

OPEN UP THE RESERVATION

Has Has Ever Stood as a Barrier to the Rapid Development of Northern Part of the County

The regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held Thursday and the question of hastening the allotting of the lands in the Klamath Indian reservation was discussed. This matter was first taken up by the Evening Herald, and as a result of the expose by this paper the Rev Mr. White has taken unto himself a spirit of haste that has surprised everyone around the Klamath reservation. It is the first time since he has undertaken the work that he has evinced any desire to bring it to a conclusion. The matter has been laid before the congressional delegation and the department of Indian affairs by the Herald, and assurances have been given that the opening of the reservation will be brought about with all possible speed, "consistent with the best interests of the department and the safeguarding of the rights of the Indians interested."

The resolution passed last evening, copy of which follows, may have the effect of keeping the matter fresh in the minds of the department and the congressional delegation, both of which have been sadly neglectful of the interests of this part of their constituency.

Whereas, the development of Oregon and California in general and of Klamath county in particular is retarded by the Klamath Indian reservation remaining closed to settlement, and the final allotment of the lands to members of the Indian tribes entitled to such allotments having been long in progress, it is understood that the preliminaries to opening the reservation may soon be finished; therefore, be it resolved that the Klamath Chamber of Commerce urge upon the secretary of the interior and commissioner of Indian affairs the importance of early opening of this territory, containing 1,809 square miles and embracing large areas of agriculture, timber and grazing lands, to settlement, and request the earnest and active co-operation of members of the Oregon delegation in congress to hasten action in this behalf."

The opening of the Klamath reservation will do more for the development of the county than any other one thing that has occurred. The reservation has ever been a barrier to the development of the northern part of the county, and the fact that it has so long been permitted to remain as it is is a disgrace to the business foresight of this city. Not until attention was called to it by the Herald has anything been done tending toward the rapid closing up of the allotting of the lands and the opening of the reservation, but now that this paper has started the ball rolling every business man in the county should get back of the movement and make the work that much easier.

BANQUET TO HAWLEY

It was an enthusiastic gathering that greeted Congressman Hawley at the courthouse Saturday evening, when he addressed them on what he had done and what he proposes to do in congress. He referred to the reclamation service and the questions agitating the minds of the land owners, to the opening of the reservation and deepening of Wood river, and of which were covered in the interview published in Saturday's Herald.

At the Lakeside Inn at 10 o'clock he was the guest at a banquet given by the citizens of Klamath Falls. He referred happily to the growth of the city, to cordiality of the welcome accorded him and his sincere appreciation of the honor conferred on him by the residents here. Toasts were responded to by W. A. Dolzell, Judge Baldwin, Mr. Van Winkle, Postmaster of Albany, and others. The evening affair was a most enjoyable one.

Mr. Hawley left for Lakeview Sunday morning, and will visit Silver Lake, Paisley and other parts of Lake county, expecting to return here next Saturday.

TO EXTEND BURLINGTON INTO SAN FRANCISCO

Oregon Trunk May Connect With It in Northern California.

A San Francisco dispatch gives the following information: Great interest is being taken in business circles in the announcement by Thomas B. Walker, a millionaire lumberman from Minnesota, that James J. Hill is planning to extend the Burlington from Cheyenne or some point on the Denver line to San Francisco.

As Walker has enormous timber holdings in northeastern California, and he recently bought the place called Mountain Meadows, near Coperville, Lassen county, including the Fredonia pass, probably the only available entrance to the Sacramento valley from the north, for a new line, his statements are given much credence. It is known that he is a close friend of Hill, that he has been associated with him in many business ventures.

"I had a talk with Mr. Hill some time ago, and he told me that he did not consider that the line from the north to San Francisco would be a great advantage, taken by itself, but that his mind was rather to extend the Burlington to San Francisco, coming through the northern part of the state and the Sacramento valley."

"When the time comes the Burlington will be extended to the coast. The Oregon Trunk line will be built to a connection with this through line in the northeastern part of California. This will give another line to the north, and a more direct route to eastern Washington, northern Idaho and Montana. It is also likely that another feeder will be built south through the San Joaquin valley."

"But the most important part of the whole plan is the extension of the Burlington to the coast, which has been so long talked of. This will give a direct outlet for the timber in the northern part of the state to the central and eastern part of the country, where the market is."

He said, however, that his purchase of the pass did not mean that he had cornered the situation. He said what he wants is railroads to carry out his timber, and he would not interfere with any line desiring to build through the pass.

COUNTY COURT GRANTS PERMISSION ASKED FOR

Products Now on Display in Business Houses Are to Be Preserved in This Booth

The Chamber of Commerce will construct immediately a display booth for Klamath county products in the courthouse yard on Main street, between the Public Library and the courthouse. Permission has been granted by the County Court for the erection of this building. The structure will be of the bungalow type, 12x18 feet, with a three-foot extension roof and a four-foot walk around it. All four sides are to be glass panels so that the display can be readily seen. The building will cost $250, and contract for the erection of the same has been let to James Cunningham, who, by the way, is the only carpenter in town that is a member of the Chamber of Commerce.

This building when completed, will be used exclusively for Klamath county products. The Chamber of Commerce is very anxious to secure for this building the displays that are now on exhibition in several stores here. They also desire the co-operation of every resident of this section in keeping this booth supplied with samples of our products, so they can be shown to the best advantage, and at a place where they can be seen by all. A man will be put in charge of the exhibition booth, so that the exhibits can be received at any time when offered.

HECTOR IN; JACOBS OUT

Mr. Hector Contemplates Many Improvements and Innovations— "One Price" His Motto

The Boston Store formally passed into the hands of O. M. Hector last week, announcement of the change having been withheld for business reasons until today. Elsewhere Mr. Hector has a statement to make to the readers of the Herald that will interest them.

Several weeks ago the announcement was made that the Boston Store had been purchased by Mr. Hector, but there had been so many changes made in business circles about that time that the public immediately came to the conclusion that it was simply a new business-getting proposition and paid little attention to the matter. This belief gained permanency when, instead of Mr. Hector having full charge, Mr. Jacobs still remained at the helm. There was a reason for this, and that reason was not removed until last week, when formal transfer was made. In speaking of what he proposes to do Mr. Hector stated:

"The announcement that I had purchased the Boston Store was deferred for reasons in which the public have little interest, but now that it has formally passed into my possession I hope to make it such an institution as will merit the confidence of the people of the county. I will leave nothing undone to place it in the front rank, and make it the leader in its line in Southern Oregon. I will run it on the 'one price' and 'money back' plan, and hope thereby to merit a liberal share of the patronage of the people of the county."

Since coming here Mr. Hector has proven himself to be of the "strictly square" order, and is rapidly gaining a wide circle of friends. In business circles he is recognized as a progressive, energetic business man, who does just as he agrees, and the growth of his business will not be looked upon with disfavor even by his competitors.

Many changes are contemplated by Mr. Hector, all having in view the creation of a business along modern lines, and it is a safe prediction that he will be accorded a cordial welcome by the people of the city and county.

DISPOSES OF STOCK OF ELECTRICAL FIXTURES

Following on the plan of retrenchment adopted by the Light and Water company, it has sold to Baldwin & Baldwin its entire stock of electrical fixtures, and in the future all electrical work will be done by the purchasing firm. The charge has been repeatedly made that the Light and Water company was over charging for the work done, but it is stated that all installation work has been done at cost.

WILLIAM PITTS RETURNS

Mr. and Mrs. William Pitts returned from the hot springs located about 50 miles from Eugene, where Mr. Pitts has been for the past several weeks for the benefit of his health. He returns feeling much better, the healing waters of these noted springs having benefited him greatly.

Owing to the fact that he has not fully recovered his health, and is therefore unable to actively engage in business, Mr. Pitts has decided to close his real estate office for the present, and will try and take life easy until next spring.

TALKING THROUGH THEIR HAT

Congress Did Not Make Checks Under One Dollar Illegal.

Dispatches from Washington contradict the published reports that congress had made illegal the issuance of checks under $1. The comptroller of the treasury declares that no such law was enacted. The reports apparently sprang from a mistaken interpretation of an act regulating the issuance of clearing house certificates in times of financial panic.

Judge Noland reports a yield of a little over 600 bushels of barley from 5 1/2 acres on the Altamont ranch, based on actual measurement of the land.

LAUNCHING OF THE KLAMATH AT EUREKA, CALIF.

Big Boat to Carry the Name of This County Along the Coast.

The Humboldt Times of Eureka, Calif., of September 30th, says:

At twelve minutes before the noon hour yesterday morning the hull of the magnificent new steam schooner Klamath, built for the Charles R. McCormick company at the Bendixsen shipyards on this bay, trembled for an instant in her cradle; then, with a long, graceful sweep she slid into the waters of Humboldt bay. At the same instant the throats of many steam sirens, located at the various mills about the bay, were opened to shriek their noisy welcome to the new bride of the deep.

The Klamath is 210 feet in length over all. She has a beam of 42 feet, and the depth of her hold is 16 feet.

If you are a kicker and see the shadows of failure in everything that is proposed to help the town, for heaven's sake go into some secluded canyon and kick your own shadow on the clay bank and give the men who are working to build up the town a chance. One long-faced, hollow-eyed whining, carping, chronic kicker can do more to keep away business and capital from a town than all the drouths, short crops, cinch bugs, cyclones and blizzards combined.

"ALASKA" WHEAT FAILS

Remarkable Yields Promised Do Not Materialize on Visit

"Alaska" wheat, originated by Abraham Adams, has been proven a failure by Idaho farmers, who have demonstrated that the remarkable yield claimed is not borne out by tests.

To test the yield and compare it with other varieties W. A. Whitted, near Juliette, Idaho, planted an exact acre in five varieties, including "Alaska." This latter wheat grown under favorable conditions, yielded 27 1/2 bushels an acre. Redcliff, an inferior wheat, yielded 32 bushels an acre. Bluestem yielded exactly the same as "Alaska," these two cereals showing the lowest average of the five varieties.

The Adams Hebe Seed company, organized to market the wheat, is forbidden the use of the United States mails, and express companies refuse to accept the cereal for shipment unless express charges are prepaid.

There never was a woman but was just aching to tell some other woman how to do up her hair.

Nyal's Vegetable Prescription is indicated in all ordinary diseases of women. This remedy never disappoints, its good effects being perceptible from the very first. It is composed of the purest and the most reliable drugs; mercury, opiates and other harmful drugs being excluded. The many disconcerting influences to which woman is constantly subjected render her liable to many functional disorders that not only tend to destroy her comfort and happiness, but which gradually merge into chronic and serious diseases.

Nyal's Vegetable Prescription is without a peer for the successful treatment of female weakness, painful and disordered menstruation, hysteria, cramps, "bearing down pains," inflammation and falling of the womb. This is a remedy of sterling worth.
