ATTRACTIONS AT SEATTLE.

SEATTLE, June 15.—Whisked through mountains at lightning speed on the scenic railway, rolled down a steep incline in a tub, one minute surrounded by savage Igorrotes, the next lost in an Egyptian pyramid, the visitor at the Pay Streak of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition at Seattle has a lifetime of experience in an hour or two.

To anyone who is bored with life and wishes new sensations, the Pay Streak is "Paradise on wheels." If it is speed he wishes, there is the pneumatic tube railway, where he is shot through a half-mile of underground tube in half a minute.

For the brave there are the Foolish House and the Mountain Slide. In the first the victim stands on his head one minute and on his feet the next. His hat is suddenly swept from his head and while he is vainly searching for it, it comes back as suddenly as it went and lands at his feet. In the Mountain Slide, with a piece of carpet as a seat, the visitor glides through wild canyons and mountains at ticklish speed.

Entering the Battle of the Monitor and Merrimac, a panorama of the first battle of ironclads is realistically before him. In like manner the famous Battle of Gettysburg is portrayed.

Real Alaska "fairies" waltz with you in the Klondike dance hall, but you buy "soft" drinks.

The Eskimo village takes the visitor on a journey through the wild north. The next stop is the Trip on the Yukon, where a boat is furnished and in a twinkling the scene is changed to a broad panoramic river. The Streets of Cairo, Disneyland and Gay Parade furnish a touch of high life for all. The noise, the crowds and the excitement of the Pay Streak make it an immensely popular place.

ENOUGH TO SCARE ANY ONE.

While out walking with her papa and mama one day, Florence, aged four, ran some little distance ahead. As she got near a mule hitched to a farmer's wagon the animal began to bray. She wheeled instantly, and running to her mother as fast as she could go, "Oh, mama, mama said samfin!"

ENGINEER AT MEDFORD

Department of Agriculture Begins Examination for Crater Lake Road.

Uncle Sam has made good his promises as regards furnishing an engineer to supervise the construction of the Crater Lake road. Benjamin F. Heidel, assistant engineer of the office of public roads, Department of Agriculture, arrived in this city Friday morning and has spent two days between this city and Prospect with Dr. J. M. Keene, a member of the Crater Lake Road Commission. During the next thirty days he will go over the various possible routes and gather data, and expects to have his preliminary work completed within thirty days, so that he can throw surveys into the field to take up the detailed plan of construction. The work to be done during the next month will consist of choosing the best route and studying it from all possible standpoints. The surveyors will then make up detailed specifications, so that contracts can be let for the actual construction of the road. These contracts will be let in sections.

Engineer Heidel expresses himself as charmed with the possibilities of the road to the lake. While he only went as far as Prospect, what he saw highly pleased him. He was especially delighted with the Mill Creek falls. He was taken out over the Rogue river route by Dr. Keene, crossing the Bybee bridge, and returned the other road, coming back through Eagle Point.

"If the lake is much more beautiful than it is reported to be as the Mill Creek falls proved, then, indeed, it is the great wonder of the world. I am most heartily satisfied with the orders that sent me to this section to undertake this work for the Crater Lake road will be a wonderful drive. It will prove of great benefit to the entire State. Not alone will the lake be an attraction, but Oregon will boast of one of the most wonderful roads in the United States. I am judging this on my trip to Prospect for this trip is one of great pleasure even over the present roads."—Medford Tribune.

To the hired man: You can be a man whom the whole neighborhood will want. How? Just by being fair and square, earnest, honest, good-natured and clean in all your life. No out-of-work times for such a man. 2-15f
