city and county at the present time. Spring is at hand and the fine weather indicates that there is not to be a recurrence of the storms usually expected at this period. With present weather conditions prevailing there is no reason why work on the project should not forge ahead and this year mark one of the greatest in the march towards completion. It was with some such thoughts in their minds that several of the leading citizens of this city started a movement looking toward the extending of the glad hand to the new supervising and project engineers, who have been here for the past several days. It was unfortunate for the consummation of these plans that Mr. Hopson was called suddenly to Portland. In consequence of his departure nothing will be done in the matter until he returns again to this city, which will be in the course of the next month. It was for the purpose of showing these gentlemen that no matter what had occurred in the past and what mistakes had been made, the people here were ready to co-operate with them and the Service for the best interests of the Klamath Project. That mistakes have been made is admitted, but if it were not for mistakes the world would still be in the garden of Eden and no progress would have been made. It is hoped that through the errors of the past will come a cohesion of all forces looking towards the promotion of the welfare of this county.

Two weeks from now the Board of Directors of the Water Users Association will hold a meeting and will take further steps to make it plain to the Service that the Association is ready and willing to do everything within its power to aid in the work. Project Engineer Patch will be asked to be present and meet the directors and every effort will be made to wipe out any breach that may or may not have existed in the past. Mr. Patch comes here under a new Supervising Engineer; conditions are such that he should not be handed a legacy of discontent and trouble; everything should be done to maintain a degree of harmony between the Service, the Association and the people as will force things ahead and make up for the time that has been lost. When Mr. Hopson returns the plans for entertaining and meeting him and Mr. Patch should be carried out and these gentlemen given to understand that there exists but one feeling towards them and the Service—that of sincere co-operation. When they see that such is the case, then there will be no further fear of any diversion of the funds that Klamath so sorely needs.

LA FOLLETTE AND CHAMBERLAIN TO TALK.

NEW YORK, March 11.—"Direct Primary Nominations" will be the subject of an address by Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, at a meeting to be held by the Civic Forum at Carnegie Hall tomorrow evening. He will be introduced by Senator Chamberlain, of Oregon, who owes his seat in the Senate to the primary law in that state, having been elected by a Republican Legislature bound by their primary law pledges, although Mr. Chamberlain is himself a Democrat.

POPULATION OF PEKING.

United States Minister William W. Rockhill forwards detailed statistics showing the census of the population of Peking made during 1908 by the Imperial Chinese home office (Min-cheng-Pu) after the new division of the city into 23 police districts. Mr. Rockhill summarizes the returns: The census was made by "families" and these in turn were divided into "principal families" and "additional tenants" and "sub-tenants." The total number of families in the inner or Tartar city is given as 79,999, and in the outer or Chinese city as 46,999, making a total of 128,008 families.

Recent Japanese official works give the number of people per household in the urban districts of Japan as about 4.99. An unofficial census made in 1907 of the city of Swatow in Kuang-tung province works out 5.4 per household and the unofficial census of 1881 of Wen-chou in Chekiang province. About 5.5 may be taken provisionally as a fair approximate average. This would make the present population of Peking exclusive of the suburbs (but they are unimportant), 693,044 persons.

CITY BRIEFS.

J. F. Goeller left Wednesday for Portland on a business trip.

Frank Bloomingcamp, of Merrill, went out on the boat Wednesday.

Gilbert Anderson has been in the city for a few days from Dairy.

W. E. Seehorn, of the American Hotel, left Wednesday for Tracy, California, to attend the funeral of his father, who died yesterday.

"I Aim to be Reliable" Stephens gladdened the hearts of several of Erin's sons Wednesday by presenting to them shamrocks from the "Auld dard."

A large number of the friends of Will W. Baldwin were at the wharf when the boat came in this evening expecting his return with his bride. They were all well supplied with rice and prepared to give the young couple a warm welcome, but were doomed to disappointment as it was learned that they would not arrive until tomorrow evening.

A card-playing contest, which has raged continuously 20 years, came to an end this week at Marcelona, Mich., when John W. Wallace scooped in D. W. Lazelle's pedro and remarked, "That puts me out." Twenty years ago, while at a social affair, Lazelle and Wallace each claimed the village pedro championship. Contention resulted in a challenge, the championship to go to the one who first won ten straight games. Each day or evening, Sundays excepted, they played at either one or the other's home. In that 20 years of continuous play, through spare time and study, they acquired a working knowledge of the game that has made them opponents none else dare tackle. Several times one man got six or seven straight games, but not until the other night did one succeed in getting ten games straight. Although they played with all aggressiveness and skill at their command, and there were many close and exciting periods, they never had a quarrel and not a single "cuss word" was uttered.

A most interesting acknowledgment of the apples sent by the Portland Commercial Club to King Edward comes in a letter from Buckingham Palace, written by General D. M. Brobyn, Keeper of the Privy Purse to His Majesty, King Edward, to one of Oregon's best known and most respected citizens, R. E. Brerton.

A little extract from General Brobyn's letter is interesting: "The five boxes of apples which were sent to His Majesty arrived quite safely and were thought very highly of by the King and others who tasted them. I write to convey His Majesty's thanks for the fruit. "Should we all live for another Christmas, and if you will kindly send directly to me at Sandringham a small supply of these apples, writing me a few lines of warning of their dispatch, I promise to bring them to the notice of the King and His Majesty's guests assembled at Sandringham at that season of the year, and will give you a full report of them."

According to daily press reports wireless telephony has not proved an unqualified success on the battleship fleet. It was impossible to send messages over any great distance except under the most favorable conditions, and when the telephone was in use the telegraph had to keep silent. Wireless telephony is still in its infancy and cannot be expected to compete with wireless telegraphy at the present time. The main trouble seems to be the difficulty of controlling in so delicate an instrument as a telephone transmitter the powerful currents necessary in any spark-gap system.
