SHIPPER'S LAMENT. (With apologies to King.)

If I should die to-night
And Brewer should come to my cold corpse and say,
Weeping and heart sick o'er my lifeless clay—
If I should die to-night
And Brewer should come in deepest grief and woe—
And say—"Here's a check for that old claim we owe"—
I would sit up in my great
white cravat,
And say, "What's that?"

If I should die to-night
And I should see a vision "F" forty-two-unseen—
Referring to the freight I paid on one big wash machine
(And never got)
And I should hear a voice, right
there and then
That said, "To pay that claim, here's a check for ten."
I might arise the while
But I'd drop dead again.

CONGRESSMAN HAWLEY TO HAVE OPPOSITION.

Reported That W. K. Newell Will Be a Candidate.

A Washington dispatch says: Wilbur K. Newell of Gaston, a prominent fruit expert, contemplates making the race against Hawley for congress next year. His campaign will probably be made in part on the proposition that Hawley followed Cannon in the house organization, thus aligning with the standpaters against those who sought reform of the government through the deposing of Cannon. Newell has been in Washington several days studying conditions. He hopes for strong support from the farming and temperance elements.

W. K. Newell served two terms in the Oregon State Legislature—1905 and 1907—as a representative from Washington county, and made an excellent record. He is a ready debater, and was one of the recognized leaders of the house at each session.

He has served for the past two years as president of the State Board of Horticulture, in which he has been an aggressive and able promoter of the fruit interests. He is a progressive orchardist and dairyman, having successfully combined these two industries on his extensive farm in Washington county. His lectures and addresses on dairying and fruit culture have been instructive and interesting features at many gatherings of farmers in the State.

CHANGES IN POSTOFFICE.

Mrs. J. H. Hamilton, who has been one of the popular employees of the postoffice since Postmaster Emmitt was appointed, has resigned, her resignation to take effect July 1st. Her decision to leave will be a source of great regret to the patrons of the office, for she has been a most popular servant of the public.

Under the new regime to be inaugurated on the first of the month, this postoffice will be entitled to three clerks—one for $75 a month and two for $50 each. Postmaster Emmitt has appointed his daughter, Mrs. Biehn, to the position of chief clerk, but has not as yet decided upon the employes for the minor positions. The clerks in the postoffice will come under the civil service, and cannot be removed without cause and a hearing, should one be demanded. Under the civil service rules the minor clerks will receive $600 for the first year, $800 the second, and an increase of $1 a year until the salary reaches $1,100 per annum, where it remains.

MASON GETS A CONTRACT.

Word has been received from Lakeview that W. H. Mason, who went to that metropolis a few days ago, has secured a good-sized slice of the contract that has just been let for the construction of the big irrigation works near that city. This work is being done by the Oregon Valley Land Company in connection with their land scheme, and it is claimed that upwards of 75,000 acres of land will be brought under irrigation. How much of the contract Mr. Mason secured has not been learned, for he went at once to Alturas to make arrangements to begin work immediately. He is expected home in a few days.

PETITION SCHOOL BOARD.

Where is the new schoolhouse going to be located? That is the question that is agitating the minds of many men, especially the members of the school board and some of the residents on the west side of the river. Paul Breitenstein is one of the West Siders who is deeply interested in the matter, and his interest, of course, is for the sake of future generations. He has prepared and circulated a petition to the school board, asking that the members thereof accept the offer of the block made by C. S. and R. S. Moore. There was no trouble in securing signatures to the petition. That is always an easy matter. In this case, however, it would seem that there is more merit than to the average petition, for the reason that a school located on this property will be accessible to as many children as if it were located on block nine; it would do away with the climb over the hill; it would save the district nearly six thousand dollars—and this is a matter that must be seriously considered by the school board.

The petition prepared and circulated by Mr. Breitenstein will be presented at the next meeting of the school board. It is doubtful if a school building could be in readiness for occupancy by the opening of the next school year, even if work were commenced on it at once. On account of the mix-up on the question of location it is difficult to state when work will be actually begun, or whether any effort will be made looking towards its early completion.

There is a growing sentiment in favor of the location of the school in the vicinity of the Catholic church. At the present time fifty per cent of the school children come from that section of the city, and the taxpayers in that neighborhood declare that this is a sufficient argument in favor of locating the school in their midst. Property there is not nearly so high and the prospects for growth are as bright as any other portion of the city. While they are not making an active campaign for their section, they nevertheless feel that they are entitled to the school in view of the showing they are making.

MEADOW LAKE SOLD.

Another land prize has passed into the hands of Horace Dunbar, who has purchased from Lucian and Elmer Applegate what is known as Meadow Lake. This is really one of the finest stock ranches in Southern Oregon, and the purchase stamps Mr. Dunbar as a man of splendid foresight, for the time is not far distant when it will be impossible to secure a body of land sufficiently large to furnish pasture for the number of beef cattle that can be ranged on this property.

The property is about two miles long and one mile wide, surrounded by high hills that rise abruptly from its very edge. The land is as level as a floor, the elevation varying scarcely seven inches in the two miles of its length. It contains about 760 acres, and the price paid was in the neighborhood of $8,000.

Located, as it is, scarcely seven miles from town, it affords a splendid pasture for the fattening of beef within easy reach of transportation. It is Mr. Dunlap's intention to immediately stock the property to its full capacity, which, on account of its fine condition, will permit the feeding of a greater number of cattle than any like area in the county.

L. Samuels, general manager of the Oregon Life, who has been busy insuring many of the residents of this city for the past ten days, left for Lakeview Sunday morning, where he will convince the denizens of that burg that there is only one thing for them to do—to insure in a strictly Oregon company and keep the money at home. Mr. Samuels is recognized as being without a peer in his profession on the Pacific Coast, and those who had the pleasure of meeting him during his brief stay here are ready to admit the correctness of this fact.

J. W. Edwards came down from Spring Creek Friday and reports Spring Creek yesterday and reports the trout so plentiful up there that Mr. Spink is seriously considering the advisability of surrounding the camping grounds with a closely-woven wire fence. The fish insist on paying nocturnal visits to the sleeping quarters of the guests.

FORT ROCK PEOPLE WOULD TRADE HERE

Ask That Silver Lake Road Be Made
Passable for Freight Business.

W. B. Barnes returned Friday afternoon from Summer Lake, where he had been on business connected with the Sheriff's office. He was accompanied to Summer Lake by Mrs. Baras, who remained there on a visit with her mother. In discussing the rapid development of that section of Lake county, Mr. Barnes said:

"I was greatly surprised to find that what has been for years known as the desert is now the home of hundreds of families. And they are not of the nomadic order, either. They are real home-builders. Nice cottages dot the land, farms are fenced, and crops have been put in, all presenting a picture of progress and improvement that cannot but impress the old timer and the former riders of the plains. Christmas Lake valley and the Fort Rock country is settled up completely. I doubt if there is a surveyed claim vacant. There are a few townships still unsurveyed, and on many of the claims located therein there are squatters. This fall will see another great influx of new settlers, who intend to leave their former homes after the harvest."

"In talking with many of them I found a great anxiety on their part to do their trading with Klamath Falls. If these people can be induced to come here it will mean thousands of dollars annually for the business men of this city, and open up for development a section of Oregon that will be susceptible of great things. I made the drive from Silver Lake to this city in less than two days. I could have done better if the roads were fixed up a little. What these new settlers want Klamath county to do is to repair the roads. This can be done at a comparatively small expense."

"A petition has been prepared for presentation to the county here, but I suggested that it be first sent to Superintendent Wilson, as the work to be done is within the confines of the reservation. This course will be followed, and he will forward the petition, with his approval, to the Commissioners here. Klamath county and Klamath Falls cannot afford to let this opportunity slip. We have the Lakeview and Paisley business, and for a few dollars we will get all of the trade from Northern Lake also. Klamath can be made the distributing point for these people with but a little effort."

"Water can be secured throughout this section at from six to twelve feet, and it occurred to me that it would be an excellent point at which to do missionary work. Our local merchants and hardware dealers ought to send salesmen into that section and get the business. Pumping plants and machinery of all kinds can be sold there, and the time to make the start is now. But first let us fix the road."

County Judge Griffith was seen by a representative of The Herald, and, after explaining the situation to him, he was asked what the County Court would be likely to do. "We will do all we can to get the business," he said. "Of course, we are limited, on account of the road being within the reservation, but we will do something to fix the highway to make it a passable artery for the commercial welfare of this city. The County Court realizes as much as anyone else that to make this a city we must do business with the outside country, and to do this business we must have roads that are at least passable. We will spend a reasonable amount of money on this road to the Christmas Lake and Fort Rock country and give such other assistance as we can to get the settlers there to do business in Klamath Falls."

All freighting is now done through Shaniko. The trip requires seven days and is over one of the most desolate sections in the State. The trip to Klamath Falls can be made in half that time and through one of nature's gardens. Ample feed can be found all along the route and plenty of pure spring water is always at hand. This in itself would be enough to cause a change without the big advantage in time and mileage saved by coming to this city.

SENATOR BEECH TO BE OREGON'S CENSUS DIRECTOR.

State Senator Seneca Beech of Portland has been recommended by Representatives Hawley and Ellis for superintendent of the census for Oregon. He has been endorsed by many prominent business men and politicians and would make an excellent superintendent. He is admirably qualified for the position, being familiar with all sections of the State and its resources and development. Senator Beech is a former newspaper editor and publisher, and now is a member of the firm of Mann & Beech, printers and publishers, of Portland. His appointment will give great satisfaction to his many friends in Southern Oregon.
