

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

Friday.

It was a lively place around the old "pile"—of boards—since yesterday, due to the fact that there was a real, live trial on deck.

Business is picking up in the marriage license line, and if it continues as good for the rest of the month as it has been for the first two days there of there will be a smashing and crashing of records.

The papers in the case of Cale Oliver vs. the Klamath Lake Navigation Company arrived last evening. Mr. Oliver won in this case and the Navigation Company will therefore have to meet the costs of the action, which amount to nearly $170.

Clay Cann was arraigned this afternoon to plead to the indictment returned by the present Grand Jury. He pleaded not guilty and the court announced that it would set the date for the trial of the case to-morrow.

The Grand Jury is still busy, but returning no report to the court. There is a hen on, however, and it would seem that some of the guilty ones are seeking immunity from punishment by turning State's evidence. If this is true there is going to be something big happen in the next day or two.

Saturday.

Business was at a standstill at the courthouse to-day, at least so far as the Circuit Court was concerned. Judge Noland excused the jury until Tuesday morning, and it is reliably stated that when he did so he was seen to remove from his vest pocket his favorite trout fly.

Deputy Sheriff Guthridge is the proud possessor of a good-sized cherry orchard, and is busy telling his friends that his trees are loaded down with this luscious fruit. When it was suggested to him that an invitation be extended to the boys in town to spend the Fourth helping themselves to the fruit, he said that any one putting such a thing in the paper had better leave down for a couple of weeks.

The warm weather of the past two days has had the effect of driving every one who has nothing else to do to seek the cool shade of the courthouse park.

Tuesday.

When court convened this morning Judge Noland looked as if he was a little tired of the way things have dragged along and, summoning the jurors before him, informed them that they were excused subject to the call of the court.

John Prarie, otherwise known as Muckluz, was sentenced to serve 20 days in jail and pay a fine of $200 for selling whiskey in violation of the local option law.

there has been no difficulty in securing all the intoxicating liquor a person wants, provided they have the right password, and the best evidence of this fact is the number of drunken men to be seen on the street, especially during the sessions of the jury. Under the present conditions it must be admitted that there is a great big hole in local option—big enough to apparently let all violators through, unless it was the poor, unfortunate Indian who got the jail sentence.

The Grand Jury will take up its work again to-morrow. No body of men has met before in this county whose labors are watched with the same amount of interest manifested in the doings of the Grand Jury. Whether it is going to show the people that its time and the expense incurred have not been wasted remains to be seen.

CITY BRIEFS.

Black saddle horse, 9-year old, for sale. Frank Ira White.

E. E. Fitch, the Merrill real estate man, was in the city Tuesday.

For sale cheap, one Dain bay buck, good as new. C. A. Bunting, Merrill, Oregon.

District Attorney Kuykendall left Wednesday for Eugene, where he will visit friends and relatives for the next couple of weeks.

Misses Lena and Minnie Barnum returned Tuesday from Spring Creek, where they have been enjoying life for the past two weeks.

Earl Ritchie is suffering from a severe wound caused by falling from the roof of the City Bakery onto the point of a stick. The injury, while painful, is not dangerous.

If you live near Midland, that is the place to get new, fresh and first-class groceries at Galloway's. Prices reasonable and satisfaction assured.

County Superintendent J. G. Swan, accompanied by his wife, returned from Albany Tuesday evening. While there the Albany College conferred on Mr. Swan the degree of M. A.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Daggett left Thursday morning for Los Angeles, where they will remain for a few weeks. Mr. Daggett also expects to visit his sister, who resides in Yuma, Ariz.

W. A. Dolbeer left Saturday morning for Portland, Seattle and Everett, expecting to be gone several weeks. During his absence he proposes to do some good work for Klamath county.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ellis are down from Fort Klamath. Mr. Ellis is as enthusiastic as ever about northern Klamath, and has to come down to the county seat occasionally to see if the people here have yet awakened to its possibilities.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Ross Anderson and son, Hugh, arrived here last Saturday evening from Roseville. They expect to remain permanently. They have many friends who will be pleased to hear of their determination to again make Klamath Falls their home.

At the Council meeting Tuesday evening permission was given for the use of the streets in transferring the dredger to the Upper Lake. The route to be followed will be similar to that taken by the steam shovel, which was transferred from the lower to the upper lagoon some time ago.

Conrad Madison, engineer of the county road roller, was brought to the city Saturday, suffering from paralysis. The indications are that he is suffering from some peculiar spinal affliction, his condition being the same as Miss Hays and her sister, Mrs. Lute, the latter of whom died. The paralysis extends from the waist down.

FIRST AUTOMOBILE TO GET TO CRATER LAKE. Successfully Makes the Trip Between This City and Medford.

Messrs. Williams and Hill of San Francisco arrived in Medford Thursday evening by way of Klamath Falls and Crater Lake, thereby breaking all records for traveling over that road in a machine so early in the season. The car was not driven clear to the lake, but the party walked to the brim and viewed the wonder of Oregon.

Never before has a car been driven over that road in June. The travelers report heavy snow yet in the passes and many logs across the road. They succeeded in getting through, however.

The party are on their way to Seattle and are enjoying all of the side trips along the way. They have wonderful stories to tell of the marvelous beauty of the lake.—Medford Tribune.

THIS CITY IS UP TO DATE.

L. Samuel, general manager of the Oregon Life Insurance Company, who has been in the city for the past ten days, has developed into an enthusiastic booster for Klamath Falls. A representative of this paper called on him at the Hotel Livermore this morning and found him in a communicative mood.

"I believe that the great majority of your citizens have so gradually become used to it that they scarcely realize that Klamath Falls has a peculiarly superior summer climate. I hear remarks here about it being warm, but I never fail to tell my informant that he has undoubtedly forgotten just how warm it is in other places, and how gloriously cool your evenings and nights are.

"Your natural resources, when developed, as they certainly will be, will make this a paradise for many thousands of Adams and Eves. When you are truly and surely on the map (by that I mean when you are on the main line of travel, and you certainly will be within eighteen months, so that people can come here direct without delay of any kind), Klamath Falls will grow greater than what you even dream of.

Your people owe a particular debt of gratitude to the management of this hotel. I say it without fear of successful contradiction, that outside of Portland there is nowhere in Oregon a hotel more cleanly kept than this one, nor where the food is better cooked or served by cleaner looking people than here.
